Officials Try to Continue Classes in Spite of Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—A teacher strike for more pay disrupted school operations throughout the city today and led to a pupil riot at a school on Manhattan's Lower East Side.

The disorder erupted at the Seward Park High School shortly after the bell rang for morning classes. Rowdiness broke out among 2,300 pupils who had first gathered in the auditorium.

They began throwing papers out the windows then were ordered from the school when 15 non-striking teachers and four policemen were unable to control them.

As the pupils reached the street, about half a dozen boys began swinging wildly at each other as hundreds of others milled about. Police waded in to halt the battle. Reinforcements were summoned.

Police expressed belief that the presence of a television truck and camera crew recording the scene may have prompted the students to put on something of a show.

Proxmire Raps Navy Proposal For Carrier

Craft Obsolete Since World War II, Senator Declares

BY JAMES MCCARTNEY
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) today planned an attack on the senate floor against a proposal to build a new $310,000,000 aircraft carrier for the navy.

Proxmire declared that carriers "have been obsolete since World War II."

He cited the carrier request as one of a number of items of "fat" in a $13 billion defense procurement bill covering air, craft, missiles and naval vessels.

"The senate was to begin debate on the bill this afternoon. If a B-70 (now called RS-70) airplane, that would fly 2,000 miles an hour is obsolete because it is too slow," Proxmire said, "what about a huge aircraft carrier that travels at only 40 knots?"

"One of these things can be sunk with one bomb."

Assaults "Sheer Waste"

He described the proposed carrier as "sheer waste" and said the money would be better spent on cancer and heart research.

The carrier planned would be non-nuclear, of the Forrestal class — as a replacement for a smaller, Essex-class carrier now in service.

Proxmire said the navy admits that carriers today are of value only in "limited" war situations and would be of little value in an all-out nuclear war.

"For this purpose," he said, "an Essex class carrier is just as good as a larger Forrestal class."

U.S. Steel Ups Average by $6, Cites 'Squeeze'

Other Companies Study Boost But Defer Decision

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The giant U.S. Steel Corp., a leader in one of the nation's basic industries, increased its prices today.

The price hike, announced Tuesday added an average of $6 to the cost of a ton of steel, which has been selling for a little more than $150.

What effect it will have on the prices of other steel firms was not immediately determined. U.S. Steel, biggest producer in the nation, customarily sets the price pattern for the industry.

Steel prices have an effect on

Bethlehem Steel Announces Boost

NEW YORK (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Co. announced today a 3.5 per cent price increase for its rolled steel products.

The rise is similar to that announced Tuesday by U.S. Steel Corp.

prices in the auto, construction and appliance industries, all big steel users.

The increase came less than a week after U.S. Steel and 10 other big firms signed new two-year labor contracts with the United Steelworkers to take effect July 1.

Contracts Halted

Those pacts, granting a 10-cent-an-hour package increase to each basic steelworker, were halted by President Kennedy as responsible and non-inflationary, adhering to the President's plea for an early, non-inflationary steel settlement.

President Leslie B. Worthington of U.S. Steel said the price hike was necessary because of a continuing cost-price squeeze on profits since 1958. He said these costs have continued to rise without even considering higher labor costs after July 1 under the new contracts.

Worthington described the price increase as modest, amounting to about three-tenths of a cent a

Lindbergh's Papers Bring Higher Auction Price Than Glenn's

NEW YORK (AP)—Papers of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh have brought higher auction prices than letters of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr.

The bidding was not on a personal preference basis, however.

Lindbergh's papers dealt with his historic solo flight to Paris in 1927.

Glenn's letters were grounding stuff. Although some were on Project Mercury stationery, they did not deal with his achievements as America's first astronaut to orbit the earth. They were about his foreign-made car.

The papers of the heroes of the aviation age and the space age were among items auctioned Tuesday at the Parke-Bernet Galleries.

80-Day Writ Sought Injunction Action Due Today in Ship Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to issue order today that could result in a court-directed stop of the West Coast shipping strike by nightfall.

Justice Department attorneys were reported already in San Francisco ready to go into court with an 80-day injunction plea as soon as they get the signal from Washington.

The strike, now in its fourth week, has crippled West Coast shipping and curtailed delivery of vital supplies to the island State of Hawaii. Gov. William F. Quinn has declared a food emergency in the islands and appealed to the White House to intervene.

A three-man inquiry board, named by Kennedy last Saturday in invoking the Taft-Hartley Act's emergency strike procedures, was due to submit its findings to the White House today.

Justice Department and Sen. Kefauver Announce Plans for Investigations

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. Steel's price increase has shocked the Kennedy administration and key members of Congress. From all indications it will be the target of a blast today from President Kennedy himself.

Kennedy told reporters at a White House social event Tuesday night he would have a statement this afternoon.

He did not disclose what he planned to say but in administration quarters there was no question that the price rise would not be applauded.

Inquiries Planned

The Justice Department is planning to investigate. So is Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., chairman of the Senate antitrust subcommittee.

Various members of Congress on the Democratic side called the decision of U.S. Steel to boost prices by an average of $6 a ton a betrayal of an agreement with the United Steelworkers Union to which the government was an official party.

Expressions along this line came from numerous legislators at a White House reception. The party was the annual affair for all Senate and House members and their wives and key administration officials.

Sees Inflation

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said what several others did: "First I heard it would be an increase of $1.50 a ton, then $5, then $6. If this is any indication, it's runaway inflation."

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., called the price boost regrettable. On the Republican side, Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois showed a measure of concern mingled with caution. He said he would make a statement later.

All along the line there were expressions from senators and congressmen that the price boost was regrettable and unfortunate.

Kennedy Informed

Kennedy first learned of it about 6 p.m. Tuesday. Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel, called secretly at the White House and told Kennedy of the decision to raise the price of steel. His company contends the increase is only a catching-up operation which still will leave it short of cost increases since the last price boost in 1958.

Kennedy consulted immediately with Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg and a number of members of Congress. At the party, later, he bore down on the subject in conversations with Goldberg and Dirksen.

Both Kefauver and the Justice Department hinted at possible anti-trust action if other steel companies follow U.S. Steel's lead and raise prices.

Kefauver called the increase "shocking and irresponsible."

A spokesman for Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said "because of past price behavior in the steel industry, the Department of Justice will take an immediate and close look at the current situation and any future developments."

Dirksen, Yates

Nominated for U.S. Senate Race

CHICAGO (AP)—Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, Republican leader in the Senate with nearly 28 years service in Congress, coasted to an easy victory in the Illinois primary election Tuesday.

The 66-year-old veteran political campaigner, bidding for a third Senate term, piled up a 6-1 victory over Harley D. Jones, 69, a politically unknown Chicago lawyer.

Dirksen, who made his first race for a Senate seat in 1950 after eight terms as a representative in Congress from the Peoria-Peoria district, will be opposed in the Nov. 6 general election by Sidney R. Yates, 52, a seven-term congressman from Chicago's North Side.

Yates, with the backing of the regular Democratic party organization, won the nomination over Lar Daly of Chicago, who has been unsuccessful in 20 years of running for major offices.

Negotiators and Castro Confer

HAVANA (AP)—Negotiators seeking to ransom 1,179 Cuban invasion prisoners appeared hopeful today after a four-hour meeting with Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"There is hope," said one of the exile delegation of three men and a woman after the long session. A spokesman for the negotiators said they were hopeful the prime minister would see them again.

The delegation refused to give details of their meeting with Castro, held at the home of friends of the negotiators.

News of the meeting Tuesday apparently reached the prisoners held in Principe Prison. Joyous shouts rang out from their cell blocks. Some prisoners waved undershirts from behind the barred windows to friends and relatives gathered outside.

The city ordered 1,200 policemen and an undisclosed number of plainclothes detectives to special strike duty.

Schools Superintendent John J. Theobald advised parents that all schools — except those for the physically handicapped — would open as usual, although students might have to return home for lack of instructors. Parochial and other private schools are not affected.

Theobald warned all teachers to be on the job or face instant dismissal under provisions of the state's Condon-Wadlin Act, which forbids strikes by public employees.

There was a strong possibility the Board of Education would seek a court injunction against the strike. It was prepared on Monday to obtain a restraining order.

Gen. Jouhaud Put On Trial in Paris

Secret Army Organization Seen as Actual Defendant

BY PAUL GHALI
Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — The trial of Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, which began in Paris today, will be even more a trial of the Secret Army Organization than of a captured rebel general.

Jouhaud, who was captured by French troops March 25, commanded the Oran region for Secret Army Chief Gen. Raoul Salan ever since the Secret Army Organization started challenging President Charles de Gaulle in March, 1961.

His trial is vitally important to the people of France and de Gaulle himself for the double reason that it can serve as a warning to other rebel officers and also can open the eyes of thousands of right-wing secret army sympathizers to the indiscriminate violence that the secret army has been perpetrating in Algeria and France.

Problem for Jouhaud

A stiff sentence for Jouhaud would be a further shock to secret army supporters, already dismayed by Sunday's overwhelming election victory of de Gaulle.

But the testimony that will precede the sentence also will serve to reveal several aspects of the Secret Army Organization that have been kept hidden from the public.

Jouhaud will either have to take full responsibility for the long series of crimes committed in Oran during his time of command or admit that the secret army is a band of undisciplined thugs and not the well organized paramilitary organization that it pretends to be.

The chances are that Jouhaud, in order to save his head, will accept responsibility for only some of the murders committed in Oran during his command and blame the rest on undisciplined secret army members acting on their own.

3 Major Charges

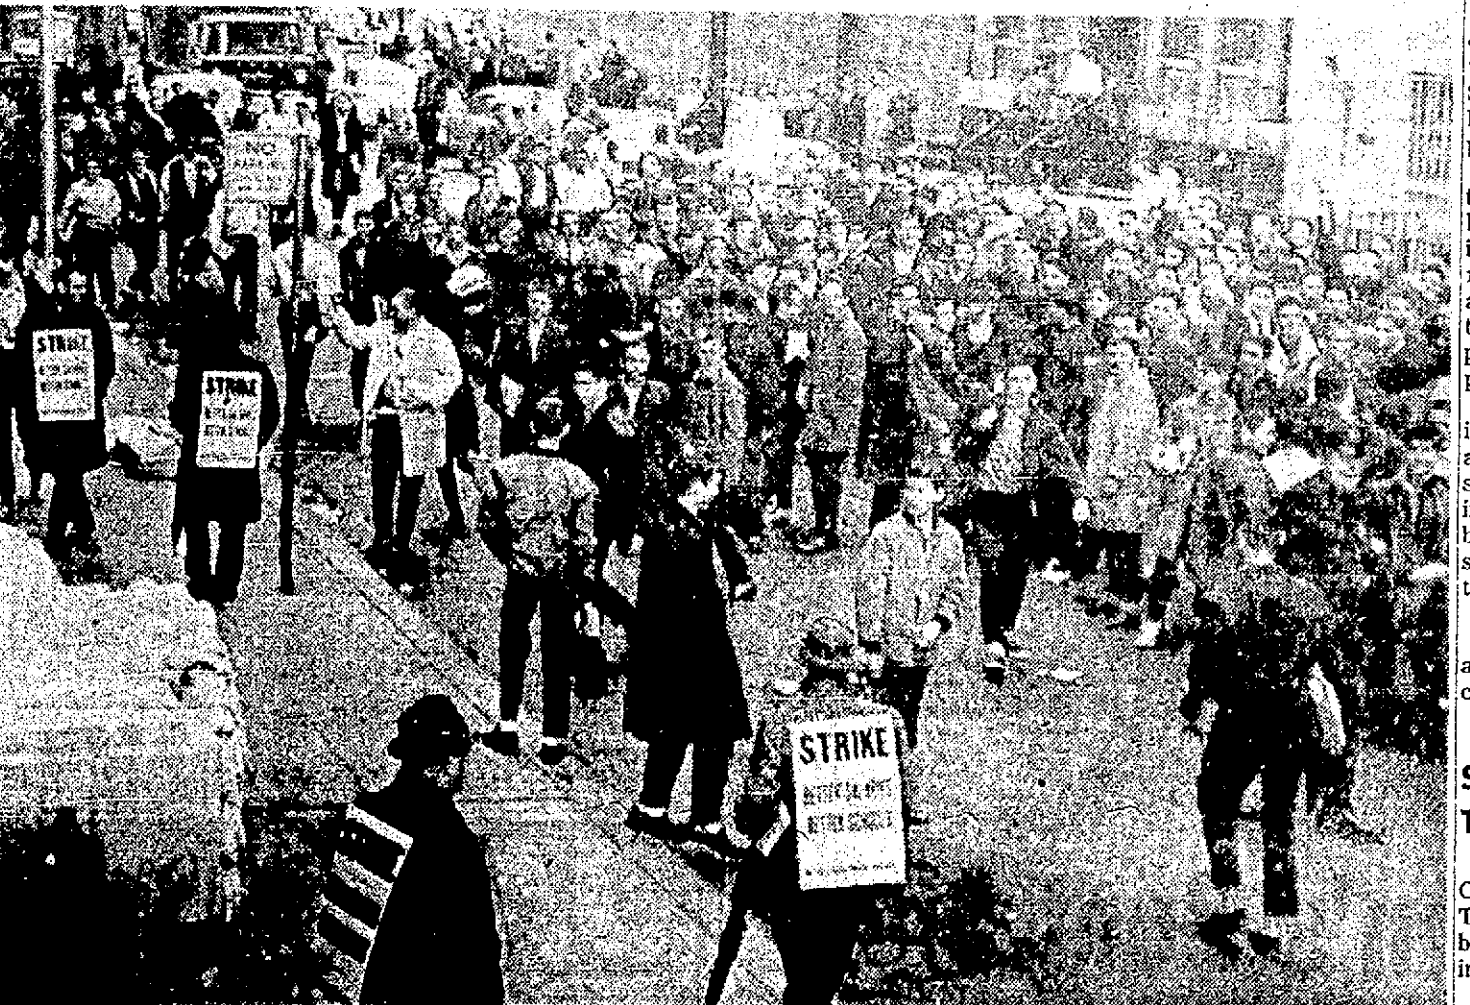

This will give Paris authorities a good opportunity to destroy psychologically the Secret Army Organization.

WABENO, Wis. (AP)—Michael Crawford, 3, was shot to death Tuesday when struck in the head by a .22 caliber bullet while playing in his yard.

Forest County Sheriff Edgar Wilson said the boy was struck by a stray bullet fired by Gary Reeves, 21, who was target shooting from the porch of his home 110 feet away.

Outlook Gloomy for Nuclear Tests Ban

Kennedy and Macmillan Still Hope for Accord With Nikita But Expect Blasts Resumption

WASHINGTON (AP) — The agreement on a test ban "to the United States and Britain appeared today to be completely stalled against an unyielding wall of Soviet opposition in their last-ditch effort to get Moscow's agreement to an enforceable treaty banning nuclear tests.

While formally expressing hope that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will yet reverse his policy against an international inspection system to police a test ban, officials here actually see no prospect that this will happen.

President Kennedy is therefore going ahead with plans to start atmospheric testing of nuclear weapons in about two weeks. The tests will be held over the Central Pacific during a period of about two months, and officials indicate that there will be between 30 and 40 nuclear explosions involved.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan told the House of Commons in London Tuesday that he will go on pressing for East-West agreement on a test ban "to the last possible moment."

It became apparent Tuesday that while Kennedy has shown reluctance to go into the test series, Macmillan is under much greater home-front political pressure "to continue demonstrating the desire to put an end to all tests.

By agreement between Kennedy and Macmillan, the United States and Britain issued a joint statement which amounted to a warning to the Russians and to the world that without a change in the Soviet position, "the test series scheduled for the latter part of this month will go forward."

Macmillan's Proposal
It is understood that Tuesday's joint statement was the result of a recent suggestion by Macmillan to Kennedy that they jointly make a new appeal to Khrushchev to agree to an effective test-ban pact.

But Kennedy reportedly felt that in view of the Soviet attitude against international inspection, he would not be justified in joining in such an appeal himself. He was willing to go only so far as the joint statement reviewing the Western efforts to get a test ban and expressing the formal hope that the Soviet Union would change its stand.

Issuance of the statement was followed Tuesday night by a Moscow Radio charge that the move was merely a face-saving step designed to cover resumption of atmospheric testing by the United States.

"The decision to carry out nuclear tests in the atmosphere was made by the United States and its Allies long ago," the commentator said. "They have no intention of reviewing it. The only thing they are concerned about now is saving face."

Industrial Development U.N. Post Considered
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Economic and Social Council asked acting Secretary-General U Thant Tuesday to consider the possible appointment of a U.N. commissioner for industrial development.

The 18-nation council, in a resolution adopted unanimously, also asked Thant to name 10 experts to study the advisability of establishing a U.N. specialized agency for the same purpose.

Clay's Duties In Berlin for Kennedy Over
General Will Now Serve as Special Policy Adviser

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay will shortly wind up his duties as President Kennedy's special representative in Berlin but will continue to serve as a special consultant to the President on Berlin policy, informants reported today.

Clay left Berlin today for Washington. He said he would report to the President Thursday and expected to return to Berlin Sunday.

"Any further announcements will be made from Washington after I have reported to the President," Clay's statement said.

Return to Berlin
The informants said Clay will go back to Berlin next weekend for a short time but that it is definite his assignment as Kennedy's special representative in the crisis ridden city is coming to an end.

Clay, 65, undertook the job on a temporary basis last summer in the period of intense crisis following Communist construction of the wall sealing off East Berlin. Termination of the assignment apparently is related to the drop in tension which has followed the talks in Geneva last month between Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The easing of the situation has been characterized by a lessening of Soviet pressure for an early change in the status of West Berlin, by a recent stop of Soviet harassment in the air corridors to the city and by an improvement in relations between the U.S. and Soviet military missions in Germany.

U.S. officials insist none of these developments resulted from any kind of deal between Rusk and Gromyko. They say privately that they have no assurance the Russians may not build up the crisis again without warning.

Paintings by Paul Cezanne Recovered by French Police

MARSEILLE, France (AP) — Police reported the recovery from a parked car of eight paintings by Paul Cezanne stolen last August from the Aix-en-Provence Museum.

The masterpieces were valued by officials at $2 million, and the haul was the biggest in the wave of art thefts that swept Western Europe and particularly the French Riviera in 1960 and 1961.

Police told an incredible story of the recovery. They said the paintings were found in the back seat of a stolen automobile, carrying false license numbers, that had been left on a Marseille street with one window broken.

Police Used Lookout
Police said they found the car Monday night but left it in place and kept a lookout on it. No one approached the car to recover the paintings.

Because of the unique quality of the paintings and their fame, experts had assumed all along

No Revolutions But Bolivia Is Still Unstable

U. S. Aid Money Since 1952 Has Been $225 Million

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—This South American country has been free of revolutions for 10 years. Despite the stability of one-party rule, Bolivia seems as much on the skids as it did when the National Revolutionary party ousted a military regime in an upheaval that began 10 years ago today.

It has taken $225 million in U.S. funds to keep Bolivia alive since 1952. Per capita income for the nation's 3.5 million people is $95 a year, although the Bolivian Andes yield about 15 per cent of the world's tin.

The ruling party, called the MNR, was founded during World War II by Nazi and Communist sympathizers. It seems likely to hold power for many years to come.

Opposition Curbed
The MNR stamps out any outside political opposition if it gets out of line or shows signs of gaining popular strength.

On the heels of the 1952 revolution, thousands of Bolivians in all walks of life fled to neighboring countries, to live in exile.

Foes of the party were captured. Some were killed and others tortured. One man who wrote a book critical of the regime said later he was forced to eat it page by page.

Party Leftist
The party is leftist but of varying degrees, and therein lies the cause of almost constant feuding and bickering within. Communists are well-entrenched, especially in the lower echelons of the government.

The leaders of the party in 1952 are the leaders today: President Victor Paz Estenssoro; Vice President Juan Lechin, leader of the miners; and former President Hernan Siles Zuazo, now ambassador to Uruguay.

When the MNR came to power it proposed universal suffrage, and ambitious land, social and educational reforms. The army was dissolved and arms handed out freely to the peasants.

Backward Country
Then, as now, the landlocked country high in the Andes, was one of the hemisphere's most backward countries.

Without a seaport, it could do little foreign trade. Although almost twice the size of Texas, it is mostly barren and only a tiny portion of land is under cultivation.

The Rev. Patrick O'Shea, bareheaded, is joined by dean of girls Mary Lins at the fourth story window of Mission High School, Tuesday in San Francisco, as they plead with Gloria Ison to come off her precarious perch. Gloria, who was wrestled back to safety, said she had quarreled with her boy friend.

Reds Resent America's Role

War in Viet Nam Likely to Turn Uglier for U. S. Civilians, Troops

BY KEYES BEECH

Chicago Daily News Service

HONG KONG — The war in South Viet Nam is likely to get a lot uglier for Americans before it gets any prettier.

Two American soldiers were killed and two more captured in a Viet Cong ambush last weekend. This happened at a place about 380 miles north of Saigon.

It brought total American casualties since last Dec. 1 to 18 killed, two wounded and three missing. Most died in accidents, 11 in plane crashes.

More Expected
These were military casualties and to be expected while regretted. Doubtless there will be more as the American military build-up continues.

There are now more than 5,000 uniformed Americans in South Viet Nam. By July the number will reach 7,000, by the end of the year perhaps 9,000.

Soldiers are supposed to defend themselves. But a nagging fear that is not far from the minds of all adult Americans in Saigon is this: If and when the war really begins to turn against the Communists they will resort to terrorist tactics in Saigon itself in an attempt to drive the Americans out.

Peaceful City
Some observers wonder why they haven't done it before.

For the capital of a nation at war, Saigon is extraordinarily peaceful. Although there are Viet Cong nests only 25 miles from the city no shots are heard in Saigon.

There is no curfew. Occasional elderly American tourists compete with droves of U.S. servicemen and Vietnamese for seats in the better bars and restaurants.

Night clubs do a roaring business. The beat of American jazz assaults the soft tropical night. American children, sons and daughters of American embassy and aid mission families, go to school.

Life, in short, is secure and comfortable in American homes, clubs and billets. Food is plentiful and liquor is cheap.

This tranquil atmosphere could be shattered overnight by a few well aimed grenades or thoughtfully planted plastic bombs. Saigon is heavily ringed by troops. Saigon police are efficient.

But few people doubt that the Viet Cong, which is known to have agents inside the city, could take its toll with a determined effort.

Leaders Optimistic On Church Unity

Meeting of Major Protestant Denominations Was Successful

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — A historic decision made here carried us first step has been taken on the road to Christian unity.

Forty officials of four major Protestant denominations have just concluded two days of conversations aimed at formation of a single united church.

A feeling of optimism was expressed by representatives of the Episcopal Church, the Methodist Church, the United Church of Christ, and the United Presbyterian Church.

But it was generally acknowledged that actual realization of any merger was still a number of years away.

Someone hazarded a guess that it might be accomplished in 10 years, the Rt. Rev. Robert F. Gibson Jr., Episcopal bishop of Virginia, disclosed at the conclusion of the closed sessions.

"But personally, I think it will take longer," he said. Nevertheless, Bishop Gibson joined the others in praise of the start that had been made.

"I'm much more hopeful as a result of these two days here than I was when I walked in," he said.

"The attitudes revealed and the decisions made here carried us much further than we dared hope," declared the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, of Philadelphia, stated clerk (permanent executive officer) of the United Presbyterian Church General Assembly.

The tradition-shattering proposal for church union, known as the "Blake-Pike Plan," resulted from a sermon Dr. Blake preached in the San Francisco Episcopal Church.

It has taken 16 months since the sermon in December of 1960 to organize the meeting that has just been held here. Almost another whole year will pass before the next meeting is held, from March 19-21, 1963, in a place still to be decided.

Difficult to Lobby on Lobbying

The 1962 tax bill as approved by the House has a provision which permits businesses to deduct most lobbying expenses from their taxes including the cost of lobbying in state capitals. Congressional Quarterly reporting on the bill finds that lobbyists, many of whom had clients who were bitterly opposed to other parts of the bill, found it difficult to oppose the measure containing this provision so favorable to their business.

The report says that "the provision is thought to have helped blunt the vigor of assaults mounted against the tax package during floor action and could help soften resistance when the Senate votes on it probably next month." The AFL-CIO spokesmen say that the measure will cause a great increase in lobbying activity on both state and national levels, particularly by business groups. They propose to have the provision removed during Senate action if possible. Their attitude is interesting since recent reports have indicated that the labor lobby in Washington is the largest of all in the point of view of dollars expended.

On the other hand, the U.S. Chamber of Commerce feels that the lobbying deduction provision is not broad enough and it will work for an expanded version in the Senate. The Chamber wants a provision which would grant tax relief for all forms of lobbying activity.

One form of lobbying which was not approved by the committee was that of publishing advertisements intended to promote legislation helpful to business. This was refused in spite of the showing that the same kind of lobbying is often used against such legislation by bureaucrats and others in position to use public funds for the purpose. The bill as passed by the House permits deductions for costs directly relating to legislation "of direct interest" to a taxpayer's business. It does not permit deductions for entertainment expenses, political campaign contributions, advertising or other "grassroot" attempts to influence public opinion "nor would it allow deductions for lobbying on bills not "directly related" to the taxpayer's business.

The Treasury is still opposed to any lobby deduction section at all. It is doubtful that attempts to broaden this section of the bill will succeed but it appears now that with the help of the Washington lobbyists it will permit the rider to remain in the bill and that probably the same forces will help get some sort of tax measure adopted and signed into law.

Japanese-American Trade

"Made in Japan" is a familiar sign on goods found in American stores. This is so because the United States today buys $2 billion worth of goods per year from Japan. The United States takes 25 per cent or more of Japan's total exports and American producers send back about 35 per cent of Japan's imports.

The Japanese-American trade is a tremendous business. It is helpful to both countries. Twenty years ago few people would have predicted Japan would become a principal ally, friend and trading associate of the United States.

Because it has come into this position it is not surprising that the United States has sent Postmaster Gen. J. Edward Day to represent the United States at "America Day" ceremonies at the international trade fair at Osaka, Japan. It was considered proper that a representative of cabinet rank should attend.

The theme of the American exhibition at Osaka is "Modern Food Processing for Better Living." On display will be a working model of a soft drink bottling plant, a citrus juice extractor, a pretzel-tying machine, equipment to produce "foam" for insulating freezers and refrigerators, a machine to make plastic bags.

Japanese visitors at the Fair will not be startled at the American show of automation. In fact, 75 American business analysts are going to Japan this month to visit that nation's automated plants. Because most of Japan's out-of-date plants were destroyed during the war, it now has plants with machinery more modern than that still in use in the United States. Nikko Securities, Ltd., of Japan, recently launched the Japan Fund, Inc., which is an investment firm similar to an American mutual fund. It will offer American investors an opportunity to participate in Japan's rapid growth. About 80 per cent of the fund's assets will be invested in Japanese securities, primarily common stocks.

In the past year, foreigners bought about $60 million of Japanese securities. The year before they bought only about $25 million worth. The rule is that a foreigner must hold Japanese securities for two years before the principal or any capital gains can be taken out of the country in foreign currency. Dividends, however, are sent out directly.

The Japanese prosperity suggests a matter of competition with American business and that has been a matter of concern here. A Japanese department store opened a branch in New York in October, 1958. Its success led to the beginning of expansion throughout the world. A branch to be opened in Los Angeles will sell men's and women's clothes designed by Americans and made in Japan.

The problem of meeting this competition is concerning not only U.S. business but high government officials. What we want to do is keep the business flowing between the two countries, for that is highly desirable, but if it is to be successful we also must find a way to insure progress in methods and in the use of modern equipment that will put us on a competitive basis with our Japanese friends.

Castro Is Desperate

Fidel Castro's offer to sell 1,179 prisoners to Americans for $62 million can mean only that Castro is desperately in need of money. To realize how desperate and in what a humiliating position Castro is, one must remember that these prisoners are Cubans. So Dr. Castro now is down to selling Cubans in order to keep his revolution going.

Imagine the President of the United States offering to sell American prisoners, even those who had attempted to overthrow the government, to a foreign country at an average price of $50,000 each! Who would buy them?

Why are Americans interested in buying the freedom of these Cubans? Probably because Americans admire people who rise up against tyranny. We admire these particular Cubans because they escaped from Castro's country and bravely organized an assault to restore freedom to that island. Perhaps also the Americans feel that failure of our government to fully support this invasion after having apparently condoned it, makes us morally responsible for their plight.

At the same time it should be remembered that Castro has thousands of other political prisoners on hand, also. They, too, raised their hands against the Castro regime. They, too, were fighting for liberty but no one is doing anything about freeing them. They have no appeal for Americans and thus are not offered for sale. They will remain in prison until Castro is replaced. As one Cuban in exile put it, "Instead of raising $62 million for ransom, the money should be raised and used to buy arms; $62 million worth of arms properly supported would free all of the Cuban prisoners and restore freedom and representative government to the people of Cuba." It is true the Cuban people failed to maintain liberty they had and to extend it. They lacked vigilance and lost. But they are entitled to another chance and there should be hope that they have learned something from this experience.

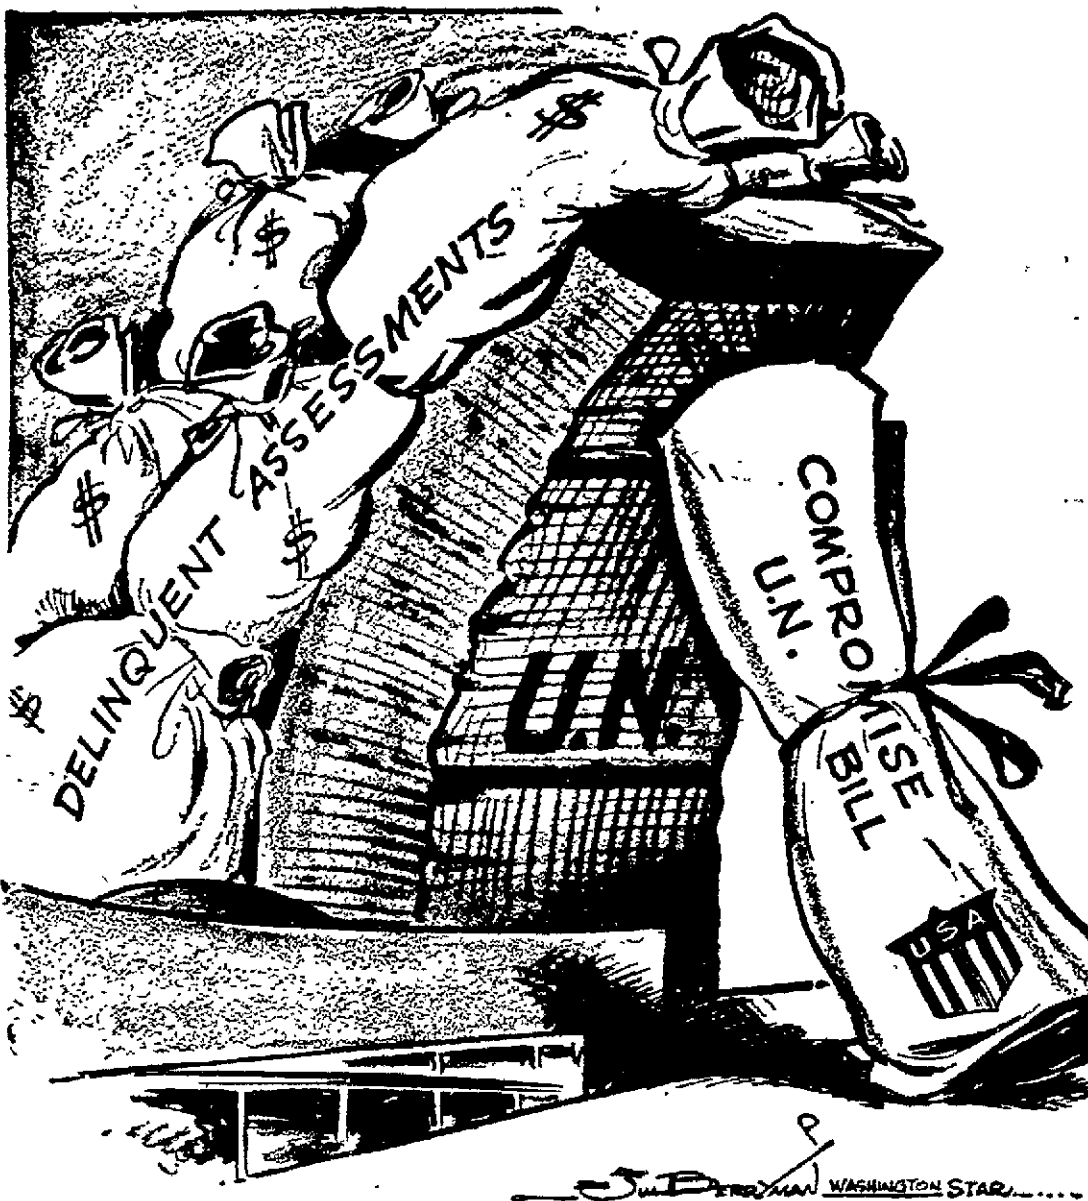

As for cataracts, surgery very often can effect a cure. Nevertheless, there are still thousands of persons with failing eyesight because they have not received proper surgical attention. Glaucoma is detected easily by eye specialists and most specialists today routinely examine all patients for glaucoma as a part of the regular eye examination. In spite of this, however, many Americans fail to learn that they have glaucoma until it is too late for effective treatment. Both cataracts and glaucoma can be discovered and treated provided the patients receive regular checkups by eye specialists in this field.

It is discouraging to think that half of the cases of blindness in the United States today can be charged directly to carelessness or neglect. It is just another case of American citizens failing to make use of facilities that are readily available to them.

Guard Your Eyesight

The National Association for the Prevention of Blindness estimates that half of the blindness in the United States could be prevented or cured.

The chief causes of blindness are glaucoma, cataracts and accidents. To help prevent accidents parents are advised to take a look around the home and especially at the belongings of the children. Airguns, slingshots and darts often are highly prized toys but they are also dangerous weapons if improperly used. They can put out the eyes of a youngster playing with them and indeed adults are not immune from such injury if toys are carelessly used about the home. The remedy of course is to prevent the use of such weapons by children too young to understand how to use them and to take particular care to instruct older boys and girls in the proper use of such items before they are permitted to use them without supervision.

Carries ADA Cargo

Our Ship of State Is Using Compass That Always Points Left

BY MORRIE RYSKIND

A score of letters — some bitter with invective, some more gently reproachful — all urge me to be less divisive and to occasionally give a couple of cheers for the administration. I'll be more than happy to oblige, but I must wait until there's something to cheer about.

Ryskind

It's not that I wish to be intentionally rude and break up the harmony of the voyage. I am the first to admit that our captain is highly personable, his manners impeccable and his rhetoric — except perhaps in his news conferences, where his syntax follows Eisenhower rather than Fowler — flawless.

But the sad fact remains that the Ship of State has been springing holes of late and is headed for the rocks, and in such dire straits, a knowledge of navigation is temporarily more important than a knowledge of grammar. The time comes when you have to act like a captain as well as look like a magazine cover of one.

Good TV Casting

Don't get me wrong. If this were being done for TV, I'd say the present casting is excellent, and I'd love to have even a small part of the residuals. But this happens to be for dear life, and it doesn't matter a hoot whether the skipper is photogenic or talks like Casey Stengel instead of Churchill as long as he gets us safely into port. I am a pretty fair stickler for grammar myself, but I don't count the dangling participles when the boat's leaking.

Not that I pretend to be a veteran sea dog. Frankly, I couldn't tell you the difference between a mizzenmast and a barnacle, and I doubt that I could hold down the job of swabbing the deck on any self-respecting ship.

But I do know, however, that in crises of this kind, it is considered wise to jettison some of the cargo, valuable though it may be, in order to lighten the burden of the vessel and make it more maneuverable in the treacherous waters.

Takes on ADA

But our nonchalant captain, instead of lightening the unmanageable burden of the national debt, insists on adding to it by taking on board all the cargo the ADA has to offer. Housing, medical care, retraining, maximum minimum wages, the Peace Corps, more foreign aid and farm subsidies, welfare, schools and what-have-you — he accepts them all cheerfully. "Plenty of room for one more," is his motto, and I am reminded, inevitably of a famous scene in an old Marx Bros. film when about a hundred people were herded into a stateroom that could hold four if nobody breathed.

I admit the captain's spirit, and I think his seamanship is excellent if the port of destination is Davy Jones' locker. Otherwise, I suggest we get out the lifeboats.

Portside Compass

There have been times in nautical history when a captain has frozen and been saved by a knowledgeable first mate and an experienced group of able seamen. But this crew makes even a landlubber like me look like Capt. Bligh by comparison. The only sailing they have ever done has been in a Harvard bathtub, where you can't even get your feet wet.

How do you expect them to get their bearings when they use a compass, designed by Galbraith and Schlesinger, that points only to potside? And, instead of the standard Harrison's chronometer which records Greenwich time, they use a clock which yell's "cuckoo" every quarter hour? Though they may have something in the latter, at that.

Oops! Here we go again. The captain has just added a $600 million public works program — to start, that is. You know how these things have a habit of getting bigger — and I wouldn't be surprised if that were the last straw. FDR tried it and still had as many unemployed at the end of seven years as when he began his sure-fire methods.

He was saved — if that's the

College Wins Legislative Battle

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for April 12, 1862.

Last Saturday evening, the students at Lawrence University turned out in force, marched up to the cars and escorted their worthy President home.

On the way to the depot the boys made merry music, whistling "Yankee Doodle." Well, the students feel like rejoicing with us at the success which has attended the untiring efforts of Prof. Mason in securing the passage by the State Legislature of the bill exempting 10,000 acres they may receive from taxation.

The friends of Lawrence may well rejoice at this wise legislation in favor of liberal education. If properly managed, this will prove to be an immense advantage to the institution.

Now let ye who are land poor, give liberally to Lawrence University. But don't donate your worthless lands for the sake of getting rid of them; give some of your valuable lots and acres, and rely upon it, these donations will be used to benefit the country by sending men and women, ready to enter into the busy arena of life, with the impress of your beneficence stamped upon their characters.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

The senate votes to lend the United Nations $100 million. You see, the U.N. is flat broke, whereas the $206 billion we owe is in nice, round figures.

Minnesota's Board of Education votes to drop science and math as high school requirements. Good, sound move. Look where Abraham Lincoln got in life — and you never heard of him studying nuclear physics by candlelight, did you?

NASA plans a rocket 36 stories high. If they'd make it just a bit taller, it wouldn't even have to leave the ground.

Former Gen. Walker says Secretary of State Rusk wants to "sell out" the country. It would never work. The shape we're in, there are even fewer buyers than there are for Walker's theories.

Simple chemical test to tell right from left: If he complains of fluorine in the water, he's right wing. If he complains of strontium 90 in the milk, he's left wing.

Eisenhower says Republicans shouldn't be "snooty" in seeking new members. Trouble is, Republicans have a hard enough time putting up with each other, let alone a bunch of social climbers.

Kennedy Regime Busy With Image Building

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The energy and resourcefulness devoted to image making in the new Democratic administration is one of the most fascinating facts of life in the national capital for the visitor whose ordinary experiences are confined to the comparatively simple political style of a middle-western state.

Several Republican congressmen, with envy mixed with indignation, have reported the delighted responses of their young children to invitations from the White House and the Department of Justice to be guests at children's parties attended by the First Lady and the attorney general.

Congressmen of both parties who rarely before had any direct contact with the Executive Department comment with scarcely concealed astonishment about the attentiveness of the White House staff to their problems and wishes in the Kennedy regime. And your correspondent has had an experience during the last week that leaves him wondering — and just a little worried.

BRIEFING TECHNIQUE

The invitation from the Department of State announced that there would be a briefing conference for newspapermen of the country, to explain in detail American foreign policy programs and problems in a volatile world.

No reporter of normal intelligence ever misses a chance to visit Washington and so this chronicler packed his bags and hustled off to the sessions so thoughtfully arranged by Dean Rusk, secretary of state.

It turned out that Mr. Rusk was in Geneva and had to send regrets, but it turned out also that there was plenty of other brass available for the two days of closely packed lectures, each way to put it — by the war that turned us into the arsenal of democracy and enabled Stalin to gobble up some 15 democracies whose guns are now pointed at us.

If I had any sense, I'd get off now. But I know the captain has another good speech up his sleeve, and I'd like to see if his Farewell Address can rank with his Inaugural Address. Boy, wasn't that a honey!

of which was followed by a question period, and all of it topped off with coffee hour receptions at which the scribes from the provinces were encouraged to rub elbows with the mightiest figures of the New Frontier.

All of the proceedings, of course, were "off the record," which meant that the delegates had the wholly comfortable task of touring Washington and getting organized with the highest officials of the establishment without the usual duty of writing account to their home newspapers to justify their expense vouchers.

On the face of it, this was an impressive educational project. Quite obviously most of more than 1,000 representatives of my profession enjoyed it. Some of them arose to say so as the conference closed.

BUT . . . But there persisted, in the mind of this possibly minority delegate, at least, a concern for the propaganda potential of the device. Was this, as one irreverent Republican congressman of long Washington experience brutally suggested, a genteel form of "brain-washing"?

The Kennedy regime is run by high spirited, imaginative, energetic and determined men who understand power and the techniques thereof, as their brilliant nomination and election campaign demonstrated.

I'm not sure that these conferences are a part of the game. But I confess to some apprehension. I would have been more comfortable in that plush State Department auditorium during two long days of exposure to the most powerful men of the government had there been another hall across the street to which to repair later to hear a close-range exposition of alternate and opposition viewpoints that exist on most of the lecture subjects, and which are being debated in the halls of Congress and in the forums across the land.

The uncertainty is not resolved, for the provincial listener, when he is told that there are similar briefing conferences for industrialists, bankers, publishers and others whose good will is important to a political regime.

Of course, these reflections are off the record.

Peace Corpsmen Would be 'Lambs' In Red Countries

From the San Diego Union

Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, talks as if the young people's group can be as mobile as a platoon of Marines.

Mr. Shriver has suggested that all a Communist country need do to get Peace Corps volunteers working behind the Iron Curtain is to ask for them.

There is great question that the Peace Corps can do its job in under-privileged neutral or friendly countries. There is doubt that the volunteers' naivete can stand up to the cold hard realism of people in need.

This cold, hard realism would be compounded 100 per cent in Iron Curtain countries by professional brainwashers who would like nothing better than to send home Peace Corps members, re-schooled in communism. Let's not take the chance.

Chicago Will Train Relief Population

Aid Must Register
For Schooling

CHICAGO—All able-bodied and trainable persons on relief here will be required to enroll in school to maintain their eligibility for relief.

The program—The first of its kind in the nation—was disclosed Wednesday by Raymond Hilliard, county welfare director, and Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of schools.

"This is a drastic step, but it seems to be the only means to prevent the perpetuation of dependency on relief through future generations," Hilliard said.

He and Willis estimated that some 50,000 of the 285,000 persons on relief here will be affected by the program when it is fully developed.

The program will go into effect within a few weeks, they said.

Report for Interviews
Hilliard said that case workers soon will inform relief recipients as to where they should report for interviews to determine their level of literacy and education.

Shortly afterward, the recipients will be assigned to classes in elementary schools, high schools and junior colleges maintained by the board of education.

Willis said the board has a pool of teachers available for the training classes.

Informal classes also will be set up to train school dropouts. The informality of the classes is necessary to overcome an "anti-school bias" on the part of many youths, Hilliard said.

"It is unthinkable that these able-bodied persons and their dependents should face a lifetime of idleness on relief," Hilliard said.

"For them, there can be no future employment in our rapidly automating economy unless something is done to prepare them for a productive role someplace in the new economic order. Ignorance is infectious."

Classes will range from the three R's to advanced studies that can lead to a college degree.

They will include almost any kind of studies so long as they will help fit relievers for jobs.

"The illiterates will be taught reading, writing and how to figure," Hilliard said. Many older Negroes are illiterate, and Negroes comprise .81 per cent of Chicago's relief population.

"There are parents who cannot read or sign their children's registration cards," Hilliard said.

Range of Training
The range of training can be from simple teaching of good housekeeping and how to read labels on cans or medicine bottles and how to prepare a shopping list all the way up to technical work—Even courses to help some who have some college training to go on for degrees.

"In deciding on what training to offer, we have to peer into the future and try to figure out what job skills will be needed."

"For we must help the people not only to get jobs, but to hold them so they don't have to return to the relief rolls."

Hilliard's hope is that industry and business will adopt a "built-in" requirement that all employees complete basic schooling to hold their jobs.

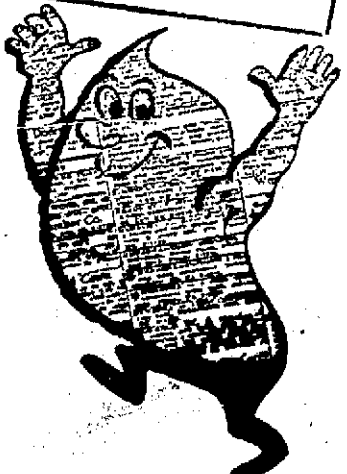

"Youths who drop out of school to take a job almost never go back to classes, although frequently they lose those jobs when layoffs occur."

"Industry will benefit because the additional education will make better employees."

"Employees will benefit because the additional schooling will help them adjust and meet the changing needs of industry."

Hilliard said a special approach will be made in the case of older boys and girls who have just dropped out of school without taking jobs.

Wills Have Been Left, Obeyed Since Before Formal Law Existed

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

It is all very well to josh about the oddities among man's last wills as this department has been doing, but the fact of the matter is that wills are serious. It has happened in history that the most important thing some men have ever done in their lifetimes has been the preparation of their will.

Wills have been left for many centuries, long before the formal establishment of law and jurisprudence, for mankind, has wished to leave behind him concrete evidence of his accomplishments and some form of care for his loved ones.

To the best of my knowledge, the oldest will on record is one made in the days of ancient Egypt. The will, left by one Sekhenren, bore the date of the old Egyptian calendar which translates to the year 2548 B.C., or 4,512 years ago.

The will which left Sekhenren's worldly goods to his wife, Teta, was witnessed by two scribes and its form is remarkable similar to this very day.

Scholars believe it likely that there have been other, much earlier wills than this but they have not been found.

One of the early wills of notable people is that made by the philosopher, Plato, who died in 348 B.C. His will, too long for inclusion here, begins like this: "These things hath Plato left and bequeathed; the farm of Hephastides . . . it is forbidden to sell . . . but it shall belong to my son, Adimantes who shall enjoy the sole proprietorship thereof."

Plato also left money, a silver vase, a silver cup, a gold ring and a pendant. The document also freed a slave, Diana, but ordered that the remainder of his slaves continue to be the property of his son.

Aristotle also left a competent will which was read at the time of his death in 322 B.C.

Augustus Caesar, the great Roman emperor very carefully prepared his will so that his great fortune be properly disposed of according to his specific wishes. He managed to bequeath a minor amount of property to his daughter Julia who was not really a very nice lady; and to Julia's daughter who was Caesar's grandchild. His will, however, specified that neither his daughter or his granddaughter should be buried in the tomb of the Caesars.

Ancient Joke

One will, a very ancient joke, is said to have originated in the 15th century A.D. It was the will of a pig, written no doubt by someone with a sense of humor.

Part of the will reads thus: "Of my mortal remains, I will and bequeath my bristles to cobbler, my teeth to squabblers, my ears to the deaf, my tongue to the lawyers and chatterboxes, my entrails to tripemen, my hams to gluttons, my stomach to little boys and my curly tail to little girls."

Saladin, sultan of Egypt and conqueror of Syria, Arabia, Mesopotamia, and Persia, died in 1193 his will showed that he had full understanding of how shallow can be some victories and conquests. He was aware that you can't take it with you.

His will ordered that his riches be divided among priests of three religions so that they might pray for him. He next ordered that the tunic he was wearing at the time of his death should be carried on a spear through out the whole of an encampment of his army. The officer carrying the tunic was to pause from time to time and chant aloud these words: "Behold all that remains of the Emperor Saladin; of all the states he conquered; of all the provinces he had subdued; of the boundless treasures he had amassed; of the countless wealth he possessed, he retained nothing when he died, nothing but this shroud!"

Sound Mind

Wills even today carefully specify that the writer thereof prepare it while in his right mind. The custom is not new.

William de Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, prepared a will in which he said: "will of William de Beauchamp, Earl of Warwick, dated Holy Rood Day, 1296, being in perfect health . . ."

The Prince of Wales put it this way in 1376: "We, Edward, eldest son of the king of England, prince of Wales, duke of Cornwall and earl of Chester, the 7th June, 1376, in our apartment in the palace of our lord and father, the king, at Westminster, being of good and sound memory etc., we bequeath . . ."

Sir Richard Hamerton in 1480 preceded his will with this sanity clause: "Richard Hamerton, knight, in my hole mynde and witt . . ."

One John Turville who died in England in 1500 set up a set of circumstances wherein his beliefs retain old family heirlooms. Turville did it this way, but I cannot report that his intention was successful:

He left to his "son and heirs apparent a bason and an ewer of silver, warning and charging him, on my blessing, and as we will answer afore God at the day of dome, that he shall bequeath them after his decease to his son and heirs apparent, and so under this manner and condition in the forsayd bason and ewer of silver to go from haire to haire while the world endureth."

Alden Speaks Out

A "ewer" was a type of wide-mouthed jug. The "bason" may have had some religious significance.

If you think John Alden didn't speak for himself, you are mistaken. His cautious will, dated in 1701 when he was 74 years old, divided his possessions as he wished them to be divided, and then he added that his children were to be given the liberty of using the kitchen of his home "for washing, brewing and baking" and that all of his garden could be used by them "for the hanging and drying of their cloaths."

Use a piece of smooth, white paper with a fairly hard finish. Typewriter paper is good. Soft-finish paper, such as construction paper, won't produce good results because it will absorb the paint instead of spreading it when the paper is creased.

Dip your paint brush into clear water and mix it with a bright color in the paint box. Apply a long blob of this color at the center of the paper. Be sure the brush deposits a lot of liquid so the blob is long and dome-shaped.

Clean the brush, dip it again into clear water, mix it with a different bright color and make a general blob half an inch away from the first one. Between the two, place a small dot of still another color that contrasts with

It's Fun Making Butterflies With Your Water Color Kit

BY CAPPY DICK

You don't have to be an artist to make beautifully-colored pictures of butterflies. All you have to do is make three blots of water color paint, each a different color, on a piece of paper, then crease the paper. Get out your water colors right now and follow these directions.

Schuster, Gimbel Bros. Have Merged

BY CAPPY DICK

Despite a federal suit aimed at stopping them, Gimbel Bros., Inc., of New York and Ed. Schuster & Co. of Milwaukee said the merger of the two department store chains has been completed. Gimbel also filed an answer in U.S. District Court here denying the justice department's charge that the merger would violate the Clayton Antitrust Act, and asked dismissal of the suit. A pre-trial conference has been set for April 17 but trial is not expected for at least two months, justice department officials said.

The justice department filed a civil antitrust suit in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee last month, charging the merger would "substantially lessen competition" in the Milwaukee area. The complaint said Gimbel and Schuster together accounted in 1960 for 57 per cent of the total Milwaukee department store sales of $167 million.

A federal request for a preliminary injunction "to prevent the merger before completion of the antitrust trial" was denied March 27.

The merger required 338,622 Gimbel shares, twice the number originally specified because of a 100 per cent Gimbel stock dividend March 30. Based on current prices of Gimbel stock, the transaction involved about $13.5 million, down from more than $16 million when the merger plans were announced last December.

1. Be sure to use plenty of water. Next, crease the paper at the point indicated by the dotted line in Figure 1, causing the fold to pass through the three blobs. Press the paper tightly. This will cause the paint to spread. When you open the paper you will find that the spots of paint have formed a butterfly with the three colors beautifully mingled to represent wings and body.

Make a lot of these butterflies, using various combinations of color. Glue them to a cardboard and place it on the wall of your room as a decoration.

It Was a Bad Week For Chiefs of State

Argentina's Frondizi, Syria's
Koudsi Overthrown by Militarists

BY BAKER MARSH
Chicago Daily News Service
CHICAGO — A couple of presidents lost their jobs last week. Both would just as soon have stayed on; but in their line of work when you gotta go, you gotta go.

Arturo Frondizi of Argentina, a career politician known as El Flaco, the thin man, fought hard to hold on. But the veteran of some 35 crises in four years in the office finally was hustled off ungraciously by the military men who once backed him.

Frondizi's fellow ex-president is Nazem el Koudsi of Syria, who had served only a little more than three months of his five-year term. His first crisis was his last.

Military Opposition
Both men were counted out by their country's military leaders. Frondizi's downfall began March 18, when backers of former dictator Juan Peron, aided by the Communists, made sweeping gains in voting for state and national legislatures. Koudsi walked the plank early Wednesday when the Syrian army staged its second coup in six months.

One of Frondizi's great troubles was that he put his country on an austerity diet in an effort to recover from the corruption and extravagance of Peron and those who preceded him.

Weller's Theory
George Weller of the Daily News Foreign Service reports that Koudsi applied his austerity program in the wrong place.

Under his regime the 17-man parliament held down the salaries of the Syrian officer corps while raising their own from $180 a month to nearly $600.

In addition, the parliament favored landowners by raising the limit on legal holdings from the previous 750 acres to 1,500.

Syria is a Middle Eastern country with good land but no oil. The new military rulers spoke bitterly of "failures in the land reform program." The parliament went out with Koudsi. It was the army that took Syria out of the United Arab Republic led by Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser six months ago. At that time the reason given was opposition to Nasser's brand of Arab socialism.

Now the high command states as one of its objectives "the establishment of constructive Arab socialism."

Maybe, the difference is in what the army considers "constructive."

Electric Typewriters to be Purchased for High School

The purchase of electric instead of manual typewriters for the high school business department this year was approved Monday by the Appleton Board of Education. A good business department should give some experience on electric typewriters since many students will use this equipment when they start working, he said.

The department has only three electric typewriters now. Kurtz said that the allocation probably would be used to buy all electric machines this year, and that in later years both electric and manual would be purchased.

With a good bid plus the trade-ins, 10 electric typewriters could be purchased this year, he said. About 20 manual machines could be purchased at the same cost, he said.

pound of steel. He said it was a "catch-up" increase needed to offset the continuing squeeze on profits the last four years.

In 1961, U.S. Steel earnings fell to $190.2 million, equal to $3.03 a share, and were the lowest since 1952. In 1960 the company cleared $304.1 million, or $5.16 a share. U.S. Steel reports first quarter 1962 results on April 24.

David J. McDonald, United Steelworkers' president, said he was "surprised, troubled and concerned" about the price hike.

Referring to the just-concluded steel-labor negotiations, McDonald said "we had no understanding and no discussion with the company on prices."

President Thomas F. Patton of Republic Steel quickly responded by saying, "Republic certainly needs a price increase, and will review the reported action of U.S. Steel immediately."

Other Firms Wait

Other steel firms withheld immediate comment. Bethlehem Steel President Edmund F. Martin told a stockholders meeting Tuesday that Bethlehem was trying to hold the line on prices despite stiffening competition.

Worthington said the 3.5 percent price hike compares with cost increases of about six percent since 1958. That was the year of the last general price hike of about $4.50 per ton.

ganization before smashing it militarily.

Jouhaud appears before a court composed of four civilians, three generals and one admiral. He will be tried on three capital charges: crimes against the state by massacre and devastation, leadership of an insurrectional movement and crimes against authority of state with use of arms.

Jouhaud is described by those who have been able to visit him as a beaten and downcast man who has reached the point of nervous collapse.

His defense besides denying most of his responsibilities as secret army commander of Oran, will be on an emotional basis.

Jouhaud will plead that he's a "Pied Noir," meaning black foot—a native of Algeria. He was born 37 years ago near Oran and has spent most of his life in Algeria. He will claim that he cannot stand to see it given to the Algerian nationalists.

What will surely count in his favor is that in a total of 5,000 hours of flying, he has gallantly served in all French wars since 1945 and often has proved his bravery in combat.

His lawyers will undoubtedly insist that courageous soldier Jouhaud is not a political "brain" and has been "taken in" by smart Salan, whose army companions have nicknamed the "Mandarin."

The annual report showed the firm's income was 8.7 per cent of its sales in 1958 and 5.7 per cent in 1961.

der to halt the walkout, originally scheduled for Tuesday.

The union called a one-day postponement so the rank-and-file could be heard on the city's latest offer—$28 million and an indefinite strike postponement while a three-man committee sought additional money for education. The $28 million would be for pay increases in the next fiscal year.

Cogen and other leaders pleaded for acceptance of that offer, but the strike vote directed negotiators not to settle until the Board of Education "agrees to make available more than $33.8 million."

Cogen, who immediately lined up with the majority, said teachers were victims of a "starvation budget."

The teachers, whose present wages range from $4,800 to $8,600 a year with bonuses for special categories, originally had asked $53 million. The city said it would be hard-pressed to come up with even $27 million.

A running state-aid dispute between Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller befogged negotiations and did little to cool the rising tempers of the rank-and-file teachers.

— the Russians — don't have any carriers at all and seem to get along pretty well."

Approved in House

Proxmire is the first legislator to raise a public cry against the carrier this year.

The proposal was approved in the house without controversy.

Some senate sources observed that the carrier contracts would probably be let at Norfolk, Va., and that Virginia's two senators — normally fighters for economy — probably will not oppose it for that reason.

The two are Sen. Willis Robertson and Sen. Harry Byrd, both Democrats.

Proxmire said he also intended to challenge a request in the bill for RS-70 bomber funds—a matter that attracted wide attention in the house.

The senate bill, like the final house version, proposes spending $491,000,000 more than the defense department requested.

Wants Roll Call

"Secretary of Defense (Robert S.) McNamara has made a devastating case against these bomber funds," Proxmire said.

"I intend to try to find out how the Senate Armed Service Committee justifies voting more than McNamara believes would be sufficient."

He said he felt that a roll call vote should be taken in the senate on the RS-70 question.

He observed that $491,000,000 is "a huge sum — almost as much as the total amount appropriated in the depressed areas bill."

Proxmire noted that, in item after item, the senate bill proposes giving the defense department all that it asked for.

"In almost any other field but defense," he said, "the senate takes pains to trim requests from executive agencies. There appar-

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Legislature may put the fuse to a move to build a major rocket launching site on the Keweenaw Peninsula in northernmost Michigan.

Six house members teamed up on a resolution Tuesday to create a committee to study the possibilities for construction of the installation by the Defense Department.

Rep. Gilbert E. Bursley, the chief sponsor, said rocket experts regard the peninsula as the only acceptable location in the continent.

Canada Offers Tax Incentive To Executives

20 Cents Saved on Each Dollar from Increased Business

OTTAWA, Ontario — Finance Minister Donald Fleming today dangled a tax-reduction carrot before the eyes of Canadian business executives. On every dollar profit they make due to increased business from here on they can save up to 20 cents in taxes. This production incentive, aimed at stimulating business and making more jobs, was the principle feature of his 1962 budget, probably the last before a general election.

Deep in the Red
The Canadian treasury is deep in the red. There was a deficit of $791,000,000 for the last fiscal year, which ended March 31. Fleming forecast another of $745,000,000 for the current year. In the face of such deficits, the finance minister didn't offer any general tax reductions. In the upcoming election Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker's government will count on recent increases in old age pensions and subsidies to farmers to win it in the favor of the average voter.

The upcoming deficit will be the sixth in succession. Diefenbaker led the Conservative Party into office in 1957 and ever since the treasury has been in the red.

Major Issue
Its financial record will be a major issue at the upcoming election unless the voters' attention can be diverted.

Liberal leader Lester Pearson and his followers plan to compare the Conservative record with their own performance of surpluses and debt reduction in the years before 1957.

The present government, however, has been plagued by a general slow-down in Canadian economic growth accompanied by high unemployment. It has spent money liberally in an effort to stimulate business and claims credit for holding off greater troubles.

In the face of a big deficit, it recently boosted old age and other pensions, set up new subsidies for farmers.

Taxes Down
It has also whittled down taxes so that Conservatives can now claim most Canadians pay less taxes now than they did five years ago.

The federal government's tax on corporation profits is 41 per cent. The provincial governments take another 9 per cent, leaving companies about one dollar out of every two they earn. Business interests say that doesn't give them enough incentive to expand.

The government has been impressed with that argument and so it says they can keep half the federal tax on any extra business they produce in any year over the previous year. The deal is open to manufacturing and processing industries, not to service, merchandising or primary materials industries.

Kaukauna Town Clerk Resigns

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Arnold Deering, clerk of the Town of Kaukauna, has announced she will resign her position effective today.

The town board has scheduled a meeting tonight to name a replacement to fill her unexpired term. Mrs. Deering's term runs until April, 1963.

She was appointed town clerk when Fred Miller died in October, 1933 and served in that capacity until April, 1934. In 1938 she began taking care of the town books for her husband, Arnold Deering, who served as clerk until April, 1945. In that year Mrs. Deering was named clerk and has served in that capacity ever since.

Mrs. Deering teaches school at Holy Name of Jesus School, Kimberly, and gave as her reason for resigning, a desire to devote more time to other interests.

Like Wisconsin, Nation's Capital Experimenting With New Sales Tax

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WASHINGTON D. C. — Like the people of Wisconsin, the inhabitants of the nation's capital are resigning themselves to another round of tax increases to finance the exploding costs of local government.

A variegated pattern of sales taxes went into effect here, wryly enough, on April Fool's Day. The package included a boost in the general retail sales tax from 2 to 3 per cent, a higher tax on liquor, and a boost in the tax on hotel and other transient rooms that will pluck hundreds of thousands of dollars annually from the crowds of travellers stopping to do business with the government.

The District of Columbia local government's costly budget of services is reaching upward to an expenditure of nearly $300,000,000 a year, a total that appears huge against Wisconsin spending standards in spite of the rapid rise in Wisconsin state and local budgets lately.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird, the energetic and popular congressman for the central Wisconsin Seventh District, is supporting Lt. Gov. Warren P. Knowles for the Wisconsin Republican nomination for governor.

Laird is not making a public declaration of his sympathies, he told a visitor.

"Everybody knows where I stand," he explained. His close personal friendship with Knowles goes back more than a decade when they served together in the Wisconsin State Senate. Laird's position probably means that Knowles will have a majority of the votes of the delegates of the strongly Republican central part of the state, when he competes with Philip Kuehn for the state party convention endorsement in May.

Larry Gilbertson of Black River Falls, widely known in Wisconsin business and political circles, was a casualty of the New Frontier when he lost his place as counsel for the Small Business Administration, but he has set up a successful public relations counselling agency here.

Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg of Burlington, freshman Republican congressman for the first Wisconsin District, is contemplating his re-election campaign with more equanimity than might be expected of a representative of that "swing" district.

Democrats appear likely to have a heated primary election fight before they nominate their candidate, and the chances will favor the renomination of Gerald Flynn, the former congressman who was unseated by Schadeberg with comparative ease two years ago. Democratic strategists privately agree that Flynn won't be their best or most effective candidate in the fall.

Joseph C. Fagan, who formerly lobbied at the Wisconsin state capital for the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, is performing similar chores here for the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Fagan's specialty is labor legislation.

Like others of his trade, he has quickly learned the futility of party labels in identifying forces in the Congress. He speaks of "conservatives" and "liberals", as more meaningful words than "Republicans" and "Democrats."

Lobbyists, like governmental institutions here, run to huge size. The U.S. Chamber has a staff of about 600 devoting eyes and their ears to the interests of businessmen dues - payers all over America.

Members of the Kennedy clan are noted for the intensity of their preparations for each political task, and a current Washington story illustrates.

President Kennedy was admonishing his young brother Edward, running for senator from Massachusetts, on the imperative necessity for thorough preparation when the politician submits himself to the interrogation of reporters.

Young Kennedy was impatient. Of course, he said, he had prepared himself for every conceivable question and had no worries.

"Well," bridled JFK, "how do you stand on the National Uniform Divorce Act?"

"What's that?" replied Edward, in embarrassment.

The capital is crowded with persons who came here from other parts of the country, but never quite manage to put down their spiritual roots here.

A high ranking officer of one of the agencies greeted this reporter at a reception. "I'm from Wisconsin too," he offered.

"I came here in 1931".

More political business than the outsider might readily believe is handled here at the "social level", at cocktail parties, receptions and the like.

At a routine social function the other day a Wisconsin legislator who is a ranking member of an important committee chatted with an acquaintance who holds a comparatively minor job in the Department of State.

"I don't like what we're doing in Southeast Asia," remarked the congressman, and you could almost see the State representative making a mental note to report the incident to his superior in the morning.

Rep. Alvin O'Konski of the Wisconsin tenth district, perhaps alone of Wisconsin Republican congressional candidates this year, is likely to win again the endorsement and backing of COPE, the aggressive and increasingly effective political action arm of the AFL-CIO. The union organization likes to point to its occasional encouragement of such Republicans as O'Konski as a testimonial to its bi-partisan methods, although in point of fact in most parts of the country it is an unofficial ally of the Democratic party.

O'Konski will have opposition in the Republican primary this year, which is a fairly unusual experience for him, but he professes unconcern about it. His vote-getting record in the past probably entitles him to show confidence about his prospects.

Sen. and Mrs. William Proxmire have bought one of the most attractive homes in one of the most attractive sections of this crowded city. It was formerly owned and occupied by Arthur Larson, a key White House advisor to the Eisenhower regime, who is now a law professor at Duke University.

Mrs. Proxmire's 3-month-old baby son has required some reduction in the scope of her assistance in Sen. Proxmire's office, but she continues to turn up there frequently to assist in handling the mail and in other chores. She has a rich background of political experience in her own right, as a former executive director of the state Democratic party organization of Wisconsin.

Edwin Bayley, the Wisconsin-trained reporter who is now chief of information services for the vast Agency for International Development, plans an extensive trip through the Latin American countries this month. His work has already brought him an extensive knowledge of the tangled politics of Central and South America and his conversation drops the names of Latin country ministers, generals and presidents with the casual familiarity he once employed for aldermen and assemblymen in Wisconsin public affairs.

When Ivan Nestingen, now

under-secretary of health, education and welfare in the national administration, was mayor of Madison he became accustomed to the attentions of local news photographers.

At a recent reception, therefore, as Mrs. Nestingen relates the story, he was not especially surprised when Washington cameramen photographed him and appeared to give him more attention than others in his party. Only later did he learn that he had been taken for Dean Rusk, the secretary of state.

Mistaken identity is a hazard that balding men learn to take in stride.

A Wisconsin visitor, aware of the difficulties and worries of Wisconsin law-makers in the dairy price support field, smilingly told a younger member of the Wisconsin congressional delegation his hope that he would be able to resolve the dairy dilemma during his political life-time. "I'm afraid that won't be enough time," he returned, sadly.

Conservatives Suffering at English Polls

Party Leaders Glad Next Voting 18 Months Away

BY WILLIAM H. STONEMAN

Chicago Daily News Service

LONDON — Leaders of the British Conservative Party are drawing increased consolation from the fact that the next general election is not due to take place for another 18 months.

Results of a by-election held at Stockton-on-Tees to fill the place of a member of parliament who had resigned indicated that they might risk losing their majority in the House of Commons if a general election took place now.

For the fifth time in five recent by-elections the Conservatives

Wednesday, April 11, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A12

lost heavily, with the up-and-coming Liberals picking up most of the ex-Conservative votes.

Stockton Results

Results at Stockton gave the Labor Party victory with 45.2 per cent of the votes cast, a drop of 8.5 per cent from the 1959 general election, the Conservatives 27.8 per cent, 18.5 per cent below 1959, and the Liberals 27 per cent. The Liberals didn't contest the seat in 1959 or the two preceding general elections.

The Conservatives only managed to win second place from the Liberals by 390 votes out of a total poll of about 43,000.

They wouldn't even have done that if Prime Minister Harold Macmillan hadn't gone up to Stockton last Tuesday to harangue the electors whom he once represented in parliament.

Bright Side

One bright side of the result was that Labor candidate W. T. Rodgers is a loyal follower of party leader Hugh Gaitskeller and his pro-NATO policy.

Four recent by-elections have all resulted in heavy percentage losses for the Conservatives and heavy gains for the Liberals, who only won six seats out of 630 in the 1959 general election.

Conservative percentage losses compared to 1959 have amounted to 18.5 per cent at Stockton, 21.9 at Orpington, where the Liberals grabbed 53 per cent of the vote in a sensational victory, 23.7 per cent at Middlesbrough East, 19.5 per cent at Blackpool North and 14.7 per cent at Lincoln.

Three Reasons

Conservative Party leaders attribute these setbacks to three things: the natural unpopularity of any government midway between two general elections, inevitable popular resentment at the government's effort to restrict wage increases and growing displeasure of young married couples at the government's failure to help them.

All of this, the party leaders fervently hope, may change by voting day late in 1963.

last season, as both teams opened their 1962 campaigns on a sunny afternoon.

Schwall, 23, gave up all four Cleveland runs and nine hits before leaving for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning.

Bubba Philips singled in Romano in the second inning for the first run. Romano had reached base on a single, moved to second on a wild pitch and to third on an infield out.

In the fifth, Essegian was hit by a pitch, moved up on Romano's second hit and scored as Held dropped a wind-whipped single into short center.

Romano tripled to the center field wall in the seventh after Essegian had beaten out an infield out. Held then singled high off the left field wall, scoring Romano.

Doubly-Valuable Marichal Did It All With Bum Ankle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Any pitcher who accounts for four of his own runs and shuts out the opposition is a doubly valuable man. But when he does it all on a bum ankle—

San Francisco Manager Alvin Dark is counting on Juan Marichal for mound value in 1962, and the young right-hander's three-hit, 10-strikeout mastery of Milwaukee in Tuesday's National League opener indicated Dark will be right.

But no one figured that Marichal would be a terror at the plate. His two hits, two runs and two runs batted in highlighted the 6-0 Giants triumph.

And all this came despite a handicap that Marichal explained this way:

Joe Torres Blow

"When Joe Torre hit one that hit me above the right ankle it hurt. From then (the second inning) on, when I make my windup the weight on my leg makes it hurt. It's still sore now, but it'll be OK by Saturday."

Marichal said he is stronger and more confident than last year. He credits a cutdown in winter league activity with helping his strength.

His batting feat knocked the starch out of the Braves. In the third he doubled off the right field fence, much to the puzzlement of Milwaukee outfielder Mack Jones, and scored on an error.

150 Pitches

In the fourth, Marichal lined a bases-full single to right off what loser Warren Spahn called "a screwball that didn't do much."

Juan scored on Jose Pagan's single.

Marichal's 150 pitches, he said, were a mixture of fast balls, curves and sliders that tricked the Hank Aaron-Ed Mathews-Joe Adcock heart of Milwaukee power into seven strikeouts. But Marichal didn't unlimber his change-up.

"Not in this park. That wind goes to right, and those left handers hit it, and ohh," he smugly trailed off.

left on third with the potential tying run when Brandt popped out.

Maris didn't hit his first home run last year until the Yanks 11th game April 26 at Detroit but he wound up with a record 61 total.

No. 1 for '62 came off starter Billy Hoelt and it sailed deep into the lower stands in right field.

Skowron's inside-the-park job was a tremendous blow of about 450 feet which hit high on the wall in center over the head of the leaping Brandt.

Mantle lined his home run into the bleachers in right center about 10 rows deep and about 410 feet from the plate. It came off Hal Brown who turned out to be the loser.

Gino Cimoli's Homer Gives A's 4-2 Victory

Ed Rakow Survives Shaky Start to Top Minnesota Twins

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Gino Cimoli clouted a three-run homer Tuesday that gave the Kansas City Athletics and pitcher Ed Rakow a 4-2 opening day victory over the Minnesota Twins before 21,012 chilled fans.

Cimoli's home run came in the fourth inning off lefty Jack Kralick. Singles by Bobby Del Greco, Norm Siebern and Leo Posada had scored one run when Cimoli drove the ball over the left field fence at the 370-foot mark.

Rakow got off to a shaky start when Lenny Green and Vic Power led off with singles and Green scored as Harmon Killebrew hit into a double play. The big right hander was in trouble again in the fifth when Zoilo Versalles and Dick Rollins singled. But Versalles was caught off second on Kralick's attempted sacrifice to kill off any scoring.

Allen Triples

The Twins scored their second run in next inning on Earl Battey's double and Bernie Allen's triple.

Kralick went out for a pinch hitter in the seventh inning and Ray Moore finished for the Twins.

The first ball was thrown by sports editor Ernie Mehl of the Kansas City Star and the catcher was the A's owner, Charles O. Finley, a pair who had been estranged since late in the 1961 season.

Earlier Deer Season In Store for Hunters In Upper Peninsula

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—An earlier deer season opener for the Upper Peninsula will become effective as soon as Gov. John Swainson signs an enabling bill.

The measure permits shooting to start in the Upper Peninsula on the Saturday before Nov. 15 when the 15th does not fall on a Saturday. This will enable a Nov. 15 season's start about the straits this fall since the 15th falls on a Thursday.

Exempted from the measure is that section of the upper peninsula east of a line running along M 77 from Grand Marais in the north to Gulliver in the south.

Alston's Strategy Questioned Chavez Had Compensations For Most Complaints of Fans

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Outfielder Wally Moon of Los Angeles summed it up very well for the home folk after the Dodgers lost to the Cincinnati Reds 6-3 Tuesday.

"It was a good game—it just turned out wrong."

Everyone conceded that another Wally, Post of the Reds, was the big gun. The veteran smashed a three-run homer in the seventh inning to sew up the ball game and leave most of the 52,564 fans disappointed.

"Today was Post day," said Manager Walter Alston with a wry grin.

Someone mustered enough courage to ask about the strategy attendant to the game busting homer.

Alston had ordered an intentional walk for Frank Robinson. Vada Pinson was already on with a double.

Alston fielded the question tactfully.

"Well, Robinson has always been a thorn in our side," Alston said patiently. "He was the league's most valuable player last year and you know he got a hit the next time he came up and—"

There was not much more to add except Alston said he most likely would order Robinson walked again under the same circumstances.

The crowd jammed unfinished access roads and parking lots, clogged aisles of the multi-level, $18 million stadium—but some how were mostly in their seats by game time.

Mrs. Walter O'Malley, wife of the team's owner, tossed out the first ball with a three-quarter arm delivery and tricky change of pace.

Two minutes later Dodger John Podres made the first official pitch—a ball—to Cincinnati outfielder Eddie Kasko.

Don Plass Whacks 575 Pin Aggregate

Don Plass swept honors in the Beer Couples League at the 41 Bowl with a 575 set.

The Millers hold a one-game lead over the Hammns in the team standings. Ed Van Linn had the only other honor count, a 550.

Ravine on the fringe of Los Angeles' downtown area.

There were delays and short tempers, but as most fans heeded the warnings and started for the park two hours early, there was no last minute pile-up for seats.

A few fans complained that the ushers seemed something less than infallible. Elevators were packed with people not supposed to be using them.

But there were these compensations: Beer, not available at the club's old home in Memorial Coliseum; rest rooms galore (48); seats measuring from 19 to 22 inches across, compared with the usual 17 to 18; emergency medical service, including stretchers on every level.

One woman fell and skinned a knee in the rush. Another woman was hit on the head by a man falling from a seat above.

Vernadine Welch Slams 537 Set In Final Session

Vernadine Welch spanked a 201 line and a 537 set in the final Women's National League bowling action of the season Tuesday night.

Lucille McGreer was the runner-up with a 192 and a 513. Other honor counts were rolled by Agnes Green, a 193, and Janice Sauer, a 506.

Automatic Voting Machines and Ray's Northgate tied for the team championship with 64-26 records.

Boxer Shows Improvement

Fund Organized by Hunsaker's Friends To Help Pay Bills

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Tunny Hunsaker showed improvement Tuesday but remained in serious condition with head injuries suffered in a bout for which he received $165.

The 32-year-old fighter, after surviving two brain operations and other complications, hugged his wife and was taken off the critical list at a Bluefield Hospital.

He collapsed in his corner after he was knocked out last Friday night by Joe Shelton of Cleveland, Ohio, in the 10th and final round.

Dr. E. L. Gage reported the slight improvement but said Hunsaker still was in serious condition.

Members of the family said Hunsaker had a poached egg and toast, some oatmeal, tomato juice and coffee this morning.

"I'm sure he's going to make it now," said his wife, Phyllis. She had just left his room where the fighter reached up and hugged her, held her hand and followed her movements with his eyes.

With hospital bills mounting, friends have organized a "Tunney Hunsaker Fund," to help relieve the financial drain on the fighter and his family.

Sports writer George McLaughlin of Beckley, a close personal friend, said bills probably will amount to several thousand dollars before the fighter is well enough to leave the hospital.

Fighting never was a money-making proposition for Hunsaker, who earns a living as a $295-a-month investigator for the West Virginia state beer commission.

"He fought because he loved to fight," said Mrs. Hunsaker. "It wasn't the money."

The largest purse he ever collected was $700—which included his expenses—for a fight in Houston, Tex. He has entered the ring for as little as $100.

Lollar said the best play of the Comiskey Park opener, played before a crowd held to 18,124 by 40-degree weather, was turned in by new first sacker Joe Cunningham.

That play came in the sixth with Cunningham, former St. Louis Cardinal, catching a foul off the bat of Billy Moran and then tumbling headlong into the Los Angeles dugout.

"He could have been killed," said Lollar.

Tebbetts Not Unduly Alarmed Over Woeful Performance

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Milwaukee manager Birdie Tebbetts had little reason to be happy but he wasn't unduly alarmed by the Braves' woeful performance in dropping a 6-0 decision to the San Francisco Giants Tuesday in their 1962 National League opener.

"We couldn't hit, they did; we didn't field well, they did—and they won," Tebbetts said. "There isn't much more to say."

Tebbetts said he wasn't too concerned with the showing of southpaw Warren Spahn, who surrendered eight hits and all six runs before being lifted with two out in the fourth.

"I don't think he got hit very hard and the way it turned out that first inning home run by Willie Mays was enough anyhow," the Milwaukee field skipper said.

He also defended his batters, who managed to collect only three singles. He said he would rather give credit to San Francisco Juan Marichal than blame the Braves for not hitting.

"I always did like that kid," Tebbetts said in praising Marichal, who struck out 10, including Hank Aaron three times and Eddie Mathews and Joe Adcock twice each.

Marichal, also the game's hitting star with a double and a single and two runs batted in, said he thought Aaron was "fighting the ball." As for Mathews, Marichal said: "I got lucky."

Just before striking out the first time, Mathews cracked a long drive which just went foul before clearing the right field wall.

The lone bright spot for the Braves was the relief pitching. Don Nottebart hurled hitless ball for 2 1-3 innings in relief of Spahn and Bob Shaw finished up by retiring six straight batters.

Boxing Commissioner Bob Evans announced this Tuesday and said it is effective immediately.

Evans said the letter must be presented before the weigh-in for the fight. As an extra measure boxers will be examined by the commission's physician.

but Marichal singled to center for two runs. A sacrifice squeeze bunt by Harvey Kuenn was good for another tally and a single by Jose Pagan brought home the fourth run.

Don Nottebart relieved Spahn and pitched 2 1-3 innings of hitless ball before being lifted for a pinchhitter. Bob Shaw, acquired during the winter from Kansas City, finished up with two perfect innings.

Singles by Tommy Aaron and Bolling starting the ninth were wasted. Joe Torre hit into a double play and Amado Samuel flied out.

The Braves' only other serious threat was in the seventh when Marichal walked Adcock. Bolling and Torre to fill the bases with one out. Mays, hitting for McMillan, then struck out and Lou Klimchick, up for Nottebart, was retired on an infield grounder.

Toronto Whips Hawks To Grab Series Lead

Maple Leafs Post 4-1 Victory On Home Ice

BY JOE MOOSHL

Associated Press Sports Writer

TORONTO (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs are brimming with supreme confidence in their Stanley Cup series against the Chicago Black Hawks after a surprisingly easy 4-1 opening victory over the defending champions Tuesday night.

"I don't know why," said Toronto Coach Punch Imlach after the game, "and this may sound surprising, but I wasn't as worried about this game as I was against the New York Rangers."

Toronto reached the finals by whipping the Rangers in six games while the Hawks marched through with a six-game victory over Montreal and did it by winning the last four in a row.

The Maple Leafs, holding a one-game lead, have a good chance of making it two straight on their home ice Thursday night before going to Chicago for games Sunday and Tuesday.

"One game doesn't make a series," said Coach Rudy Pilous of Chicago. "We'll be back." Except for holding a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period on a goal by Bobby Hull, the National Hockey League's top goal maker last season with a record-tying 50, the Hawks never looked like the team which swept past Montreal.

Toronto tied it at 1:32 of the second period on a goal by Dave Keen and went ahead for good at 13:54 of the same period on a score by Frank Mahovlich. Goals by George Armstrong and Tim Horton in the final period clinched the game.

Imlach had a good word for Dick Duff, probably the Leafs' outstanding player.

"Duff was really going in after that puck. He played a good hard game," said Imlach. Duff assisted on two of Toronto's goals and generally helped keep the Black Hawks off balance.

"I guess they found out they can't push us around," said Imlach in reference to the Hawk's reputation of being a rough team. "Their only goal was what you'd call a soft one."

Despite the one-sided setback, the Hawks weren't exceptionally bitter over the loss. "We'll bounce back," said Pilous. "We were down two games against a better Montreal club and still won it."

Traveling Nurses Serve Women on 'Frontier'

BY GEORGE HACKETT

WENDOVER, Ky. (AP) — The minimum fee is $2 a year, but before the FNS came into existence, it was some of the finest home nursing care in the world for nursing care in the world for more than 10,000 men, women and children of the mountains. They are scattered over a 700-mile square miles of forests and streams, an area covered by the blue-gray uniforms and various teas to stop hemorrhages. The Frontier Nursing Service, a nonprofit organization, was founded in 1925. Today, at 81, and bedridden, Mrs. Mary Breckinridge still watches over a medical director in a modern hospital at nearby Hyden, and the cost of a delivery, either at home or in the hospital, is $50, administrative expenses, each nurse-midwife is paid in cash, eggs, or what they have. No mother, however, has delivered a child for lack of funds. As for the $2 yearly fee, it covers home visits, shots and related services. Medicines are sold at cost.

Founded FNS
The success of the FNS is no surprise to its founder, Mary Breckinridge, daughter of a prominent Southern family. After the death of her two small children, she wanted to help the mothers and children of isolated rural areas. A registered nurse, she went to England to take graduate training as a midwife, passed the examination and became the first American nurse-midwife. Returning to Kentucky, she opened the Frontier Nursing Service in a log cabin in 1925.

Neighborhood Help
Now, mothers who register with the service get extensive prenatal care. After the birth, nurses visit back suffered years ago. Mrs. Breckinridge still watches over a staff that includes 30 nurses and a medical director in a modern hospital at nearby Hyden, and the cost of a delivery, either at home or in the hospital, is $50, administrative expenses, each nurse-midwife is paid in cash, eggs, or what they have. No mother, however, has delivered a child for lack of funds. As for the $2 yearly fee, it covers home visits, shots and related services. Medicines are sold at cost.

Approval for 183 Shelters Sought

CD Officials Ask Outagamie Owners for Use of Buildings

Owners of 183 buildings that are potential fallout shelters for Outagamie County will soon be asked to approve the use of their buildings in case of a war emergency.

Bids Opened For Projects

Storm Sewer, Curb, Gutter Work to be Constructed in '62

Appleton's board of public works opened bids Tuesday for storm sewers, curb and gutter, asphalt and concrete paving and sidewalk construction for the 1962 season.

All bids were referred to the director of public works for tabulation.

Apparent low bidder for storm sewer work was McHugh and Coppens, Appleton, on a base bid of $92,673. Of three bids received, the highest was $174,015.

LeRoy Geiger Construction Co., Mackville, was the apparent low bidder for curb and gutter, on a base bid of $11,914. Seven bids were accepted.

The highest was for $14,532. An eighth bid was rejected without being read because the firm failed to include the required bid bond.

Low Bidder Apparent low bidder for asphalt surfacing was Courtney and Plummer, Inc., Appleton, on a base bid of $18,256. There were two bids. The second one was for $18,608.

LeRoy Geiger Construction Co., Mackville, also appeared to be the low bidder for concrete surfacing, on a base bid of $251,979. Five bids were received. The highest was for $315,515.

For sidewalk construction, John Fischer and Son, Appleton, was the apparent low bidder, for $7,873. There were five other bidders. The highest bid was for $9,972.

Penney said today that licenses granting permission to survey the buildings and stock them with emergency equipment will be mailed to 42 building owners in the next few days.

The licenses, which require the owner's signature, give the federal government permission to: Survey the building to determine if it is suitable for shelter use.

Use the building in case of actual or impending enemy attack. (Not for tests or drills).

Attach a sign to the building designating it as a shelter area.

No Liability

Store emergency food and supplies in the building, and inspect the building periodically.

The license releases the owner from liability.

Penney said, although 183 buildings have been listed in a preliminary survey, it is possible not all can be used.

To be eligible, buildings must have adequate emergency shelter space to house 50 people and must have a radiation protection factor of 100.

As a result of the preliminary survey, lists of potential shelters are being sent to Penney. He is to contact the owners and request they sign the licenses.

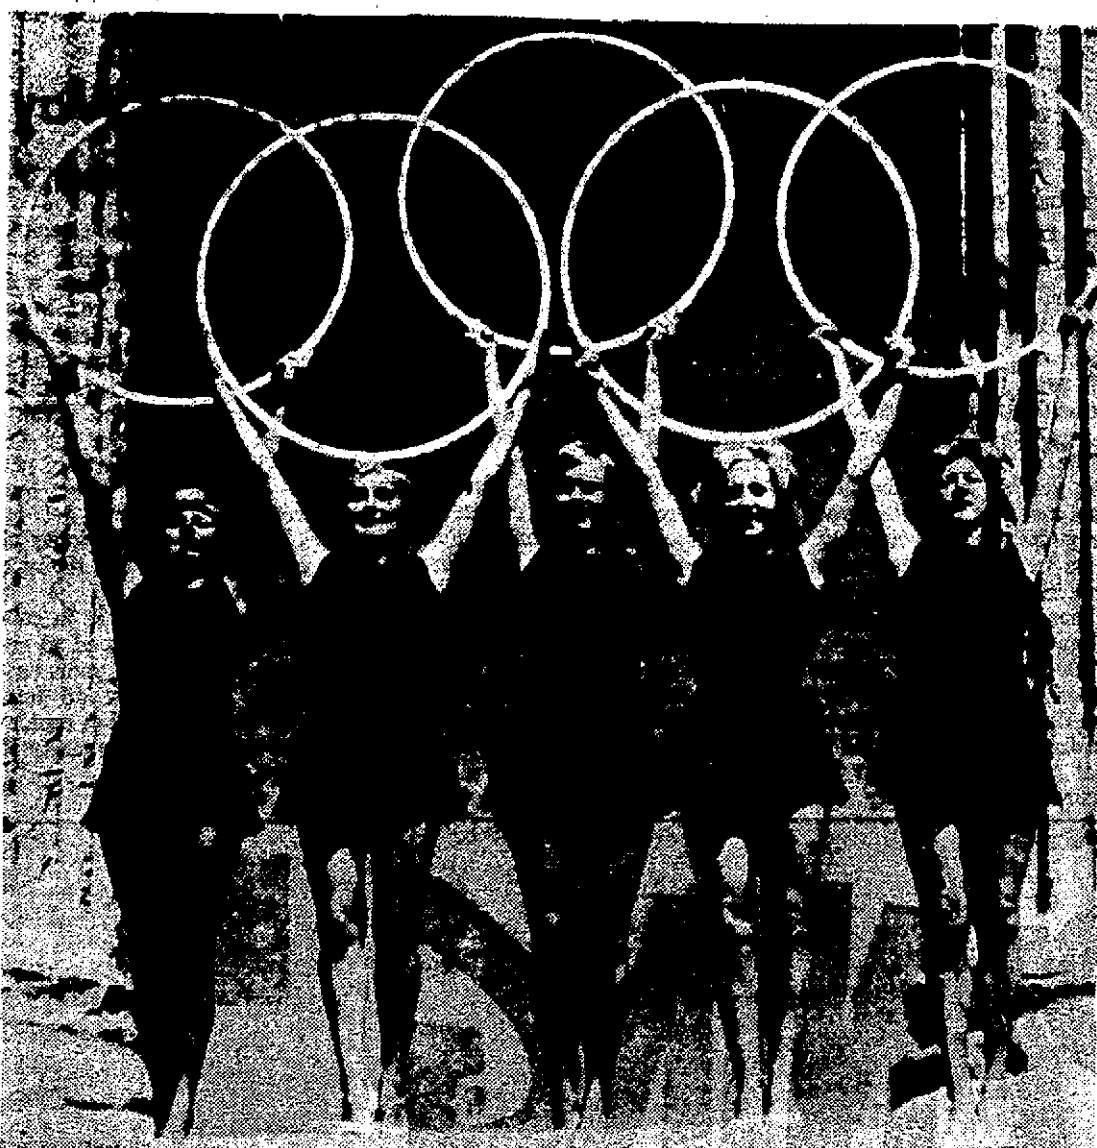

If owners sign, the building will be studied and information will be fed into electronic machines that will determine if the buildings are suitable.

If they are, emergency equipment will automatically be ordered by the machine and forwarded by the manufacturer. The equipment includes food and water, radiation monitoring equipment and toilet and sanitation equipment.

Penney said the program is being conducted nationwide to provide as many private shelters as possible before the federal government considers constructing shelters. It is hoped that shelter for 60 per cent of the people will be found in private buildings, he added.

The licenses will be accompanied by a copy of a letter from Gov. Gaylord Nelson and either county or municipal executives urging the licenses be signed.

The licenses are being prepared for mailing at Penney's office.

Danish Folk Dances and gymnastics will be featured during a performance by the Danish gymnastic team April 30 at Albee Hall at Oshkosh State College. Members of the team include 16 men and 16 women.

New Policy on Assessments Gets Approval

Appleton Board of Public Works Okays Water, Sewer Plan

A new policy on levying water and sewer main assessments against lots that face more than one street was adopted by Appleton's board of public works Tuesday.

The front foot assessment against corner lots will be determined by subtracting the long side or 120 feet, whichever is less, from the sum of the two sides.

Lots that face three streets will be assessed by subtracting 240 feet or the shortest side plus 120 feet, whichever is less, from the sum of the three sides.

Lots Assessed

Rectangular lots having continuous frontage on four streets will be assessed by subtracting 480 feet or the sum of the two shortest sides, whichever is less, from the sum of the four sides.

The present assessment policy provides only for corner lots—those having only two sides. There is no provision for lots with three and four frontages.

There are some lots in the city now that face more than two streets, particularly where streets form triangular lots. More such lots are coming into being in new plats, and even some four frontage lots are appearing.

For the past year the city picked up the tab for all public improvements on all sides except one.

One Side

Oshkosh Man Gets 30 Days in Jail

OSHKOSH — Donald Schmuëde, 30, 1908 Sheridan St., Oshkosh, was sentenced to 30 days in the Winnebago County jail this morning by County Judge Arnold Cane for petty theft.

Schmuëde pleaded guilty Monday of taking a sport coat and slacks from a car at Irving Avenue and Division Street March 30.

Improvements were made first. If improvements were made on both sides in the same year, the home owner paid for the shortest side.

As a result, the city's general fund, which is dependent on taxpayers dollars, was absorbing an increasing amount of the cost of public improvements.

Board members felt that the property owners, who derive the greatest benefit from the improvements, should help pay more of the cost.

Gym Team to Be at OSC

Danish Gymnasts Will Present Show On Monday, April 30

OSHKOSH — The Danish gymnastics team, which is on a world tour, will present a 2½ hour performance at 8 p.m. April 30 in Albee Hall at Oshkosh State College.

The performers, including 16 men and 16 women ranging in age from 17 to 25, were selected from the gymnasts in Denmark. They represent a variety of careers, including teaching, nursing, building trades and social services.

Their performance will include advance and rhythmic gymnastics, tumbling, body-building exercises and a variety of Danish folk dances performed in colorful native costumes. They also will exhibit modern Danish gymnastics performed to specially composed music.

Manages Tour

Erik Flensted-Jensen, managing director of the team, brought his first team to America in 1939 and since then has brought four other teams to the United States.

The current tour of the Danish team started last September with a series of exhibitions in Greece where the team performed in the Olympic Stadium in Athens and the old stadium of ancient Olympia.

The team's appearance is being sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Major Club.

Appleton May Get Airport Limousines

The state Public Service Commission will hold a public hearing April 25 on a request of Conrad's Airport Limousine Service to be certified to carry passengers from Austin Straubel Field to Appleton.

The commission's notice said the hearing would be in Green Bay City Hall at 10 a.m. April 25. Robert Conrad, head of the firm, said the certification was being sought to carry passengers from Straubel Field to Outagamie County Airport or to the Conway Motor Hotel, downtown Appleton and return.

The firm now has authority to carry passengers from Straubel Field to downtown Green Bay. Conrad said no specific schedule for the Appleton run was yet planned.

Bids Read for 3 New Outagamie Motor Graders

Bids for three motor graders to replace three pieces of Outagamie County Highway Department equipment were read today.

The county will trade in a 1949 Caterpillar grader, and two 1954 Austin Western graders. The new units will be tandem or all wheel drive, 115 minimum horsepower and weigh 24,000 pounds. Each grader is to be equipped with a snow wing.

The team's appearance is being sponsored by the Women's Physical Education Major Club.

15-Year-Olds Say They Took Auto

Two 15-year old Appleton youths who "borrowed" a car for a joy ride have been turned over to juvenile authorities. One of the youths told police he borrowed the car from his grandmother's garage, but said that his friend did all the driving.

The pair rode through the Fox Cities but were stopped at Winnebago and Division streets at 10:50 p.m. Tuesday when they sped past the scene of an accident.

One of the boys, who got out of the car and ran home after being stopped by police, was arrested later at his home.

Burglars Steal Cash, Car From Wrecker Firm

OSHKOSH — Burglars took $35 in change in a break-in at Jahnke Wreckers on County Trunk P in the Town of Menasha Monday night and then stole a car from the wrecking firm. The car was later recovered by Appleton police.

Gibson Motors reported a car, valued at between $50 and $60 was taken from a used car lot at Ninth and Racine Streets in the Town of Menasha on Monday night.

Mrs. Grace Leaders, 322 Court St., Oshkosh, reported damage of $350 to a Santa Claus model stored in her garage. The damage was discovered Tuesday morning.

WHEN THEY SAY "NEW SIZE"

They really mean Rambler size!

There's a lot of chest-thumping by some 1962 cars which claim to be "new size." Fact is, six years ago, we brought out a new size car—a big-room, high-performance Rambler. Newest version is today's Rambler Classic—Which Chevy II and Fairlane have tried to copy. In outside dimensions they come fairly close. In room and performance, they fall short. Rambler Classic is still the only car with the BEST OF BOTH: big-car room and performance; compact-car price, economy, handling ease.

COMPARE ROOM AND PERFORMANCE*
	RAMBLER Classic 6	CHEVY II	FAIRLANE
MOST HEADROOM	YES	NO	NO
MOST SHOULDER ROOM	YES	NO	NO
MOST HIP ROOM	YES	NO	NO
MOST HORSEPOWER	YES	NO	NO
MOST TORQUE (Passing Power)	YES	NO	NO

*Standard 6-cylinder 4-door sedans

Rambler Classic Six "400" 4-Door Sedan

They can copy the size, but they can't match Rambler's customer benefits!

Rambler's "new size" idea has made it one of America's top best sellers. In the past six months alone, Rambler has set a sales record above any corresponding period.

The soaring sales are due, in good measure, to the greater room and power Rambler has—compared to imitators. Rambler is the only car within hundreds of dollars of its low price that gives six big 6-footers full headroom, hip room and shoulder room. Biggest reason for Rambler's best-selling success is unmatched excellence of design, quality, and its host of advanced features.

Just compare and see.

Rambler's Double-Safety Brake System provides separate braking front and rear (only Cadillac, no other U.S. car, has a similar system). It's standard on 1962 Ramblers—as are self-adjusting brakes.

Rustproofing. Rambler spills more than others use—literally—in the exclusive Deep-Dip bath where each body is immersed up to the roof in rustproofing primer paint.

Ceramic-Armored muffler and tailpipe. We'll pay the cost if either rusts out, for original owner—collision damage excepted. Just go to a Rambler dealer for free replacement. No time limit.

Interiors are the most comfortable of any car, with comfort options like Airliner Reclining Seats, Reclining Bucket Seats, Adjustable Headrests, Lounge-Tilt Seat.

Full-size wheels and tires are standard on Rambler—instead of small 13" foreign-car size on Rambler's imitators.

These are just a few examples of the great lengths Rambler goes to—to bring you a better built, longer lasting, safer, more useful automobile—at a lower price.

Disaster Loss Can Be Claimed in '62

BY SYLVIA PORTER
If you have suffered a disaster loss this year—in 1962—or if you are hit by a disaster in the few days remaining before the deadline for filing your 1961 income tax return, you can, if you wish, deduct that casualty loss right now.
Under a new law, just signed by President Kennedy, you have this choice for the first time: you can deduct your 1962 disaster loss on your 1961 income tax return, or you can hold off, as taxpayers always did in the past, and deduct this year's loss on this year's income tax return which you'll file in 1963. Congress rushed through legislation in record time last month to permit you these alternatives. The bill was introduced on March 16 by Senator Williams, R-Del., was made into law five days later, was signed by Kennedy at the month-end. The background for it was, of course, the series of catastrophic storms and floods which raged through the country this past winter, causing appalling damage along both coasts and in states ranging from New York to California.

cover the expenses of rebuilding their homes or businesses and replacing personal possessions. The relief provision will now become a permanent part of our tax law, though—and the choice will be available to you if ever you are a victim of a similar disaster in the future.
By taking the 1962 loss deduction on your 1961 return, you get an immediate tax saving. This could be of major help to you if your 1961 income put you in a high tax bracket.
If you already have sent in your 1961 return, you still can get the benefit of this new law by filing an amended 1961 return, adding to your other deductions your casualty loss resulting from the recent disasters and asking for a refund. If you file an amended return, mark it "amended" in large red letters on the front and be sure you mail it to the same Internal Revenue Service office to which you sent your original return.

A point to consider carefully is the outlook for your 1962 income. If you expect this year's income to be substantially higher than last year's, even though you'd save taxes by deducting your casualty loss now, you may save more by delaying and taking the deduction on your 1962 return.
There are two significant limitations on the deduction.
(1) The new law covers only losses suffered in regions which are declared by the President to be disaster areas entitled to Federal assistance. If your home or business was severely damaged by a recent storm but your area isn't officially classified as a disaster area, you cannot move up your deduction from 1962 to 1961. Parts of these states already have been declared disaster areas because of flood, storm damage, flooding or high tides: California, Delaware, Idaho, Kentucky, Maryland, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia. If you have any questions about whether you're in a disaster area, simply ask your local Internal Revenue Service office.

(2) The new law also covers only losses which resulted from the specified calamity. For instance, if you live in a disaster area and your car was destroyed in a crash in March wholly unconnected with the disaster, you have no choice about deducting your automobile casualty loss on your 1961 return. You must wait until you file your 1962 return in 1963 to deduct this loss.
The safest way to calculate

There are Ways to Overcome Tossing, Sleepless Nights

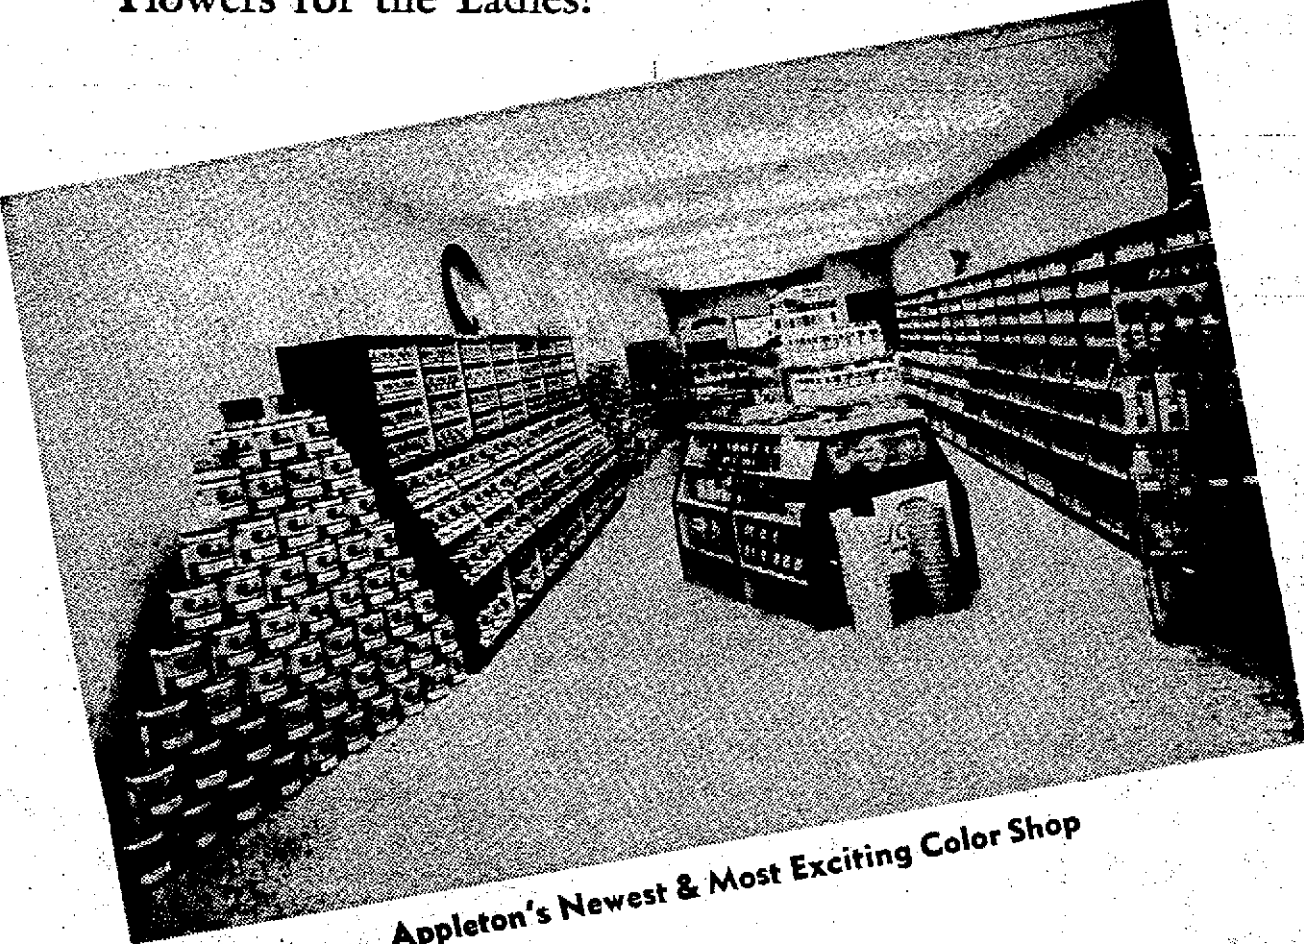

Do you have trouble sleeping at night? Tired and weary, but just can't get to sleep? Toss and turn for hours? If so, you have a lot of company. Insomnia plagues millions of Americans. Almost everyone encounters a sleepless night now and then. There is no sure cure for insomnia. There are all sorts of remedies. If you have one that works, use it. Charles Dickens could sleep only in a bed that faced north. Face your bed north, or any other direction, if it helps you get to sleep.
Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, offers a few suggestions that might help you get to sleep.
Make yourself as comfortable as possible before you retire. Make sure you've the right temperature in your bedroom. Wear comfortable pajamas or sleep in the altogether if you prefer. Use a comfortable mattress, not too hard or too soft; good bed springs that won't pop coils into your ribs and won't sag in the middle; fitted sheets that are harder to wrinkle; fluffy, light blankets rather than heavy ones.

Some people say coffee keeps them awake. Some prefer warm milk or a light snack. Many people read themselves to sleep, using everything from comic books and mystery magazines to rhythmic poetry.
If you encounter a sleepless night now and then, don't fight it. Just lie there and relax. The rest will do you good. Unless your insomnia is deepset, the chances are that you will get enough sleep after you finally drop off.
If insomnia becomes a real health problem, see your doctor. Sleeping pills, or sedatives, may be prescribed to provide temporary relief from insomnia until the underlying cause is removed. Insomnia is a symptom of emotional stress or over stimulation from some other cause.

Take a brief, relaxing walk before turning in. Or some mild exercise to help tire you enough to relax.

Cosmopolitan Hindu Faith Shows Unusual Flexibility

Old Religion Embraces Brahmanic Philosophy, Superstitions, Cults

BY DAVE MEADE
Chicago Daily News Service
NEW DELHI — When you find your real inner self—the Atman—you discover a little bit of the inner self of all creation—Brahman.

In Americanese, that means you've got your spiritual compass pointed north. Or, as an old Hindu saying puts it, "He who knows himself will know God."

This part of Hindu belief has given men intellectual wings to soar to some of the highest reaches of the mind ever attained in recorded history.

At the same time the Hindu religion, probably the oldest and most cosmopolitan of the world's faiths, ranges all the way from an exalted Brahmanic philosophy to superstitious fetiches, primitive cult practices and the worship of hundreds of deities.

Has Great Flexibility

Its unusual flexibility apparently is one reason for its longevity. Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan, vice president of India and one of his country's most eminent scholars, gave this concept in an interview in his home here:

"Hindu philosophy is never static. It is always changing with contributions by great men like Nanak (Guru Nanak, 15th century founder of the Sikh Brotherhood), Mohammed, Buddha and Gandhi."

But the basics—"love of God and neighbor"—never change, he said.

Orthodox Hindus don't recognize such words as Hinduism or Brahmanism or Vedism as valid labels of the faith. They are popularly used, however, for want of better terms.

What, then, is the Hindu "religion?"

Its earliest form, Vedism, was nature worship that evolved over thousands of years. No one knows when it started.

There's a pantheon of gods: Surya, the sun god, who drives seven horses; Agni, god of fire, who rides a ram; Indra, thousand-eyed tempestuous lord of the atmosphere, and many others.

The lore was told in songs and prayers, collectively called Veda. The oldest and most important Rig-Veda is believed to have been set down in writing at least 3,000 years ago.

Later the priests, or Brahmins, added prose works explaining their sacrifices, rituals and rules of worship. These additions to the Vedas—Brahmanas, as they are called—date from 1,000 to 1,200 B.C.

There are also the Upanishads, writings of hermit teachers dating from about 800 B.C., and the great epics and philosophic and religious poems about legendary heroes and gods, compiled and written around the 1st century B.C.

The Bhagavad Gita, a short episode from one of the epics, is today a favorite religious text in India. Although its setting is a battlefield near the ancient city believed to be identical with modern Delhi, the message is spiritual. Devotees say it is the word of God.

Transmigration Added

Transmigration, the doctrine of reincarnation of souls—the monotonous round of one's rebirth as man, animal or plant—became imbedded in Hindu theology somewhere along the way.

As a result, there arose the doctrine of eternal escape by submergence of oneself in Brahman, the impersonal supreme one, the ultimate reality that lies behind and beyond both existence and nonexistence.

And, from reincarnation, there followed the cult of taking no life. The life you take might be that of a relative or friend or, in a reverse situation in the past or future, your own.

Buddhism was born in this country at the time of the writing of the Upanishads, in the 6th century B.C. But despite its fast growth, after 1,000 years it gave way in India to the militant new faith of Islam and was absorbed into the Hindu culture.

Because of the persistence of these personal deities are merely ideals representing the infinite aspects of That One, Brahman.

Of the Hindu trinity, Vishnu is often worshipped in his seventh or eighth incarnated form, as Rama or Krishna.

Rama is the hero of the epic poem Ramayana. Krishna is the charioteer and guru, or teacher, of a general in the bhagavad gita.

10th to Come

Buddha is said to be Vishnu's ninth avatar, or incarnation. A 10th is yet to come.

A modern movement that has spread to the United States, Vedanta, comes from a 19th century Hindu mystic, Ramakrishna. He adopted the names of the two Vishnu incarnations.

The movement is described on the jacket of a booklet entitled "Vedanta and the West."

Man Is Divine

"Vedanta teaches that man's real nature is divine; that it is the aim of man's life to unfold and manifest this divinity; and that truth is universal.

"Vedanta accepts all the religions of the world and reveres the great prophets, teachers and sons of God, because it recognizes the same divine inspiration in all."

Gandhi, who was called Mahatma (Great Soul), led India to independence through nonviolence and urged his people to free themselves from the caste system.

This 20th century saint is considered by many to be an Avatar, a savior who was a manifestation of the divine.

The Atman, the inner spirit of man, likewise is conceived as one of the manifestations of Brahman. Even though it's impossible for you, a finite mortal, to experience the infinite one, you can still seek the Atman. And if you find that one is available. The next Pomona grange will be at the Allen-

Communism Means Lack of Food and Consumer Goods

Rigid Dogma, Plus Centralized Bureaucracy Causing Resentment

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Here is the recipe for an indigestible Communist stew:

Mix large quantities of rigid dogma with vast centralized bureaucracy. Spice liberally with fear, adding generous portions of:

On an island surrounded by limitless resources of the Caribbean, Cubans can't buy enough fish. Beans, poultry and many other staples always abundant before now are rationed. In this first of two articles, an Associated Press news analyst, William L. Ryan, explains why communism in Cuba and throughout the Red world fails to satisfy the primary requirement: Food.

cautious toadyism. Garnish with red tape. Bring to a boil over slow-burning resentment.

Ever since it gained power in Russia in 1917, communism in country after country has meant belt-tightening—shortages of food and consumer goods.

Why the Problem?

Why is a land like the Soviet Union, abundantly endowed with rich, productive soil, chronically unable to solve its farm problems?

Red China, the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Hungary, Poland—all Communist-ruled states, confess to dreary successions of agricultural failures. Many in their pre-Communist days were exporters of food. Why has every country touched by the icy hand of communism had trouble feeding its people?

Why has world communism's latest acquisition, the lush, fertile island of Cuba, been forced to impose rationing in a food crisis? Fantastically, even fish—on an island surrounded by the limitless resources of the Caribbean—is in short supply for Cubans.

Lust for Power

These seem to be the answers:

1. Communist lust for power. Once having seized it, they require enormous investment in arms to secure and protect it.
2. A fever for rapid industrialization, with heavy industry which

PERFECT CLIMATE IN SPACESHIP!

Astronauts won't wear pressure suits in future space ships. Comfortable in their shirtsleeves, they will bask in an artificial 'ideal' climate!

3. Ruthless extermination of all vestiges of the past.
4. Regimentation of the population, and with this the establishment of vast bureaucracies responsible only to the center.

Political Purposes

5. Use of national resources for political purposes abroad.
6. Frequent passive resistance among farm populations.

Cuba is the latest case in point. As communism tightens on the island's six million people, results showup in shortages. Quickly, the nation is drenched with Red bloc arms. All resources, effort and manpower available are geared primarily to entrenching Red power.

Thus, men and women who should be producing are marching in swollen militia ranks, waving guns serving on more than 100,000 defense committees designed as a spy system to prevent counterrevolution, or populating innumerable bureaucratic government organizations designed to keep all power in the hands of the few in the center.

Agriculture Destroyed

As it did in other states seized by Cuba, Cuba went through a convulsion. The thriving cattle industry was destroyed, farms and plantations were taken over by INRA, the Communist-controlled National Institute for Agrarian Reform. Peasants were paid in script and required to trade only in state-run people's stores.

With the rise of the bureaucratic police state, with all the individual initiative was killed. The middle class was chased out of the country, and with it too many of Cuba's skilled, educated people.

Speeches of Cuban Communist leaders have a familiar, parrot-like sound, echoing the dismal recitations heard year after year in all other Red-ruled states.

Concessions

The speeches concede developments like these:

Production of sugar, always the mainstay of Cuba's economy, is dropping steadily. There is a severe shortage of cane cutters. "Socialist Sundays" have been proclaimed, dragging people into service and forbidding workers on collectivized plantations to take that day off. Machinery is falling into disrepair at many a sugar central.

Distribution has gone haywire. Black beans, a staple of Cuban diet, spoil in warehouses. Beans are rationed, four ounces per person per week. With what beans that finally get into distribution, bureaucrats follow orders out the window. Thus in some places, said the Communist INRA chief Carlos Rafeay Rodriguez, "a degree of negative perfectionism" was achieved when the four ounces was broken up into two ounces of lentils and two ounces of black beans per person.

Distribution Chaotic

Distribution of meat is chaotic. There are districts which go without meat for weeks. The same applies to poultry, a favorite item of the Cuban diet.

Communist Hungary delivered refrigerator vans to Havana on an urgent basis. Rodriguez reported the chief of the "consolidated meat industry" didn't want them, so the "chief of the chicken section" grabbed all of them. Then, suddenly, all bureaucrats wanted the vans. None was available. Food spoiled.

There is trouble, too, from the defense committee spies, who, anxious to please the Communist bosses, have become overzealous. They are in charge of ration distribution in many areas and are so bullying the public as to create bitter resentments. The regime's only remedy: To accuse the defense committee members of "narrow sectarianism" which means nothing to most Cubans.

No Responsibility

When agriculture falters under communism, it goes into a tailspin from fear of bureaucrats to assume responsibility, from infighting and buck-passing. Farmers secretly slaughter cattle despite threats of severe punishment.

The Cuban experience is by no means unique. It is a repetition of what has happened at one time or another in every Communist-ruled nation. Even today, more than half a century after communism first entrenched itself in Russia, the promise of abundance remains just a misty dream.

Violinist at Eastman To Head Department at Interlochen Academy

Joseph Knitzer, head of the violin department at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., has accepted an appointment to head the violin department of the new Interlochen Arts Academy which opens next September in Interlochen, Mich.

The appointment was announced jointly by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president of the National Music Camp, and Dr. Howard Hanson, composer, conductor, and director of the Eastman School of Music. Hanson also is on Interlochen's board of trustees.

Knitzer will continue to head Eastman's violin department, Hanson said, commuting between Rochester and Interlochen. Also appointed to the Interlochen faculty is Knitzer's assistant at Eastman, Richard Kilmer. Kilmer is concert-master of the Eastman Philharmonia orchestra which has just completed a tour of Europe and Asia.

Knitzer is former concertmaster of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra and one of the nation's leading concert violinists. For the last five years he has headed the violin department of the world famed music camp during its summer sessions.

VFW to Sponsor Junior Baseball Team

The Appleton Veterans of Foreign Wars voted Monday to sponsor a team in the Appleton Junior Baseball Association, as they have done in the past.

The group also is sponsoring a production of "Dial M for Murder" at Lawrence College at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. Proceeds will go to the veterans rehabilitation and welfare fund.

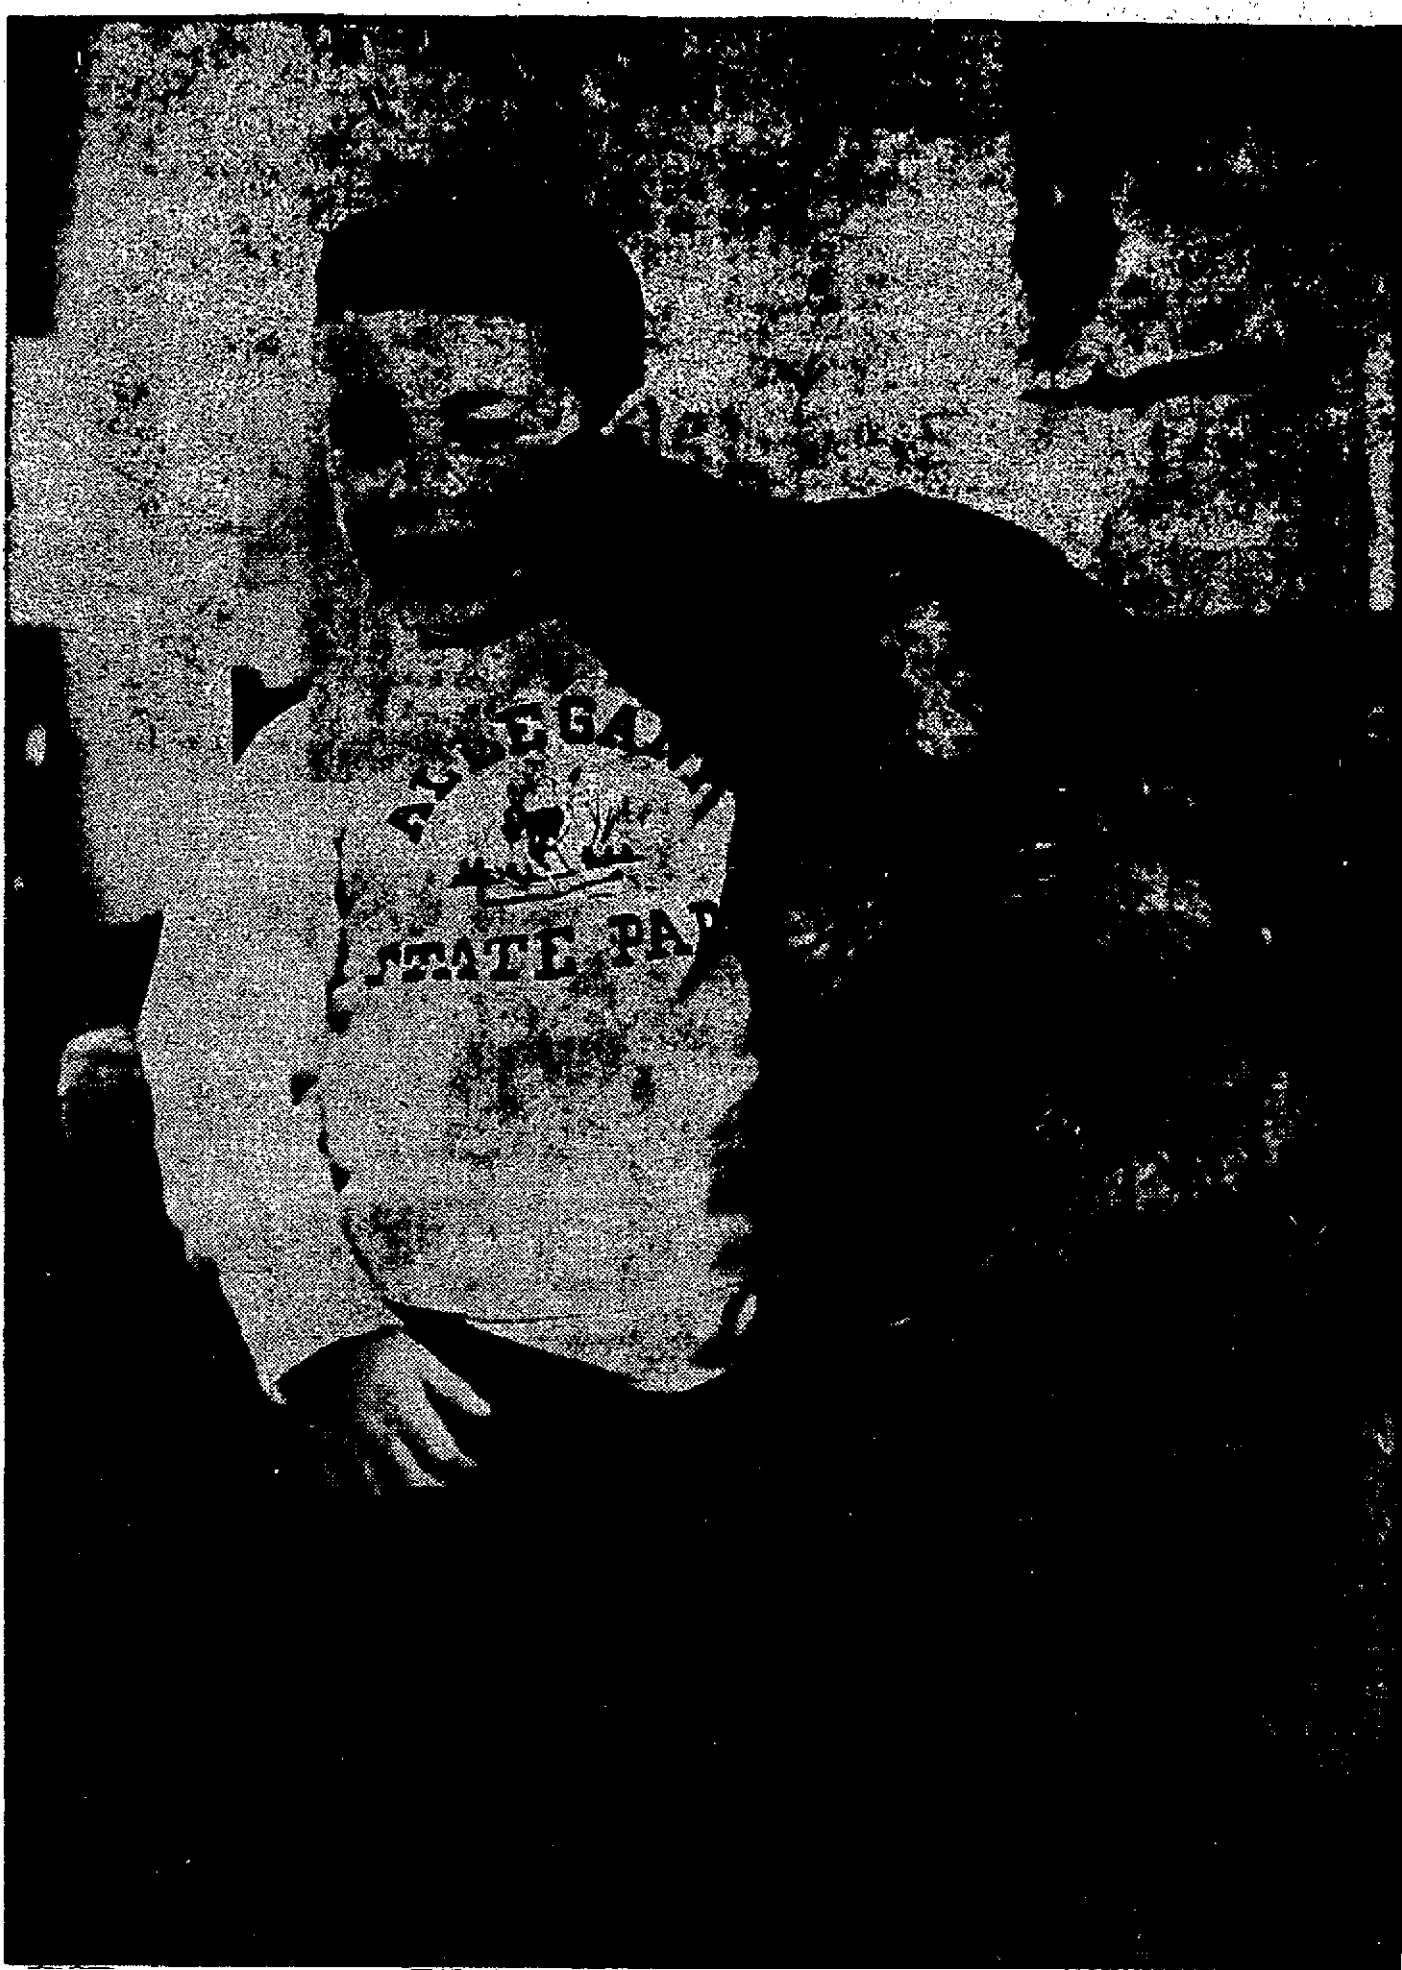

Delegates appointed to attend the Outagamie County Council at Nichols in June are David Sears, Joseph Schoenhaar and Gilbert Melchert.

New officers were installed at the April meeting, with Joseph Schoenhaar taking over as post commander. Ernest Mueller, as past commander, was the installing officer.

Tour Members to Spend 3 Days In Remarkable Eternal City — Rome

City's Famous Historical Sights Will Be Part of Post-Crescent Europe Trip

Rome . . . a world in itself — Mother of the Arts, Museum of the Ages, The Holy City, The Eternal City, City of Seven Hills. Rome was not built in a day, and it cannot be fully seen in a day, a week, a month, perhaps not even in a lifetime.

It is because Rome is so vast, so intriguing, so much a part of the world's early history and continues to be so much a part of the world's present and future, that members of the Post-Crescent's Holiday In Europe tour will be able to spend nearly three days in this Capital of the Caesars.

The tour group of 32 persons will arrive in Rome Friday, July 13, and depart (for Florence) Sunday evening, July 15.

By sightseeing motorcoach and by foot, the travelers will be guided to and inside the Borghese Art Gallery and Museum with its rich treasures. They will visit the Quirinale Palace — the former Royal Residence — and the popular Trevi Fountain. Legend says that anyone throwing a coin into the fountain will return again to Rome.

The group will gaze in awe at the Pantheon, one of three in the world and undoubtedly the best known.

The Roman pantheon was begun by Agrippa in 27 B.C., and completely rebuilt by the Roman emperor, Hadrian, about 120 A.D. It is remarkable for its size, the dome being 141 feet in diameter, and for its perfect preservation despite the fact that it has served almost continuously as a temple of worship for nearly 2,000 years.

Included in the sights of Rome will be the Palazzo Madama, the ancient Senate, Piazza Navona, Castel St. Angelo, and the Janiculum Hill which offers a magnificent panoramic view of the city.

Seen, too, will be the splendor of St. Peter's Square and Basilica.

ca. The Rome visit will terminate with an inspiring visit to Vatican City.

Persons desiring to accompany the Holiday In Europe tour being sponsored by the Post-Crescent are urged to make their reservations at an early date.

There are signs that a very diversified and interesting group will take the wonderful 22-day trip. Deposits have already been received and these persons, together with those who have requested further information, include young college students, high school, grade school and college teachers, young men and women from business offices as well as more elderly persons who have expressed a desire to take advantage of the splendidly accommodated tour to fulfill a life-long desire.

Memorable Success The tour is scheduled to leave Appleton July 7 and return to Appleton July 28. Flight arrangements have been made by Scandinavian Airlines.

Further information and a travel brochure may be obtained by contacting Mary Ebbel Travel, Inc., 215 E. College Ave., Appleton, which in turn has enlisted the aid of Bennett Tours, Inc. This is the same combination — together with Scandinavian Airlines System — that made the 1960 Post-Crescent tour such a memorable success.

Entire cost of the tour is just $1,098 per person.

Veteran's Group Gives Medal to Gen. MacArthur

NEW YORK (AP)—General of the Army Douglas MacArthur was honored Tuesday as the first recipient of a medal bearing his name and profile.

It was awarded to MacArthur for his "achievements as a citizen, statesman and soldier" by the New York Commandery of the Military Order of Foreign Wars of the United States.

The medal will be presented each year to a resident of this area "who has contributed to the progress of the community in a non-military field of endeavor, such as business, science or the arts."

MacArthur paid tribute at the ceremony to the "American man at arms." He said "in 20 campaigns and on 100 battlefields I have regarded him then as now as one of the world's noblest figures."

Kaukauna Woman Uninjured in Crash

CHILTON — Colleen Ann Glasheen, 118 W. Seventh St., Kaukauna, escaped injury when the car she was driving left State 114 about five miles west of Hilbert at 11:55 a.m. Monday.

She told police she swerved to avoid an oncoming truck, which she claimed was over the centerline, and lost control of the car. The vehicle jumped a curb, landing on a sharp curve and crossed the lawn on the Norbert Horn farm, police said.

Damage was estimated in excess of $100.

But...Would CHRIST Call You A Christian?

There is an amazing difference of opinion today as to what constitutes a real Christian.

One man regards himself as a good Christian because he applies the Golden Rule to everyday living. Another professes to be a follower of Christ even though he believes only part of the Savior's teaching. And some who call themselves Christian even go so far as to reject His divinity.

Too many people, unfortunately, are setting up their own standards of Christian character and Christian living...forgetting that Christ Himself set these standards for us.

The result is that many sincere people are confused...and are deceiving themselves with a minimum, or "so-so" kind of Christian living. The Catholic Church teaches that the mere belief in Christ is not enough. For if it were, why did Christ take the trouble to show us by precept and example how we should live? Nor can we regard His teachings as just a social doctrine...subject to our individual amendments...when He made it so plain that our very salvation depends on living as He prescribes, not as we choose.

If you want to find out how good a Christian you really are, read—and read again and again—Christ's Sermon on the Mount. And if you read only the introduction...including the Beatitudes...you should realize how far short of Christ's standards are the standards which men set for themselves.

Perhaps you may feel that the ideals voiced by the Savior nearly 2,000 years ago cannot be applied in our modern times. And possibly you will not understand the practical meaning of Christ's references to "the meek," or "the poor in spirit," or "they who hunger and thirst for justice." In that case, we are happy to help you—without cost or obligation.

We shall be glad to send you free on your request, an interesting pamphlet explaining the meaning of the words Christ used in the beginning of the Sermon on the Mount...and how you can apply them to achieve a fuller, richer Christian life. It will be sent in a plain wrapper—and nobody will call on you. Write today for your free copy. Ask for Pamphlet No. AP-29.

Hazards of Occupation

Basic Office Ills
Herewith Outlined

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Every occupation has its own health hazard.

Thus the deep sea diver is subject to the bends, the miner to lung ailments, the barber to flat feet.

The typical office worker is no exception to this rule.

At first thought one might conclude working in a nice, safe, air-conditioned office would be about as healthy a career as could be found.

Always the Facts
But this theory breaks down when one is confronted with the facts.

The truth is that the white collar serf is prey to more strange illnesses—known and unknown—than you can find in most hospitals. If he can't come down with a disease listed in the medical dictionary, he develops a wonderful new private disease of his very own—as any personnel director can testify.

If you glance around your own business firm, you'll probably readily spot examples of the following common office worker's occupational ailments:

"One-Day Pneumonia"—Often accompanied by symptoms strikingly similar to those of a hangover, it usually strikes its victims on Monday morning and prevents them from coming to work. However, it also often strikes on Fridays among workers who want a longer weekend.

2-Day Flu
"Two-Day Flu"—Popular with employees who fondly kid themselves that if they take both Monday and Tuesday off nobody will suspect that all they really had wrong was a hangover on Monday.

"Virus X"—Probably the most reliable of all office ailments, as it enables one to stay home a week or 10 days without creating undue suspicion.

"Virus Y"—For those with a passion to be different and who don't wish to have "Virus X," time off from work: The same.

"Crocodile Eyritis"—An inflammation of the eyeballs one worker gets from shedding false tears of sympathy while listening to an other worker tell about his troubles with his wife.

Wrist, Elbow
"Loafer's Kidney"—A chronic back pain that comes from sleeping too long in a swivel chair without changing position.

"Lender's Paralysis"—A stiffness of the wrist and elbow that makes it physically impossible to reach into one's pocket when a fellow worker asks to borrow $5.

"Sycophant's Syndrome"—This is a stitch in the side one gets while bending over and laughing uproariously as the boss tells a funny story. Some employees suffer this agony for years—and still don't get a promotion.

"Cafe Varicose"—A tired sensation in the leg veins that comes from standing too long in line during the coffee breaks. Also hits many employees who hang around the water cooler too much.

"Anemia Pensionitis"—That rundown feeling a 25-year veteran gets on rainy days when he starts brooding over the fact he is still 15 years away from retirement.

Well, there they are—just a few of the mystifying ailments that make office life perilous. It's a wonder the white collar worker manages to get through week after week alive.

France's New
'Ally' Fights
High Prices

Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — French housewives are slowly finding out that they have a new ally in their battle against the high cost of living: the European Common Market.

This realization came to them at a display of consumer goods from Common Market countries that is now going on at one of Paris' biggest department stores. There, current prices are compared with pre-Common Market prices of 1958. The drop is, in most cases, considerable.

It is most noticeable in transistors which have become an indispensable feature of French households. One French-made portable radio with six transistors, which cost $48 in 1958, sells now for $20. It is an improved model that is manufactured in volume for sale throughout the Common Market countries.

Great Price Drops
Other items such as American-style suitcases made in Italy, Scandinavian-style desks made in Belgium show great drops in prices.

One item which has always been expensive in France has gone down sharply in price and at the same time improved in quality. It is bedsheets. New colorful bedsheets in the display cost from 11 to 20 per cent less than in 1958 and are made of soft American cotton.

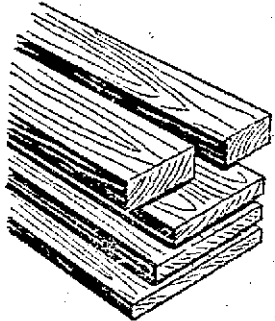

Clothing prices are lower but the quality is still wanting.

The best values on display are electric gadgets, Belgian glassware, Italian chairs for only $4.00 and embroidered no-iron cotton blouses from Holland for $2.50.

Friday morning, April 13, between the hours of 2 a.m. and 4:30 a.m. your electric service will be temporarily interrupted. The interruption is necessary to permit Power Company crews to safely repair and replace line protectors in advance of summer lightning storms. By doing the work now there will be less chance of an unscheduled service interruption this summer.

Although the interruption is expected to last 2 1/2 hours, service will be restored sooner if possible.

Fox Cities Women Overcome by Temptation of Gay Easter Bonnets

It doesn't matter what the weather man does. The promise of spring is felt by everyone, and by no one more than milady when she hies herself to a hat department for her Easter bonnet.

The desire to wear those lovely concoctions of flowers, ribbons and straw is a rapidly spreading contagion, which women seem to catch eagerly from each other.

To find out how widespread are the effects of Appleton's latest epidemic, a Post-Crescent photographer caught some of our lovelies in action Saturday. He reported one universal symptom of the spring hat disease; it causes its victims to smile in the most beguiling and light-hearted way.

The Hat department of a local store was crowded Saturday with women vying for mirror space and the chance to see how that lovely hat looks. Few women found themselves able to resist the charms of this year's chapeaux, and some found it difficult to limit themselves to buying only one. At right, Mrs. Richard Walter tries on a flowered hat with bright roses.

Hat Designers have made the choice of an Easter hat very difficult this season. There are so many styles and colors that would be 'just right.' The unidentified lady above tries to make her choice of a bonnet for spring and summer wear. At left, even the out-of-towners succumbed to the effects of Appleton's spring contagion. Miss Judy Reese, a visiting bandsman from Seymour tops her spring coiffure with a froth of veiling and light straw. At right, Mrs. Roy Wittwer, Appleton, uses a hand mirror to see how her hat looks from the back. It is reported that the epidemic is expected to continue for several weeks.

Mrs. Renk Enjoys Home, Quiet Life

Post-Crescent Women's Editor

"Politicking is a very wearying business," Mrs. Wilbur Renk said Tuesday when she visited the Post-Crescent with her husband, who is campaigning for the Republican nomination for governor. Mrs. Renk, an attractive and pleasant mother and grandmother likes quiet country living. It's wonderful for raising children," she said.

The family lives near Sun Prairie on what may have been the first family farm corporation in the nation. Her husband's father and three sons farm about 1500 acres, mostly in hybrid seed corn and seed grains. The corporation also has a dairy farm and feeding lot for beef cattle.

Mrs. Renk says she isn't the typical wife of a farmer. "She doesn't even take care of a vegetable garden, she revealed, indicating that this is her father-in-law's province. She does, however, love living in the country. They have an 82-year-old brick house which has been modernized to some extent by making the living and dining rooms into one; changing the kitchen to the dining room and making a kitchen of an old pantry.

Does Secretarial Chores
Mrs. Renk says it's pretty hard to keep house when you are helping with a political campaign. The smiling woman declared she had the disadvantage of knowing shorthand and typing. "When you know that, that's what you do in a campaign," Mrs. Renk says she accompanies her husband be-

Engagement Of Daughter Announced

The engagement of Miss Shirley Mae Tompkins, Manitowoc, and John E. Kunish, Manitowoc, has been announced. Miss Tompkins is the daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Tompkins, 1019 W. Grant St., and Harold Tompkins, Appleton. Mr. Kunish is the son of Edward Kunish, Manitowoc.

she said. He needs a few credits for graduation. Also he's in love and planning to be married in December. If he doesn't go to summer school, he'll have to take another semester. His fiancée is Miss Sharon Unger, Milwaukee, a finalist in the 1961 Alice in Dairyland competition. Miss Unger is a home economics senior at the University of Wisconsin.

The candidate's wife believes that the Republican nominee has a good chance of being elected in November.

Like every position, that of Governor's wife has some attractions, Mrs. Renk said. But she feels that the spotlight of public opinion on a woman's husband makes it a post one does not seek without some trepidation.

News for Knees

Knees for many years concealed by lower hemlines are now very much in evidence. Dry and rough skin at the kneecap shows unattractively through sheer hose. Next time you lie down for a cat-nap try this skin softening "knee mask." Make a thin paste of powdered milk and good quality witch hazel. Stir in a teaspoon of boric acid. Make a poultice of the mixture using soft cotton pads. Apply to the kneecaps and stretch out with the legs straight. When the poultice is dry remove with warm water and soap.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

A mature lovely writes: My lips are crinkled like crepe paper. Lipstick only seems to emphasize the condition. The color runs along the creases and then spills over onto my skin. If there's a solution, please let me know it. Many mature women are plagued by a crepey lip complexlipstick and by applying a colorless, moisturized pomade at bedtime.

Firm up the muscles around the lips via this routine. Puff up the mouth with air. Now press the air under the upper lip, then the lower lip. Alternating, repeat twenty times. As you work, be careful not to pucker the lips; hold them in a relaxed smile. Become proficient in this basic lipstick application: After cleansing and drying the lips, smooth on a little powder base; blot off any excess with tissue. Use a brush to color the lips—outline the mouth with the tip, fill in with flat strokes. Let your art work set and then blot until only the color remains—no cream. Never touch up lipstick without whisking off the stale coat; or retire without removing every trace of color; or fail to keep the upper lip fuzz-free. Disregard of the last caution accounts for as much lipstick smudge as crinkling.

Sheinwold Subtlety in No Trump

It's very discouraging to start a hand with 12 tricks and wind up with only 10 tricks. This is the sort of thing that makes a partner mutter into his beard and strengthen his drink.

South won the first trick with the king of hearts and counted three spades, two hearts, four diamonds (if the suit broke normal-ly) and three clubs—12 easy tricks.

South blithely led out the ace, king and five of diamonds, noting joyfully that the suit did break favorably. His joy was short-lived.

Back came a heart to the ace, and South was in his hand for the last time. The king and queen of spades were useless, and South won only 10 tricks.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

YOUR OPINION

The nosy person who is about to pry into your affairs often uses some such phrase as "I know it's none of my business but..." When you hear such an introduction, brace yourself and prepare to protect your privacy from too personal inquiries. Smile and politely change the subject. Avoid intimate topics with persons who are known to be gossips. You can divulge interesting tidbits that are of no personal meaning without revealing more than you care to of yourself to the overly curious.

Snobbery takes many forms. True — False —

True. There are many ways in which we try to convince ourselves that we are better than other people. In this country, money snobbery is probably the most common. We feel that if we have what other people cannot afford, that makes us better than they. But there are many other forms. There is intellectual snobbery, racial snobbery and religious snobbery, as well as social snobbery—the desire to belong to "exclusive" clubs or to live in a "better" (more expensive) neighborhood. What really counts is the individual himself, not the groups he belongs to.

Will we ever find inner peace? Your opinion —

Not in this world. Almost every man is at war with himself within his own soul. Within limits, this is good. It keeps him from becoming stagnant and complacent. It is the stimulator of progress. What we need is not the absence of inner turmoil, but the ability to bring a certain kind of order into our numerous drives and desires, and to direct all this "steam" toward worthwhile goals. Those who seek "peace" too strongly will get left behind, or perhaps they may be trampled by a dynamic mankind.

Treat Child To Shopping Excursion

Many a mother of a preschooler feels that if she can't afford a sitter while she's shopping, she might as well stay home.

It's possible, though, to take a small child shopping, and make it fun for both of you.

Limit the number to one child, but by all means try it. There's something about a youngster which makes clerks and other customers helpful and friendly.

Begin by preparing the child for the trip. Explain where you're going and why, and that he can go along if he promises to be a good boy and not to tease for things.

Be Patient

Prepare yourself to be patient. And don't plan to stay too long, or do too many things. Don't ignore his presence in preoccupation with your mission. Visit with him, draw him into the experience of buying things.

When he's beginning to weary, pause for a treat and a toy. A soda will perk him up, and something to cuddle and carry will keep him happy for the next stint.

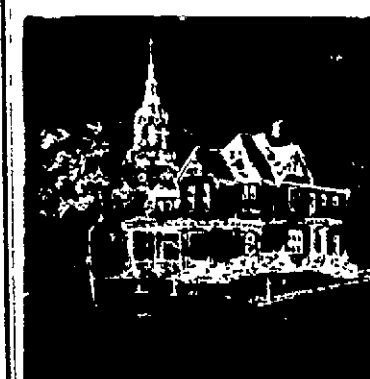

Have your purchases delivered, if possible. Carrying large packages will tire you and will make it more difficult to shepherd the youngster.

Praise him as you proceed on your errands. "My, aren't you being a good boy. It's a pleasure to have you along. We'll have to do this again."

Above all, keep an eye on him. A child who gets lost in a crowd can suffer emotional damage for life, plus possible physical danger from revolving doors and escalators.

Nuts in Salads

If you wish to add walnuts to a salad and don't want the nuts to discolor the other foods, cover walnut halves with water and boil about three minutes. Drain the nuts and peel off the thin skins.

'No' Proves Necessity When Lending Becomes Difficult

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are supposed to be a big problem solver. I am 11 years old and I have a big problem for you to solve. I am too kind hearted.

If the kid next to me wants to borrow an eraser I say yes. If the girl across from me wants to borrow some notebook paper, I say yes. These people know good and well that they need certain supplies to do their school work. Yet they are always running out of stuff and borrowing from me. I guess you might say my problem is I can't say no. Please help me. — John

Dear John: No is a perfectly respectable word — and you should learn, right now, how to use it.

Everybody runs out of something at one time or another. It is always nice to help a friend who is in a spot. There is such a thing as being a shooke, however. If the same person tries to borrow from you three days in a row I think you should tell him "I have to buy my supplies and it's time you bought yours."

DEAR ANN: My problem isn't original. There must be thousands of others in the same boat. What's the solution?

I arise at 5 a.m., fix lunches and breakfast for my husband and myself. He gets up at 5:45. At 7 a.m. I wake the two children, dress them, feed them and take them upstairs to the baby-sitter. I then dash to get the 7:50 bus. (My husband rides with a friend.)

After work I rush home, pick up the children and start supper. My husband gets home an hour before I do but he has to bathe, shave and read the evening news. After dinner and dishes I do some cleaning, washing and ironing. My husband meanwhile is in his favorite chair watching TV and drinking beer. At 8 p.m. I stop whatever I'm doing and get the children bathed and ready for bed.

I then return to my cleaning and ironing. By this time my husband has had several cat-

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms. They are parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

naps. By 11:30 I'm ready to collapse, so I bathe and prepare for the next day. At midnight when I finally fall into bed, my husband gets romantic.

I can't afford to quit my job What do you suggest? — Tired

Dear Tired: I'm surprised you aren't dead. How long do you think you can keep on with a 18-hour-day?

Your husband should help you with the dinner dishes and the cleaning. He can also give you a hand by bathing the children and putting them into bed. From your description it sounds as if he doesn't touch the kids with a stick.

With his help you should be in bed by 10 p.m. And since he will have been pitching in, too, he won't be quite so zippy every night.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 20 years old and I work as a punch-press operator. I make very good money for a girl my age.

This fellow I've been going with since September is the best-looking guy who ever hit town. He's built like Rock Hudson and has a voice like Rock, too. Unfortunately he has had some trouble hanging on to a job. I've kept up the payments on his car and gave him money for room rent a few times. He is very appreciative.

Please don't get the idea that he's just had some lousy breaks. When he's loaded he talks about marriage, but when he's sober he avoids the subject. I'd give my eye-teeth to marry this guy. How can I do it? — Soft-Hearted

Dear Soft-Hearted: He doesn't want your eye-teeth, honey, he only wants your financial help and the pleasure of your company.

My advice is to drop him, unless you want to continue to pour your hard-earned dough down a bottomless well.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Q. My Weimeraner was recently hit by a car. X-rays indicate a fractured pelvis. Can I expect complete recovery? S. R. Terry, Schenectady, N.Y.

A. I can't give you any kind of prognosis without examining the x-rays. I can, however, make some general observations. Pelvic fractures are often set by using metal pins and an external splint to hold the broken segments together. In some cases, surgical wire is used to join the bones. These procedures are complex and not without possible complications. They should be used only after careful consideration. In simple fractures, and sometimes in the more complicated ones, alignment of bones and complete rest will often be quite successful. This can leave a malformation which doesn't seem to bother the average dog. If a female dog is involved, she may have difficulty having puppies if her pelvis is malformed. She could have puppies only by Cesarean section. (Dr. Moller will send books on pet care to readers submitting best questions. Mail yours on a postcard in care of this paper.)

Q Because of excessive nature, our living room window is mostly in the corners, have become darkened. What can we do and how can we restore the natural wood color to match the of the sill?

A Remove the present finish down to bare wood (denatured alcohol for shellac, varnish remover for varnish). Then apply commercial wood bleach (available at dealers) to the darkened area. Following label instructions carefully. When the wood is thoroughly dry, sand smooth, if bleached areas are too light, apply wood stain to match rest of sill surface. Wipe off any dust from dry surface, then finish with top quality varnish or shellac.

This is the time of year when beautiful brides start to blossom everywhere. A bride doesn't just wake up beautiful on her wedding day. It takes preparation and know-how to evoke the oh's and ah's as you walk down the aisle. Follow these seven important beauty steps to take before you walk to the altar.

Have a make-up rehearsal several days before the big day so that on your bridal morning everything that you need will be right — and right — at hand.

Be sure everything is the most fashionable and flattering. Look as soft as one of the petals on your bridal flowers with the matte colors of lipstick and nudes. Polish Spring, summer and softness all go together in the matte finish.

Co-ordinate Make-Up

Be sure that all your make-up coordinates. Create a matte complexion tone and matte eye shadow with powder eye shadow. Give your eyes a dusky tinged look with eye-liner, mascara and even eyelashes.

Have your hair set the day before.

fore in your most becoming style. If you don't think your hair will hold its beauty, have it hand one of the fashionable wigs, pre-styled for you and in the color of your own hair. Your new husband will also appreciate it if you bring your wig along on your honeymoon. He'll be saved the sight of curlers at all odd hours.

Good Night's Sleep

Manage to get a good night's sleep the evening before the wedding. You will have a good head start if you feel relaxed and everything is in order.

Nervous or not, be sure to have a good breakfast. A famished bride is a tense bride and her beauty will be affected.

Budget the precious time of your wedding day from the moment the alarm clock rings until the ring is on your finger. Give yourself a good hour for make-up, plan ample time for your bath and dressing and reserve a half-hour for relaxing before the wedding.

Sunday Brunch

For Sunday morning brunch, serve delicate than pancakes with thawed sweetened frozen sliced strawberries. You can thicken the berry juice, if you like, with a little cornstarch.

Dawdler Needs Help In Setting Schedule

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I am the mother of a five-year-old son who dawdles nearly all the time. He will spend an hour washing his hands if not reminded to hurry. All the time he is washing, he keeps up a steady monologue. It may be Snow White or something else he has heard or has read to him. It is the same while dressing or eating.

"His friends may come for him and he may have a moment of disappointment at not going with them because he isn't finished with what he is doing; but, in a moment, he is amusing himself dressed again and being happy at it. He was alone most of the time when he was younger and learned to amuse himself. I have tried everything, promised things, offered bribes, but nothing helps. What can I do?"

A dreamer has little sense of time. It is necessary to train him. Set a schedule for the important events of his day and a time limit for each: rising, dressing, bathing, toilet habits, meals, chores, play, bedtime. He needs help in following this schedule.

In the matter of his dressing, help him along, he putting on one stocking while you put on the other, until dressing becomes a matter of routine—one thing that can be accomplished within a certain time limit. When you see that he has the notion pretty clearly, put him on his own responsibility.

There is a convenient tool, the alarm clock. Set the clock to ring when he is to rise and set it to ring again when he should be dressed. When he manages to beat the bell, give him a word of praise and a good mark on his daily record—a good record for the week a special treat is in order. Use this method for one or two other chores in the day. But remember that the clock can be a nagging annoyance. Too much clock discipline may stir up resentment, fatigue the nerves and bring on tantrums. The clock should be wisely used in a way that will help train the child to a realization of time sense.

As soon as you discover that the child has the general idea, encourage him to set his own time limits. Suppose he dawdles in saying his prayers, say them together. In that way he catches not only the words but the rhythm and the meaning. It is so too with singing or story telling. He sings a line, you sing a line. He starts the story, you carry it on. In this way you use the things the child enjoys doing as a basis for setting time sense in his mind and body.

You catch some of the fun that the child has in his dawdlings and he gets a touch of time fitness.

WHAT DO 3 out of 4 DOCTORS RECOMMEND for TENSE, NERVOUS HEADACHES?

A Survey Also Reveals What Many Doctors, Themselves, Take When They Have Headache Pain.

New York, N.Y. — Medical reports confirm tense, nervous headaches are by far the most common kind and are caused by tension that presses on the nerves. But fortunately, one can get remarkable relief in minutes with a special tablet that not only relieves pain but also the emotional tension, mental fatigue and depression that usually accompany such headaches.

Tense, nervous headaches call for the stronger yet safer medication in Anacin®. A survey reveals 3 out of 4 doctors recommend the fast, pain-relieving ingredients in Anacin. In fact, many doctors themselves rely on this same type relief when they have a headache.

Anacin Tablets give fast, prolonged and — more complete relief than aspirin or buffered aspirin. You see, Anacin is different and contains special medication not found in aspirin or buffered aspirin. It's this extra medication that not only relieves pain, but also relaxes its tension and releases painful pressure on nerves.

Despite their strength and effectiveness—Anacin Tablets contain no narcotics, do not form a habit or leave one depressed. Anacin Tablets are so safe, they may be taken as directed as often as needed without upsetting or irritating the stomach.

See if the extra medication in stronger yet safer Anacin doesn't work better for you. Change to Anacin for fast, long-lasting and more complete relief.

Beware of Hasty Start

By Patricia Scott

When laying out a pattern DO IT SLOWLY AND CAREFULLY. This is a time when haste really makes waste. Once you've cut into your fabric, there's no going back, even though you've made an error.

Q. There are two things I'd like to know about laying out a pattern. One, why do some of my pieces turn out off grain even though I've measured each from the center of the grain line marking to the selvage and it looks straight? Second, if it saves yardage, why can't I place pieces along the crosswise grain, instead of with the lengthwise grain as the cutting diagram indicates? — Mrs. B. D.

A. Your pieces are off grain because you're not measuring properly. Measuring from just one point of the grain marking will accomplish nothing. Measure from one end of the line to the selvage. Pin that end in place. Then measure from the other end of the grain line to the selvage and shift the pattern piece until both measurements are the same, and pin the second end in place. Do it this way and you will know your pattern piece is placed properly.

For your second question: Don't change cutting diagrams. Patterns have been tested and the companies producing them have decided which way each piece should be cut. The lengthwise grain is stronger and stiffer, and a garment falls more gracefully when the lengthwise grain runs vertically on the body. The material also wears better. You'll find too, that the crosswise grain stretches more than does the lengthwise. However, gathers fall

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

GUESTS COME IN DROVES

My husband retired four years before his regular time because of partial disability caused from a heart condition. We moved from the city to a small community, where we were born and have a two bedroom cottage as our permanent residence. The area draws many summer vacationers as there is a lake nearby. Our only income is a small pension and we must budget carefully. We have many relatives whom we love and we are blessed with a host of wonderful friends. There is never a weekend in the summer when we don't have guests who drop in, some driving great distances without even letting us know in advance. We are happy to have them but it always means extra food and expense. I don't know how to handle the situation. Many of those who visit us don't realize that others are doing it too. How can I call some kind of a halt without offending them? We can't afford to have "open house" continually. My husband's health is very poor and he feels the strain physically. His doctor feels that so much guest activity is a strain.

Louise Davis Answers:

If you kept in touch with your friends and relatives with letter-writing, I suggest that you tell each one, without beating around the bush, that your husband's condition is worsening and that the doctor has prescribed complete rest and quiet for now and the future. You could add that "this unfortunately will mean that we won't be seeing as much of our wonderful friends and relatives as we did in the past and we're going to miss that pleasure."

Q. How can I do plain hemstitching? I think it's also called single hemstitching. — Mrs. F.F. A. First draw out the necessary threads. Turn up the fabric forming a hem and baste it along the line where the thread was drawn (see top illustration). Then, working from left to right, on the wrong side of the fabric, put the needle through the hem and take up about four threads on the needle. Pass the needle around the threads, and then through the hem fold again (see bottom illustration).

A. How much ease is allowed in a pattern? I mean, between actual measurements and the finished dress. — Miss S. T.

A. Most pattern companies use three to five inches at the bust, depending on the garment. For instance, a kimono sleeved bodice often has a five-inch ease, whereas a sleeveless bodice has about three inches. The ease at the hip is usually about three inches and the back waist length ¼ to ½ of an inch.

Our Bodies Need Only Small Amount of Iodine

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Sir: Will four drops of iodine daily in a glass of water be good for health or do harm? — MRS. J.P.

I'm sure you're referring to tincture of iodine, the ordinary kind that is an antiseptic. Except under unusual circumstances there is no danger in that amount. Molner

For one thing, it isn't much iodine. Pure iodine is a solid, and the tincture is only the amount that is dissolved in alcohol. To prevent goiter, most of us like other medicine, is "good for health" in general. On the other hand, there are some individuals with thyroid disorders who have to avoid excess iodine. For them, the few drops a day would be too much, and some of them even avoid iodized salt.

For the great majority of us, a little more or less iodine, once we have the necessary "trace," doesn't make any difference. I am aware, however, that a sort of folklore grew up about iodine at one time, and some people even made money by selling pills containing a small amount of it. I suppose that's why I continue to receive letters asking about a "daily ration of iodine," or a few drops of tincture of iodine in water. Well, it just isn't necessary; it doesn't help and it usually doesn't harm, except occasionally.

Tincture of iodine is a good disinfectant. One drop in a quart of water, allowed to stand for 15

23 Countries To Take Part In Festival

Living Theater of New York to Give American Drama

Chicago Daily News Service

PARIS — With the spring season here, the outstanding event is the coming festival for the Theater of the Nations. The festival has taken place for the last eight years, but this time it promises to be bigger and more varied than ever.

The program includes 112 plays, ballets and operas from 23 countries.

The first play, "The Connection," will be presented by the New York Living Theater. It will be followed by Euripides' "The Phoenicians" played by the Greek National Theatre.

Britain is sending the Royal Shakespeare Theatre with "The Hollow Crown" as well as Sadler's Wells opera. The Dublin Theatre Festival is bringing "The Voice of Shem" based on James Joyce's "Finnegan's Wake."

Many Paris Plays

Language differences have never deterred the Parisians from attending the plays. Last year's festival drew 102,000 people, four times more than at the first festival in 1954.

Parallel to the festival, the 35 or so plays now running in Paris will go on until vacation time.

Looking at box office receipts this winter proves that the theater season has been a poor one. Paris is not such a gay place just now and what Parisians want is a good laugh and no intellectual or highly emotional plays.

Jean Anouilh, whose name usually assures success, had a setback with "La Grotte," a drama. His "La Foire d'Empoigne," in a much lighter vein, is doing better.

There are nearly a dozen boulevard comedies, some of them in their sixth year, to fall back on.

Two From Fox Cities In Sunday 'Talk Back' Program on WBAY-TV

Two Fox Cities residents will appear on the weekly "Talk Back" program Sunday morning over Channel 2. Program time for this episode, called "The Volunteer," has been advanced an hour to 8:30 a.m.

Moderator for the program will be the Rev. J. Ellsworth Kalas, pastor of First Methodist Church, Green Bay.

96 Shows Staged Since September;
Include Newcomers, Old Favorites

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK (AP) — Off-Broadway is having its biggest, theatrical season.
Ranging from far-out to old-hat, 96 shows have been presented since September and another dozen are shortly due. In comparison, the Broadway tally is 64 already in, five en route.

Although the figures for both ones reflect a healthy increase from last year, Off-Broadway's improving status is especially noteworthy on several counts.

Along with ambitious newcomers and shoestring impresarios, some established talents and big-time producers are invading the tiny playhouses for the first time. Brokers who thrive on Broadway smashes are getting equests from steady customers or the off-beat fare.

Costs, the main reason the Off-Broadway movement was begun 10 years ago, are looming ever larger. A drama takes about $10,000, a musical $25,000—double what was needed when the boom began.

But there's another side to the fiscal picture. The aggregate expenditure on shows already in comes to a bit over $1 million. Four Broadway shows that folded on a recent Saturday dropped that same sum down the drain.

Because Off-Broadway is still comparatively cheap, an inexhaustible supply of backers are ready to ante up even for dubious ventures.

However, against two dozen shows that quite clearly did nothing but please their creators' vanity, there were at least 40 that merited their chance to be seen.

Wide Scope

The dramatic range is as wide as the authorship which extends from ancient Greeks through Shakespeare, Shaw and Schiller to an ex-coffee broker, a New York City cop, a health-food fadist, an Irish pub keeper, a couple of school teachers and a chiropractor.

In an effort to whet public support, several shows are experimenting at the box office. Kermit Bloomgarden, a Broadway manager on his first Off-Broadway expedition, cut $1 off the prevailing weekday scale—top $3.95.

Another show is going to keep prices down for the first three weeks of its projected run, on the theory that is the critical period during which a show must find its audience.

Now Playing
Among standout offerings now on are: "A Checkov Sketchbook," with Joseph Buloff at the Gramercy Arts; "Brecht on Brecht," at the De Lys; "Fly Blackbird," a musical at the Mayfair; "Moon on a Rainbow Shawl," Caribbean drama at the East 11th Street.

Also "Oh Dad, Poor Dad," at the Phoenix; Thornton Wilder's "Plays for Bleeker Street" at the Circle in the Square, and "The Hostage," at One Sheridan Square.

Morland New Head Of Lakeland College

SHEBOYGAN (AP)—Dr. John B. Morland was named as president of Lakeland College, succeeding Dr. Arthur M. Krueger.

Morland, 42, has been vice president of the college for three years. His appointment was announced by Dr. Ralph P. Ley, chairman of Lakeland's board of trustees.

Krueger, who has been head of the college operated by the Evangelical and Reformed Church since 1951, announced his resignation last October, effective Aug. 1 of this year.

Certain Forecast

Weather Critics Bloom Almost As Early as First Daffodils

NEW YORK (AP) — With the blooming of the first daffodil and the return of the urge to get out of doors, the chatty band of television weather reporters start picking up stern critics—people whose business is affected by predictions of bad weather.

Sometimes, it appears, forecasts are inaccurate. Sometimes viewers misunderstand those evening meteorological chalk-talks. The result is that outings to the beach, motor trips or tickets to outdoor shows are cancelled—needlessly.

Last summer the head of a large travel bureau became so exercised about what he called "dramatized but misleading" television weather forecasts that he fired off a complaining telegram to the Federal Communications Commission.

Business Hurt

There have been reports from beach resorts about concessionaires left with huge supplies of unconsumed hot dogs and hamburgers when anticipated crowds failed to arrive—after weather forecasts inaccurately predicting stormy weather.

What these people prefer, apparently, is for weather reporters to inform the audience what the weather is doing at the moment (which they know anyway) and to make a big secret about the future—an unlikely situation.

You don't hear these rumblings during the winter, when the forecasts are just as likely to goof. Forecasts of poor weather then

Doctors, Dentists to Listen to Dr. Samp

The members of the Outagamie County Medical Society will hear Dr. Robert J. Samp, Madison, at their meeting April 19 at Appleton. Also invited are the members of the dental society.

Doctor Samp, medical director of the Wisconsin Division of the American Cancer Society, University of Wisconsin, will talk on "Oral Surgery."

His appearance is sponsored by the Charitable, Educational and Scientific Foundation of the State Medical Society under a grant from the Wisconsin Division of the American Cancer Society. It is part of a program designed to enable physicians to keep abreast of the latest developments in medical science.

This action was in response to students at Oshkosh State College who had protested the fact that the college did not rehire four teachers. The teachers who were not offered contracts did not have tenure.

abreast of the latest developments in medical science.

College President Can Hire, Fire, Regents Declare

The State College Board of Regents Saturday at Stevens Point reiterated its position that authority to hire and fire teachers had been delegated to the college president.

Landscape Stars on TV Special

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 4-5)—The American Landscape is the first of two superior programs tonight. This one, filling in for Perry Como, uses folk music and folklore, two themes television has pretty much neglected. Burgess Meredith is the host, and the music will be supplied mostly by Barbara Cook and Peter Palmer, with specialty numbers by Phil Harris and Chuck Connors, who exhibits a surprisingly pleasing voice. Author MacKinlay Kantor makes like Carl Sandburg, as he sings and plays the guitar, to an old Scottish folk tune he put words to.

9-10 (Channel 2)—An entirely different mood is projected by The Armstrong Theater's "Patterns of Hope: A Story of Cancer Control." This is a cautiously optimistic study of the current cancer outlook. This should help alleviate some of the cancer hysteria that is prevalent.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5)—Wagon Train has some trite characters on hand this week, in a trite but emotional situation. The Train's newest passengers are a young couple with a secret. The bride's ex-boy friend is the son of the man who owns most of the West, apparently. And this ne'er-do-decent comes a'ridin' after her.

8:30-9:00 (Channel 2)—Tonight's Dick Van Dyke Show, filmed early in the season, was held back because the staff felt it was weaker than some, but it's still far better than most situation comedies. A dinner party the Petries are giving for the sponsor turns into a wild affair when an old army buddy (Marty Ingels)—shows up—with a gum-chewing date.

9-9:30 (Channel 4-5)—The Bob Newhart Show picks on one likely source and one unlikely one for its humor tonight. The likely one is television—Bob and Charles Bronson demonstrate how commercials could be integrated into movies. The unlikely source is moving, with Newhart running a school for moving men. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 11)—Naked City has an odd story this week, which benefits more from its actors than its script. The story tells of a reunion of two army buddies—Neville Brand as a big, naive Indian and Peter Falk as a tough Indian boy. The two actors are expert, but the story degenerates into tragedy for tragedy's sake.

9:30-10—(Channel 4-5) — David Brinkley's Journal has a two-part tonight. In the first, we follow puppeteers Bil and Cora Baird from California to India, where they used puppets to show the Indians about American life. The second concerns the super-abundance of monuments in Washington, D.C. Brinkley tours Washington and shows you some of the hideous monuments to long-forgotten people and causes. (Color)

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5)—Tonight's guests are Betty Santoro, Adolph Menjou, Eve Arden, Robert Horton and Russia humor expert Rodger Swearingen. (Color)

New Books Emphasize Contemporary Affairs

A wide variety of new books, with emphasis on contemporary affairs, are on display at the Appleton Public Library during National Library Week, April 8 to 14.

Richard Nixon's controversial "Six Crises" heads the list. Another new work which has been making headlines is the "Cardinal Spellman Story" by Robert Gannon. On the lighter side is "Kids' Letters to President Kennedy" by Bill Adler.

Delving further back into history, Leonard Cottrell presents a fascinating account of the Roman invasion of Britain in "The Great Invasion." More than 2,000 years ago the Romans, under Julius Caesar, invaded Britain. They were unable to maintain a foothold, and it was not until a century later that they returned to stay.

Even though the Roman forces were better armed and trained than the savage peoples of Britain, it took 40 years to complete the conquest.

Cottrell has assembled an interesting picture of the peoples and their civilizations, the organization of the Roman army and the tactics employed. Basing his information on archeological finds and translations from sparse Roman records, he offers a closely linked account that has a parallel with the invasion battles of World War II.

In "Pigeon Feathers" by John Updike, connoisseurs of the short story will find a collection of real merit. Many of these stories have appeared in the "New Yorker" and deal with the experiences of young Americans—childhood, adolescence, the passage into maturity and the bonds of marriage.

For most of the characters the past is a miraculous land perpetually in need of rediscovering. New novels listed include "Halo of Spears" by Wyatt Blassingame, "Key to the Door" by Alan Sillitoe, "Oh, Mary, This London" by Michael Campbell, "Wild Surmise" by Frederic Raphael, "My Father's House" by Shirley Elov, "A Dream of Mansions" by Norris Lloyd, "Land of Promises" by Wayne Overholser, "Love and Friendship" by Alison Lurie, and "Ordeal of Mrs. Snow" by Richard Webb.

New nonfiction works range from "My Brother, Ernest Hemingway" by Leicester Hemingway to "Bird Watcher's Quiz Book" by John Scarne.

by Henry Collins. Others are "Nature of Communism" by Robert Daniels, "Understanding Financial Statements and Corporate Annual Reports" by Louis Foster, "Utopian Essays and Practical Proposals" by Paul Goodman, "Now It Can Be Told" by Leslie Groves, "I Should Have Kissed Her More" by Alexander King, "Vacation Houses" by William Hennessey, "Introduction to Contemporary Music" by Joseph Machlis, "I.G.Y., the Year of the New Moon" by John Wilson, and "Complete Guide to Gambling" by John Scarne.

Soviets Lash At Berlin's Rias Radio

Chicago Daily News Service

BONN — The Soviets are making slow but steady progress in their efforts to achieve before other forums what they have been unable so far to accomplish in Berlin.

Agreement in Geneva to discuss limitation of "war propaganda" has opened the way for a bitter new assault on Rias, the American sponsored radio station in Berlin, which is now almost the only source of information about the non-Communist world for the people of East Germany and East Berlin.

At the same time the inclusion of an East German memorandum in a United Nations compilation has given a big fillip to Walter Ulbricht's Communist regime in its desperate search for international recognition.

Blowing Up a Storm By the same token it is blowing up a storm in Western Germany and might even prevent parliamentary approval of Bonn's offer to purchase $10,000,000 in United Nations bonds.

Both in Moscow and in East Berlin the new punch at Rias has been telegraphed plainly.

Moscow Radio, quoting Soviet correspondents in Berlin, describes the American station as "an instrument of American imperialism" located "in the center of the sovereign German Democratic Republic," as the Communist regime describes itself.

'Cropping' of Hippos Suggested for Uganda

BY SMITH HEMPSTONE
Chicago Daily News Service
KAMPALA, Uganda — Marie Antoinette suggested that the hungry should eat cake; Dr. Igor Mann maintains that the people of this British East African protectorate would do well to eat hippo.

Kenya Veterinary Services Department, points out that Uganda's famed Queen Elizabeth Park has a hippo population of 15,000. Hippos lie in the water during the day but come ashore at night to graze. They have caused considerable erosion in the park and seriously reduced the grazing available for other wild animals. "Cropping" of 2,000 animals per year would provide 3,000,000 pounds of hippo meat, enough to give 38,460 Africans 78 pounds of meat per year in a protein-starved area where tsetse fly infestation prevents the development of ranching.

8 Pounds per Year
Annual per capital African meat consumption is believed to be only about eight pounds per year. Parts unsuitable for human consumption could be made into cattle feed, says Dr. Mann, thus providing employment for the local Africans and increasing protein production throughout Uganda.

Having dined on hippo in the Congo, I can assert that the meat is quite palatable if pounded, rubbed with garlic and allowed to soak for a day or two in wine. The fat is of the quality of the purest lard and is excellent for cooking.

A report on the subject made by Dr. Mann is under consideration by the Commission for Technical Co-operation in Africa South of the Sahara. Such schemes are often defeated by the out-cry of sentimentalists whose knowledge of conservation principles does not match their good intentions. If Queen Elizabeth Park's hippo population is allowed to expand without control, the hippos eventually will reduce the grazing to such an extent that both they and the other wildlife will be decimated by starvation and disease. In this event, the park loses the income from the hippo meat, tourist revenues decrease, the Africans are deprived of proteins, and not only the hippos but other animals die. Experts here, including game warden John Blower, feel that the only way to safeguard East Africa's wildlife is to treat it as the economic resource it is. This means providing schemes like that of Dr. Mann from which the Africans derive both proteins and profits, since with the advent of political freedom the ultimate fate of African wildlife lies in their hands.

Ninety-Four Members of the Lake States Section of TAPPI toured the Institute of Paper Chemistry in Appleton from 2 to 5 p.m. Tuesday. William Whitsitt, of the Institute, acts as a guide and shows TAPPI members a strip of corrugated board that has come off of the experimental corrugating machine in the container section of the Institute. Looking at the product left to right are Devendra Joshi, Gilbert Paper Co.; Kenneth Knapp, Consolidated Water Power and Paper Co., and Lyman Aldrich, Mosinee Paper Co.

Speaker Says, Basic Research Lacking In Paper Industry

TAPPI Group Told Only 10 Per Cent of Firms Experiment

The paper industry is "on the bottom layer of industry so far as research is concerned" and could profit by increased expenditures for both fundamental and applied research, Dr. Allan Abrams told members of the Lake States Section of TAPPI in Appleton Tuesday.

Dr. Abrams, a consultant for Arthur D. Little, Inc., spoke to about 150 TAPPI members at the Conway Motor Hotel after the members had toured the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Although there has been a 450 per cent increase in research by the paper industry in the last 50 years, Dr. Abrams said, research is still "too little appreciated."

The consultant said less than 10 per cent of all paper companies are engaged seriously in research and that research expenditures amount to only .5 per cent of the industry's sales.

Applied Research

Less than 10 per cent of that research is fundamental or pioneering research, as differentiated from applied research, he said.

The average paper executive, he said, pays little attention to research and has little knowledge of it.

"All companies should practice it," Dr. Abrams contended. "There is no place for self-satisfied management or a closed mind." He said "the pulp and paper industry has little reason to be complacent about research."

As trends that should motivate more research, he named increased competition from other materials, the opening of new world markets, the fact that the industry sells too much for too little and the present apathy about research.

Dr. Abrams defined research simply as a search for new knowledge.

Ample Facilities

He said some paper companies have gotten back $5 to $12 a year for each dollar they spent on research. In the oil industry, each dollar of research returns about $15, he said.

He advised paper companies to

Freight Car's Fruit Cocktail Cargo Taken

Appleton detectives are investigating a scaled-down version of the Great Train Robbery.

They are looking for thieves who broke into a freight car and made off with $100 worth of fruit cocktail and canned pineapple.

The theft was reported to Appleton police Tuesday afternoon by Ed Kramer, head receiver for the S. C. Shannon Co., 1726 Ballard Road.

He said a freight car at a siding near the warehouse had been broken into and seven cases of fruit cocktail, two cases of sliced pineapple and two cases of crushed pineapple are missing.

Car Opened

The car had been opened for inspection when it arrived, Kramer said, then resealed to await unloading. The seal was smashed and footprints were found in the area.

Apparently the theft was hard work, police said, for two cases of fruit cocktail were thrown into a mudhole and two cans of fruit cocktail had been trampled. The thief or thieves drank the juice and discarded the cans.

The break-in apparently took place Monday night.

Former Thilmany Employee Dies at 78

Albert J. Schumann, 78, 230 Maria St., Kaukauna, died today after a short illness. Schumann was a member of the Quarter Century Club of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., where he worked for 26 years before his retirement in 1948.

He was born April 12, 1883, in Milwaukee and lived in Kaukauna since he was a youth.

Schumann is survived by three daughters, four sons, 21 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 9 a.m. Saturday at Holy Cross Catholic Church, Kaukauna, with burial in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Pargo Funeral Home, Kaukauna, after 2 p.m. Friday. The rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m.

Paper Company Officials to Talk To Managers

James F. Kress, director and vice president of the Green Bay Box Co. and the Green Bay Paper and Pulp Co., will address the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management Thursday.

Kress' talk on "Management, 1972" will be delivered after a 7 p.m. dinner at the F. J. Sensenbrenner Student Union at St. Norbert College, DePere.

The evening program will follow a plant tour at Green Bay Box Co. and Green Bay Pulp and Paper Co.

FVL Band to Give Annual Concert

The Fox Valley Lutheran High School band will hold its annual concert at 8 p.m. Thursday in the school auditorium.

The concert was originally scheduled for March 29, but because of difficulties caused by weather, April 5 was then set as the date, but it was cancelled again because of conflict with the concert of the Michigan Lutheran Seminary Choir in Menasha.

The 33-member band will be directed by the Rev. Hogey Bergholz. Two clarinet soloists for the concert will be Faith Hafermann, accompanied by Kirsten Bergholz, and Duane Sternhagen, accompanied by Carol Paap.

Ask $100,000 for Vocational School

Kaukauna Group Says Money To Come from School Funds

KAUKAUNA — The finance committee of the common council voted Tuesday to recommend appropriation of $100,000 to construct a 6-room addition to the School of Vocational and Adult Education.

The council would take the $100,000 from funds returned to the city by the school board. The school board returned funds it owed the city on school construction loans after it floated a $2 million bond issue.

Dominic Bordini, vocational school director, indicated construction would start within a few months and the addition would be completed by fall of this year. He said the rooms would be made available to the high school to help alleviate crowded conditions this fall.

Prior to approval of the appropriation, Bordini explained that over 280 high school boys and over 170 high school girls are making use of shop and home economic facilities in the vocational school and this pattern will increase as enrollment in the high school grows.

Land Problem

The committee also recommended that the board of education and vocational school board study ownership of lands in the area and have this ownership recorded. This would eliminate confusion in future years as to what areas occupied by the vocational school are owned by the city and what areas used for high school purposes are owned by the school district, the committee felt.

Mayor Joseph Bayorgeon indicated early deeds and records are not clear as to which lands were assigned for high school or vocational school use and these deeds plus all future land acquisitions should be clearly understood to avoid conflicts with the school district.

The finance unit recommended a salary of $275 per month for an assistant park superintendent who will be hired on a 60-day probationary period.

Award Plaque

At the conclusion of the meeting, Bert E. Roberts, chairman of the finance committee and alderman for 24 years who announced his retirement from office early this year, was presented a plaque by A. M. Schmalz, president of the vocational school board.

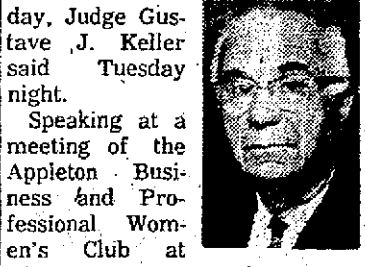

The citation praised Roberts for his service to the city and his efforts through the years to improve vocational and adult education.

New Code, Revamped Inspection Gets Backing

Judge Plans Crackdown on Teen-Age Drinking, Driving

Drivers to Post $150 Bond of Arrested After Tavern Visit

A three-stage crackdown on teen-age drinking and driving in Outagamie County will begin at 12:01 a.m. Sunday, Judge Gustave J. Keller said Tuesday night.

Speaking at a meeting of the Appleton Business and Professional Women's Club at Alex's Manor House, Judge Keller said:

1. "All persons who are arrested on traffic charges within two hours after visiting taverns or bars must furnish a cash or surety bond in the amount of $150 or be held in jail until court convenes."

Trip to Jail

2. Since the speed limit on State 96 between Appleton and Little Chute is 45 miles an hour, speeders on this highway will be fined a minimum of $45 or spend 15 days in jail.

3. "All persons 25 years of age or under arrested for traffic violations will be required to appear in court (and) will not be allowed to post a bond." Previously, drivers 23 and under were required to appear.

In cases where the drivers are arrogant or defiant, Judge Keller said, pronouncement of sentence will be delayed until later in the day or until the next day. A cash or surety bond of $100 or more will be required after the driver is arrested, or he will go to jail. If the bond is provided, the driver will be free until his court appearance.

A Race Track

He later said that, while high speed driving "is not limited to 96, this highway to quite an extent is a race track, especially at night."

"Because a beer bar is located on 96, a great deal of fast and aggravated driving is done on it between Appleton and Little Chute."

Judge Keller said he increased the age to 25 for mandatory court appearance because "The personal appearance in court emphasizes to the individual the seriousness of the violation."

Other Problems

Other problems that require attention and will be dealt with in the future, the judge said, are beer parties among young people, illegal identification cards and the association of 16- and 17-year-olds with older youths.

Judge Keller said he feels he has a duty to set up a restrictive program to prevent violations and impose "substantial penalties" where violations have occurred.

He added, however, that "we will continue to be understanding, patient and helpful (and) will understand that we are dealing with human beings" of varied backgrounds.

"As we will be severe when occasions demand, we will be tolerant and understanding when justice so requires."

Collect $1,047,946 Property Taxes in Outagamie County

Personal property taxes amounting to $1,047,946 have been collected in Outagamie County, excluding Appleton, County Treasurer R. A. Bentz said today.

Taxes that have been returned postponed amount to $441,138, and delinquent taxes total $117,434, Bentz said. This total of $558,573 in taxes not collected is $73,072 more than the amount not returned last year at this time, he added.

Candidates List Expenses for April 3 Vote

Dick Zingsheim Only Person Who Hasn't Filed His Report

Fifty-five candidates and committees supporting candidates in the April 3 election have filed financial statements amounting to $4,239. The statements were filed at the city clerk's office.

One candidate, Dick Zingsheim, failed to file a statement before the deadline Tuesday evening.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell was the top campaign spender with $814.21 from his personal funds and $302 listed from two Mitchell for Mayor clubs.

Other campaign expenses: Elden J. Broehm, $30.80; Mitchell, $814; Allan Sonkowsky, $2.20; Fred Froehlich, $648; J. Joseph Cummings, $651; Sonkowsky for Mayor Committee, $42.90.

Also, Sylvester Esler, $48.63; Herbert Weller, $74.88; Theodore A. Jens, $32.24; Glenn Pelton, $12.32; Kurt Koletzke, $23.50; Andrew Jinos, $48.83; Harold Meiers, $65.63; Ervin Bogan, $76.90; John Meiers, $39.20; Gerald Wagner, $7; Carl Sonkowsky, $7.65; Lawrence Meltz, $64.20; Clifford Radder, $71.86; George Buckley, $57.20.

Also, Roy Pointner, $107.10; H. J. Salentine, $16; Fred Jentz, $16; Fred Ziemann, $27.40; John Roemer, $7; Al Stoegbauer, $68.80; Eugene Kloes, $202.50; Derald Ahrens, $73.90; Homer Malstrom, $198.65; Walter Kalanta, $115.

Those claiming no expenses were John A. Pierre, Neil McLeon, Ray L. Feuerstein and the Radder for Alderman Club.

Also Kalata for Alderman telephone committee, Desmond Schade, Philip Retson, Adam Remley, Patrick Heenan, John Schreiter, Eugene Kloes, Harold Hannemann, and R. P. Groh.

The only unpaid bill was submitted by the Sonkowsky for Mayoral Committee which claimed $10 unpaid.

Revision of Building Procedure in Appleton Asked by Works Board

A completely new building code for Appleton and a complete revamping of the city's inspection department are being recommended by the board of public works.

The board Tuesday urged the welfare and ordinance committee to take immediate steps to have the code completely rewritten and to seriously consider retaining expert consultants to review the old code and assist in writing the new one.

Board members asked the personnel committee to make a thorough study of the inspection department to see how it might be reorganized for more efficient operation, including hiring additional, qualified inspectors.

A resolution by Ald. John Schreiter to put the inspection department on civil service status was referred to the personnel committee.

Want Engineer

It was suggested that a registered, professional engineer should be hired to head the inspection department when Building Inspector Walter Bogan retires Jan. 1, 1963.

All the other inspectors, such as heating, plumbing and electrical, would be under his jurisdiction. It was even suggested that all inspectors should be engineers, competent to inspect all phases of building construction.

Board members agreed that to get such competent personnel the city would have to offer higher salaries.

Should a civil service department come into being there would be a transitional period of two or more years until present inspectors reach retirement age. Several only have a few years to work before retirement, and the board did not think it would be fair to discharge them simply because the department was reorganized.

Under a revised department and with additional inspectors it was suggested there should be a minimum of four inspections made on every home and building while under construction.

Not Discussed

The board did not discuss any new fee system for building permits. The average home permit now costs less than $10.

Schreiter told the council last Wednesday he felt sure no home buyer would object to a $25 fee if it helped him get a better house for his money.

In a prepared statement to the council, he said that the present 35-year-old building code is inadequate and a new one is needed badly. More rigid inspections are needed, he said.

Schreiter, who is a heating serv-

Culvert Pipe Bids Same From Firms

Only Appleton Bidder Differs in Culvert Prices to County

Culvert pipe supply firms from Madison, Wausau and Green Bay have supplied the Outagamie County Highway Department with identical price lists for the purchase of the department's year supply of piping.

An Appleton firm, the Concrete Pipe Corporation, has submitted a price list for concrete pipe which runs about 6 cents per lineal foot over the price of the metal piping.

The bids were open by the highway committee Monday and have not been acted upon. According to Clarence Brownson, the department spends about $30,000 to $40,000 for pipe in one year.

Brownson said the pipe will be used for 1962 road projects and emergencies.

The department advertised March 22 for the culverts, pipe arches and sectional arches in all sizes. The eight firms forwarded price lists showing identical prices on printed forms in answer to the advertisement.

L. H. Koepke, president of the Concrete Pipe Corp. said today he did not send a printed price list for steel pipe, but submitted a typewritten listing for concrete pipe. He said the concrete pipe would last longer. Koepke said he did not anticipate getting the highway department contract.

Koepke said the companies he has dealt with that have identical price lists maintain that one company sets the price "and the others simply meet it."

Companies submitting the price lists include, Armco Drainage and Metal Products, Madison; Capital City Culvert Corp., Madison; Feltner Bros., Marshfield, Construction Machinery and Supply Co., Wausau; Paynter Equipment Corp., Green Bay; Bark River Culvert and Equipment Co., Green Bay, and the Wisconsin Culvert Co., Madison.

24 Take Tests For Police, Fire Chief

Twenty-four people took the written examinations for Appleton police and fire chief given by the Appleton Vocational School Monday.

George Dams, secretary of the police and fire commission, said selections to replace Police Chief Walter Hendricks and Fire Chief Alfred Arnold, may be made in about a week after the tests are graded and reviewed. The two chiefs resigned for health reasons.

Fifteen took the test for police chief and nine for the fire chief position. Applicants were from Georgia, Ohio, Illinois and Minnesota as well as Wisconsin.

The fire and police commission has accepted the resignation of Fire Lt. Robert Vogt. He has served since June, 1949, and plans to enter private business in California.

High School Medical Careers Day To Have Many Qualified Speakers

Colleges, Professional Groups, Nurses to be on Hand Saturday

The Medical Careers Day to be sponsored Saturday by the Future Nurses Clubs of the three Appleton high schools will have representatives from five colleges and universities, eight schools of nursing and four professional organizations.

The program will be at Xavier High School from 10 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 4:30 p.m. The Xavier club is organizing the program, while the Appleton High and Fox Valley Lutheran clubs are handling publicity.

The two-fold purpose of this joint effort, said Mrs. Paul A. Johnson, advisor to the Xavier club, is to eliminate duplication of effort in obtaining representatives from various schools in the allied medical fields, and to make it possible for parents to confer with the school representatives with their sons and daughters.

She stressed that the program is for both boys and girls.

Van Pelt Endorsed By 6th District

Motion by Smyth for Secret Ballot Ruled Out of Order

FOND DU LAC — Sixth District Republicans endorsed Rep. William K. Van Pelt Tuesday night for a seventh term in Congress over the objections of Van Pelt's primary opponent, James Smyth of Sheboygan.

A motion by Smyth that the endorsement vote be by secret ballot was ruled out of order on grounds that the endorsement motion was already before the caucus.

Two others besides Smyth voted against the endorsement in a standing vote. Only a portion of the 287 delegates were on the floor at the time of the endorsement action — the last item before adjournment.

Applaud Wiley Telegram
Smyth earlier had challenged Van Pelt to a series of debates after the conclusion of the present session of Congress. Van Pelt declined the invitation.

Later, Smyth said he would con-

Pass Modified Version of 'Liberty' Clause

Federal Competition With Business Hit by 6th District GOP

FOND DU LAC — A modified version of last year's controversial "liberty amendment" was passed without a dissenting vote at the Sixth District Republican Caucus Tuesday night.

The resolution, titled "Government in Business," calls on Congress to adopt legislation "removing the Federal Government from a position in competition with private enterprise... and the savings thus realized be used to reduce or repeal as economically justified the individual income tax."

The same resolution had been voted down by Winnebago County Republicans at their county caucus.

The "Liberty Amendment," which was voted down last year, called for the repeal of all individual income taxes.

A "freedom" resolution also was passed, calling for the reversal of the "trend toward the 'left' in government. The resolution also stated that Republicans were "quick to agree that anyone on the 'right'... might also threaten our free institutions, but that it is the 'leftist' who have infiltrated government offices and constitute the real threat to our traditional form of government."

Nine other resolutions were passed without opposition.

Mayor Klein Will Call For Meeting to Decide On Athletic Field Plan

MENASHA — Mayor John Klein today announced he will call a meeting of the Board of Public Works within a week to assemble information and decide on a basic plan for the proposed Nathan Calder Athletic Field and stadium project.

The board Tuesday visited three stadium projects — at the Beaver Dam fairgrounds and at Custer and Pulaski High Schools in Milwaukee — to see examples of poured, prestressed and precast concrete construction.

Cost estimates for the stadium project range from $170,000 to $295,000, according to four architectural firms interested in it.

The site, between 11th and 12th Streets and east of Warsaw Street, was donated in December 1959 by George Banta Co. Foundation. The foundation will donate $25,000 cash on letting of contracts. Deadline for completion is Jan. 1, 1965.

One interesting idea, the mayor said, was that in new stadium projects, concession stands are left out, which results in greatly lessening the amount of litter and debris to be picked up after each game. Strict rules in those places, he added, require anyone leaving a stadium to buy any refreshments to pay another admission. Early planning had anticipated including concession stands.

Area Students on OSC Semester Honor Roll

OSHKOSH — The names of 227 Oshkosh State College students have been placed on the honor roll for the first semester, according to the registrar's office. This represents 7.9 per cent of the 2,843 students enrolled last fall.

Of the honor roll students, 28 had straight "A" averages, including two freshmen, 10 sophomores.

Among the students with perfect averages was Thomas Van Heuklom, Appleton, a freshman; Linda Breitrick, Hortonville, and Claire Maskel and Sharon Nelson, both of Neenah, sophomores, and Marion Leisinger, Appleton, junior.

Germany's Consul General at Chicago, Dr. Guenther Motz, center, spoke Tuesday noon to the Oshkosh Kiwanis Club after an earlier address at Oshkosh State College. With him are Frank Schultz, club president, on the left, and Philip Snelling, program chairman, right.

For the Retarded

Religion Institute Scheduled at Oshkosh

NEENAH — Wisconsin's second Religion for Retarded Institute will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 28 at Lourdes Catholic High School, Oshkosh.

The $3 registration fee includes a noon luncheon. All reservations must be made by Sunday to Mrs. Wallace Michener, 1015 Hewitt St., Neenah.

Twin City members of the committee are Mrs. Robert Ogg, Mrs. John Langner and Mrs. Michener. The purpose of the institute is to provide a church program for retarded children and to learn how to go about organizing and beginning this work. It is arranged for all parents and friends of retarded children to share experiences, problems and answers, as well as to provide for the spiritual growth of the retarded children.

Provisions

The Wisconsin Council of Religion points out that "provision has been made for the retarded child to grow physically, socially, emotionally and intellectually to his capacities, but it is the privilege and duty of a parent to bring up the retarded child as a child of God no less than you do for all your children."

The program includes talks by religious leaders of various denominations, panel discussions and workshops. Topics of the workshops will include a variety of subjects — organizing classes, special help in understanding retardation, exhibits discussion, group discussion on confirmation, vacation Bible schools, what parents can do in a religious program. ## Dismisses Disorderly Conduct in Menasha MENASHA — A disorderly conduct charge against Kenneth R. Schumann, 20, 406 1/2 Third St., was dismissed today by Municipal Justice of the Peace Arthur J. Ales at the request of the complaining witness.

Schumann was arrested March 18 at the home of his mother, Mrs. Myra Barth, 804 London St., when she complained her son caused a disturbance. He denied the charge at his arraignment March 26. Ales ordered Schumann to stay away from the home.

United Nations Association

U.N. Best Opportunity for Peace, Says AAUN Director

NEENAH — "This is the most exciting time in the history of this planet. It is a period of great opportunity," York Langton told members and guests of the American Association for the United Nations at the YWCA Monday evening.

Langton, who is regional chairman and member of the board of directors of AAUN spoke "The United Nations Crisis."

He stated that the enlightened American citizen should use the U.N. machinery to strengthen it. It is the best opportunity for peace in the opinion of most Americans, Langton said.

Reviews History
Going back to World War I, which was to "save the world for democracy" he reminded the audience that Woodrow Wilson said if the U.S. did not join the League of Nations we would have another war.

Maintained Peace
"Since the birth of the U.N. almost 17 years ago, more than half the population of the world is under a new form of government," Langton told the group, mentioning India, Burma, Pakistan, Israel, the Philippines and Africa. "The U.N. up to now has maintained peace and avoided World War III."

"There is no evidence that the USSR wants to destroy the U.N. Actually, they are the second largest contributor to its maintenance. We differ on interpretation of the charter. The Russians

German Consul General in Chicago

Europe's Future Depends on Berlin Issue, Kiwanians Told

OSHKOSH — The future of Europe hinges largely on what the Western Allies do in West Berlin, Dr. Guenther Motz, German consul general at Chicago, told more than 100 Oshkosh-Kiwanis Club members Tuesday noon at the Hotel Raulf.

"Berlin is a bastion of freedom and on it may hinge somewhat the future of Germany. If Berlin goes, if the trust of those people is shaken and Berlin is made a free city, this would not be the end of Khrushchev's demands," Dr. Motz remarked.

"Khrushchev knows he cannot have Berlin as long as the West remains united. He knows a nuclear war would be his end. He hopes he can still convince the world to become Communist one day."

"He has no time deadline. He has to only undermine, heckle and harass until sometime the West gets tired and loses its stamina," he continued. "He plays one against the other and tries to create the feeling Germany is willing to negotiate with Russia."

'One Hitler Enough'
Dr. Motz emphasized that "one Hitler was certainly enough."

The modern alliances of NATO and the common market has created a new image in Germany, he continued. "They have shown those on the other side of the Iron Curtain that the old Communist teachings of Marx and Lenin must be wrong."

"We don't have capitalism in its crudest form as it existed in 1860. There no longer is slave labor or exploitation of women labor but strong labor unions. The old image of capitalism and its evils is gone, the type that Marx and Lenin told about."

The Common Market creates a free market and raises the standard of living. This common market, this free society, this free market system will eventually bring down the whole idea of Communism.

It will set forth peaceful forces in a peaceful way which will lead to a free and unified Germany, but all of this depends on the position of the West in Berlin, he stressed.

Test Case
"Berlin is a test case as to how the West acts," Dr. Motz told the Kiwanians. "The United States depends on a number of strategic air bases overseas. Appearances in West Berlin would shake the foundations of these foreign countries and their trust in the United States."

"If the west's pledges were brushed aside, it would mean a loss of prestige of the United States and set forth an avalanche of apprehension among the Allies and would endanger those bases in Europe."

The German consul general opened his talk by tracing the original plans for governing Germany and Berlin and how the Communists, who earlier had pledged to work for an eventual reconstruction of German political life on a democratic basis, refused to let those plans be put into operation.

The split in the city and country occurred and the Iron Curtain came down.

State Speech Contest
NEENAH — Students from the three high schools in Neenah-Menasha will compete at the state speech contest at Madison Saturday.

Candidates for Judge Spent $470

James V. Sitter, who won the judge post, reported he had no personal expenses but the Committee for Sitter for County Judge listed receipts of $635, of which $600 was from Sitter, and expenses of $284.

William H. Gengler reported he had no receipts and had spent $186 on his campaign.

Renk Conducts Handshake Campaign Trip

Governor Candidate Proposes Streamline State Government

Wilbur Renk, Sun Prairie farmer seeking the governorship of Wisconsin, hurried through Appleton Tuesday taking time to shake hands with a t e l y 300 hands.

Renk, continuing his campaign to the state's highest office, with or without the endorsement of the Republican party, was in Green Bay Monday and Fond du Lac Tuesday night. He plans an informal return visit to Appleton later in the campaign.

Renk said he is campaigning for a streamlined state government, a better education for more high school graduates and an expanded market for the state's dairy products.

Critical Eye
"We feel we can give as much government to the people at 3 to 7 per cent less cost," Renk said. "I would like to see cut-backs in capital paperwork, an introduction of office automation, an investigation into all 72 departments in the capitol with a critical eye to find out where the 'empire' are."

An expanded junior college system in the state would assure an advanced education for more high school graduates and at the same time, would attract more specialized and technical industry into the state, Renk said.

The candidate said the state must wake up to the fact it can no compete with the southern states in attracting heavy industry.

High Labor Costs
"Our labor cost is high in the state," Renk said. "I propose we take advantage of our high skills and our technically minded people and attempt to attract industry that would make use of those skills."

Renk said efforts should be made to pull large industrial research operations into our Badger state and attract industry that is in fitting with the space age.

Tourists should not be overlooked in the future of the state, and efforts should be made to "dress up" the state to appeal to the nation as a vacationland. Renk called for better training of recreational people through the University of Wisconsin extension system and a creation of a state development of the northern and western portions of the state.

Renk said dairy farmers are "going to get in line with production" soon but he said attempts should be made to take products to international markets. He said the state should support the Milk Trades Commission in finding markets.

An Appleton man went hunting and caught a full-grown muskrat to mount the other day — all in the basement of a downtown College Avenue business place.

Garry Kausch, 218 N. Douglas St., works for Ace Exterminators. He was called to the business place because the manager thought there was a rat in the basement. Instead he found a three and one-half pound muskrat.

Musk rats are usually found near rivers, Kausch said, and seldom make their homes near human beings — particularly in the busy center of a business district. Kausch got a confiscation tag from the game warden and plans to mount his unusual trophy.

Seymour School Head Accepts Position in Stevens Point Schools

STEVENS POINT — L. D. Culver, former superintendent of schools at Seymour, has accepted a position as business manager for the Stevens Point school system.

Culver was released from his duties at Seymour when the school board decided to hire a supervising principal for the high school system. His term of office at Seymour will end after the school term in June. He begins his new job that same month.

Culver had been superintendent of schools at Weyauwega six years and has been at Seymour since 1955.

$1,010 Collected in Village Heart Drive

KIMBERLY — The heart fund drive in Combined Locks and Kimberly has been concluded with $1,010 collected, according to Mrs. Richard Kane, general chairman.

Kimberly went over the 1961 mark while Combined Locks was lower, but the two combined exceeded the unofficial $900 quota set by the state, according to Mrs. Kane. Kimberly residents contributed $787 while $223 was collected in Combined Locks.

Cool Spring Weather Prevails in State; Flurries Possible

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Generally pleasant spring weather, somewhat on the cool side, prevailed in Wisconsin today.

Temperatures were not expected to get out of the 40s in the southern part of the state today and the 30s in the north.

Minimums early today ranged from 25 at Superior to 36 in Beloit. Park Falls had a low of 26, Green Bay and Lone Rock 27, Milwaukee 29, Madison 30, Wausau 31, La Crosse and Racine 32.

Remnants of winter linger in the Fox Cities and the possibility of snow flurries tonight show the strength of the 'dead' season.

Highs in the mid-40s are expected today and tonight's low may fall to freezing. Not much change in temperature is expected Thursday.

Problems in County Draw Discussion

Extension Service Holds Annual Plan Meeting Tuesday

Problems facing Outagamie County were discussed Tuesday night at the annual program planning session sponsored by the county extension service.

About 45 representatives from throughout the county attended the meeting at the Fox Co-op. Included were representatives from each township, business and industry representatives, farming, homemaking and 4-H members and others.

Rural-urban relations was one major area discussed. More emphasis is needed on this area, members said.

Other problems discussed included resource development with emphasis on planning and zoning; recreational facilities for youth, particularly in rural areas; development of Plaman Park; financing for beginning farmers and inadequate and uncoordinated health services, particularly in rural areas.

Problems and plans suggested at the meeting will be studied and evaluated by extension staff members. Plans and projects for the coming year will be based on suggestions and recommendations made at the meeting.

Walnut Street Lot Meters to Operate at Night

Car owners who use the city parking lot on Walnut Street just south of College Avenue will have to pay the meters at night as well as during the day.

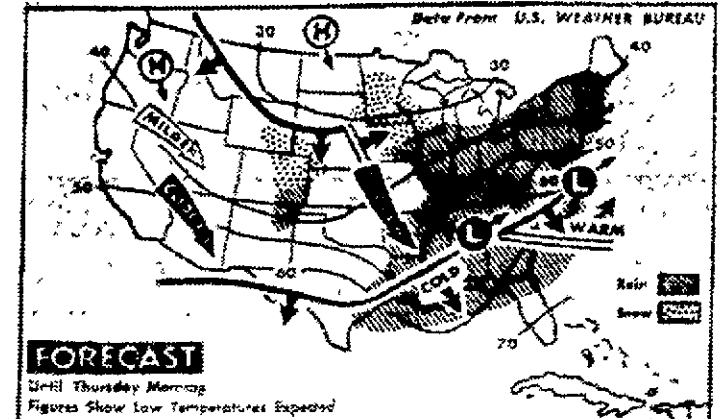

Public safety committeemen decided Tuesday that the lot should be governed the same as the one on the northwest corner of Washington and Morrison streets. Meters are being ordered for the lot, which has been in use for nearly a year but never metered.

Several aldermen have said that people who use the public lots to store their cars at night should have to pay, because others who provide their own garages or carports have to pay taxes on those facilities.

Supervisory Institute At KVS Is Rescheduled

KAUKAUNA — A supervisory institute originally scheduled to get underway Thursday at the Vocational and Adult School has been rescheduled for April 24 due to conflicts with other classes, according to Dominic Bordini, director.

Classes will be held from 8.30

Rain and Thunderstorms are expected in the eastern half of the nation tonight. Some rain and snow showers are forecast for the central Plains and light rain and snow are in prospect for the upper Mississippi Valley. It will be warmer in the central Rockies and cooler in the southern Plains.

Rural Youth Honored for Achievement

Green Bay Banquet Puts Spotlight on Outstanding Teens

GREEN BAY — Ten counties supplied 253 young people for a 15th anniversary party by the Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening.

It was the annual agricultural achievement award banquet for honor members of 4-H clubs, future farmers and future home-makers.

Counties represented included Brown, Calumet, Door, Kewaunee, Manitowoc, Marinette, Oconto, Outagamie, Shawano and Waupaca.

Gave Certificates
Highlighting the program was the presentation of achievement certificates to the young people for outstanding accomplishments in their organizations.

Two youth leaders from Madison congratulated the boys and girls and commended the chamber of commerce.

"Young people are doing fine things, and it is good to recognize them," said Dale Aebischer, chief of agriculture education for the state board of vocational and adult education.

"You boys and girls are being recognized for doing a wonderful job, and you businessmen deserve a pat on the back for taking notice," declared Norman Everson, an assistant state 4-H club leader. Aebischer commented on a notion prevalent among many people that agriculture is a fading enterprise. Exactly the contrary is true, he pointed out.

Big Investment
"Agriculture represents a $208 billion investment, involves between six and seven million people, and produces an annual gross income of $46 billion," he said.

"The migration of people from the farm is nothing new. Farms always have produced more people than were required to run them, and so it has been necessary for some of the farm boys and girls to seek their lives in the city."

The 4-H clubs, the future farmers and the future home-makers help young people to develop qualities of leadership and perseverance, according to Aebischer.

Lily Tag Day To be Friday

Outagamie Society To Sponsor Event in Appleton, Kaukauna

The Outagamie County Easter Seal Society will hold its annual Easter Lily Tag Day Friday and Saturday in downtown Appleton and Kaukauna, John Engle, campaign chairman, has announced.

Members of Lawrence United Charities, made up of sorority and fraternity members at Lawrence College, will assist in the street corner sales of lily tags. They will solicit contributions from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day.

All proceeds, together with those received from purchases of Easter Seals, are used to help support the society's program of camping and its equipment pool and brace fund. For the most part, funds are used to help crippled and mentally retarded children, but the society also aids adults.

With less than two weeks to go, the campaign is short of its goal, Engle said, and the society is in need of funds. He expressed hope that persons who have received Easter Seals and have neglected to mail their contributions for them will do so immediately.

$190,650, the Ashland project $72,000, and the Oconto project $64,000. The federal government will pay half the costs of each project, and the state will contribute $10,000 to each.

At Oconto Municipal Airport, a paved 3,000-foot runway 75 feet wide will be constructed. A paved taxiway and parking apron also will be built and land will be purchased to provide unobstructed approaches to the runway.

Annexation Hearing Scheduled in Appleton

Petition Affecting Eight Districts Around City to be Discussed April 25

A public hearing on the attachment of all or part of eight school districts surrounding Appleton to the Appleton school system will be held at 8 p.m. April 25 at the Outagamie County Courthouse Annex.

The hearing will be on a resolution by the Outagamie-Calumet joint county school committee to attach Badger, Triangle, Twin Willow, Woodlawn and Elmdale districts and part of Elm Tree, Sunny View and Speel districts to Appleton for all school purposes.

Petitions have been filed to attach Badger and Triangle districts and the portion of the Elm Tree District in the Town of Grand Chute to Appleton. These areas are included in the committee resolution.

The districts are all in the Town of Grand Chute, except Speel District in the Town of Buchanan. The parts of Elm Tree and Sunny View districts, not in Grand Chute have already been attached to Hortonville. While the remainder of the Speel District has been attached to Kimberly and Kaukauna.

Attachment Defeated
Badger, Twin Willow and Triangle districts were attached to Appleton in 1960, but the attachment order was defeated in a referendum. Badger and Triangle districts and the Grand Chute portion of Elm Tree district had considered joining Spring Road District to form an independent high school district, but voters in both Spring Road and Neenah approved an order attaching the district to Neenah.

Henry Van Straten, Outagamie County superintendent of schools, said he did not expect opposition to the resolution. He said he had discussed the attachment issue with school boards in all the districts involved, and all they do not have any record of favored joining Appleton. The gunman.

Milwaukee Victim Identifies Gunman
OSHKOSH—A Milwaukee man, Ernest Wanta, who was forced at gunpoint to drive another man from Milwaukee to Oshkosh last Wednesday, has identified his assailant to Milwaukee police from mug shots.

The last address Milwaukee police had on the man was a hotel in Elgin, Ill. Oshkosh police said they do not have any record of favored joining Appleton. The gunman.

Kuwait Giving Aid To Arab Countries

Mideast's Richest Oil Producer Makes Development Loans

Chicago Daily News Service
UNITED NATIONS — The long-discussed dream of using Arab oil wealth to aid have-not Arab countries is coming true with cash on the line.

Moving rapidly, Kuwait, richest oil producer of the Mideast, has made a series of loans for Arab economic development.

The latest is a newly announced loan of $21,000,000 to Jordan to aid Yarmuk River development, expand Dead Sea potash production, and capitalize a bank for loans to small industry.

U. S. Aid
Since Jordan is almost totally financed by the U. S. taxpayers, the move by Kuwait is of special interest in Washington.

A Jordan borrowing mission also discussed projects to invite private Kuwait capital to build new hotels for the Jerusalem tourist trade and other ideas.

The $21,000,000 government loan to Jordan this week followed last month's Kuwait loan of $19,600,000 to Sudan for railway improvements.

New Fund
Both are credited against the recently formed Kuwait Arab Economic Development Fund, capitalized with $140,000,000 expandable to $200,000,000.

Earlier, Kuwait made a smaller loan to the municipality of Beirut, Lebanon, for street and highway improvements.

The Kuwait Fund loans are at 4 per cent, repayable in 15 to 20 years, with first payments deferred.

Action by Kuwait (population 322,000) contrasts sharply with years of talk about an Arab development bank under auspices of the Arab League.

Others Slow
Iraq and Saudi Arabia, other major Arab oil producers, have internal money problems. They have been slow to contribute cash for the bank.

Other Persian gulf oil principalities are under British control. London has been unenthusiastic about bankrolling a fund for Cairo, Baghdad and other Arab capitals.

The ruler of Kuwait, Sheikh Abdullah as-Salim as-Sabah, takes pride in his new role as banker to the Arabs.

In a brief interview in his modest office, the 70-year-old sheikh, who is rated one of the world's wealthiest men, spoke of the fund as a "humanitarian" enterprise.

"Always Praised"
"Humanitarian acts are always praised," he said simply.

But there is political sense behind Kuwait's Arab lending.

Iraq Premier Abdel Karim Kassem claims Kuwait's territory and $482,000,000-a-year hard-currency income for Baghdad.

The Arab League, along with some 71 countries including the United States and Britain, recognizes Kuwait as an independent state.

Kassem called home his ambassadors from Japan, Iran and Jordan when Kuwait envoys were received. But Iraq has taken no such step as yet against the United States or Britain.

British Troops
Kuwait at first met Kassem's threats to seize Kuwait by calling in British troops. Later these were replaced by token Arab League forces, notably from Saudi Arabia, Jordan and Sudan.

No British forces are visible nowadays in Kuwait, a country the size of Connecticut plus Rhode Island with sand dunes for frontiers with the Iraqis and Saudi Arabians and the gulf separating it from Iran.

Latest country to recognize Kuwait's independence is Austria. Both Communist China and Nationalist China have done so, causing a dilemma for Kuwait.

which needs Nationalist Chinese approval for U.N. membership.

Reds Back Iraq
The Soviet Union backed Iraq by vetoing Kuwait's membership request in the U.N. Security Council last year. Russia argued Kuwait was still under British domination despite independence granted June 19, 1961.

Now Moscow is sending a Pravda editor to have a first-hand look at Kuwait.

Kuwait oil concessions are held by the American Gulf Oil Co. jointly with (British) Royal Dutch Shell, by a Japanese firm, by a group of American independent oil concerns, and separately by Shell.

$50 Million Surplus
Oil brought $451,000,000 to the Kuwait government in the year that ended March 31. The ruler's advisers had nearly $50,000,000 surplus above their budget for the year.

Finance Minister Sheikh Jaber as-Ahmed as-Jaber as-Sabah says the government has $700,000,000 in overseas reserves.

But the ruler and his brothers and cousins have additional overseas investments in British sterling, Beirut real estate and elsewhere which Arab sources in New York estimate total near $3 billion.
